Take A 'Test Drive' Of New Products, Technology At Showcase Event

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Consider this year's Ag Progress your chance to take that big "test drive."

Representatives from five major tractor companies will be available at next week's Ag Progress Days to allow qualified drivers the chance to test-drive new vehicles as part of the "ride and drive" demonstrations to be held in a 7½ acre segment of the research facility in Rockspring.

John Deere, Ford, Case IH, Agco-White, and Kubota representatives will be available at 1st St. and Rt. 45 to allow riders to jump in and take that test drive of several new vehicles on display.

Actually, for many, Ag Progress can be considered a "test drive" of the new products and technology available to large- and small-scale farmers and ag commodity producers. Those who attend the free event can see for themselves how Penn State research experts "test drive" new field, vegetable, and fruit commodities at the research sites as part of the daily tour program at Ag Progress.

"Ag Progress, places a lot of emphasis on commercial producers in the state," said Bob Oberheim, manager of the three-day

"Ag Progress places a lot of emphasis on commercial producers in the state," said Bob Oberheim, manager of the three-day event at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center, located nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45. The premier Penn State showcase event lasts from Tuesday, Aug. 15 through Thursday, Aug. 17. Ag Progress provides information not only for small- and large-scale producers, but for families and the average consumer.

Snap Bean Planting Starts Countdown

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — "My goal has been to stay with traditional field demonstrations, but to incorporate new technology, new equipment or methods into new field demonstrations," says Bob Oberheim, director of Ag Progress Days. "We include traditional equipment such as tillage, hay, or cultivator implements. To diversify, we try to introduce a vegetable crop demo each year.

That's why these different brands of planters were invited to come plant snap beans last spring to begin the countdown to harvest; demonstrations next week. In a show that Oberheim says shows the diversification of agriculture in Pennsylvania, Hanover Foods' seeds were selected for the plots. Three precision planters were demonstrated for population accuracy and spacing when planting snap beans. With the high cost of

Experts Brief Ag Educators On Markets, Developing Public Policy

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

READING (Berks Co.) — A group of people who in the course of their jobs educate the agricultural community met Tuesday at The Inn at Reading, in Reading, to discuss issues concerning the future and present of agriculture.

Under the auspice of sponsorship by the Southeastern Regional Council, the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperative, and Penn State's Cooperative Business Education and Research Program, Ag Horizons VI Conference is an annual conference of primarily dairy industry people.

Attendance at the all-day conference constituted credit for continuing education for those qualified. For all, it provides an opportunity to listen and discuss some apparently pertinent issues in detail and candor.

The agenda for the sixth such gathering was split between a morning session devoted to exporting and breaking into the world market and an afternoon session that dealt with the role of educators in public policy.

Those attending the conference primarily included cooperative extension agents and high school vocational agriculture teachers from around the state.

Also attending were representatives of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, the artificial insemination industry, dairy cooperatives, Pa. Department of Agriculture and lending institutions.

Delmarva Broiler

ATLANTA, GA
AUGUST 9, 1995
Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds

varied, but slowed overall. Seller offerings of 3 pound and smaller sizes were generally adequate to fully adequate. Larger sizes were in limited supply. Live supplies were moderate; weights were in a range of mostly light to desirable. Processing schedules were very heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 60 to 71 cents. Trade sentiment was mostly steady. In the parts complex, bone-in breasts and mainly leg items were balanced to short. Boneless skinless breasts were fully adequate. Wings were irregularly available and clearing satisfactorily at most plants.

Report Supplied by USDA

MARKET COMMENT: THE MARKET TONE WAS CAUTIOUSLY STEADY, AND TESTING. DEMAND INTO RETAIL ACCOUNTS REMAINED LIGHT TO MODERATE, AND SOMETIMES BETTER WHERE FEATURES WERE PLANNED OR IN PROGRESS. RESORT AREAS CONTINUED TO EXPERIENCE FAIR TO GOOD EGG MOVEMENT. SUPPLIES WERE AT LEAST ADEQUATE AND AVAILABLE, YET SELLERS DID NOT ACCEPT SEVERALY DISCOUNTED PRICES LIKE EARLIER IN THE WEEK. BREAKING STOCK SUPPLIES WERE ADEQUATE TO AMPLE. A EXTRA LARGE .70-.84, LARGE .68-.82, MEDIUM .43-.54.

National Egg Market

ATLANTA, GA
AUGUST 9, 1995

Prices were unchanged to lower in the Northeast and Midwest, unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was cautiously steady to weak, and the large sizes were in the weakest position. Demand into retail channels was light to no better than moderate, and loose egg sales into food service were fair to occasionally good. Supplies of jumbo were tight to adequate, and the balance of sizes were at least adequate and available. Breaking stock supplies were adequate to ample for the light to fair at best demand, and the market tone was barely steady to weak. Light type hen supplies were close to adequate for the mostly moderate demand.

NY Phil Frozen Eggs

ATLANTA, GA
AUGUST 8, 1995

Price ranges were unchanged, with the majority of the limited trading on whites and sugared yolks unchanged to lower. The market tone was cautious. Demand was very light, and most sales were for immediate needs only. Floor stocks of finished products were at least adequate, and plants hesitated to produce more than was needed to cover orders. Breaking stock supplies were adequate to ample, and prices were lower.

E. PA & NJ Poultry

ATLANTA, GA
AUGUST 7, 1995

Prices trended higher compared to last Monday's final. Offerings were short to no better than in close balance as producers were feeling effects from the hot humid weather conditions. Demand was moderate to instances good. Trade sentiment at least steady.

High flying wheat having trouble finding a landing spot, continues to touch and go; up one day down the next. Wheat 2 to 6 cents lower. Corn steady to 1 cent lower. Sorghum mostly unchanged. Soybeans 1 to 4 cents lower. Wild price gyrations and trading in the wheat pits slowed down some what today, but bids tumbled after near limit ups Tuesday. All Boards reported less activity as most traders and dealers have established a position and just hanging around until Friday's U.S.D.A.'s Crop Production Report. This was true on corn and beans also. Export orders stirred a little interest today, the first time this week, especially for corn and soybeans. Rumors of a big wheat deal turned out to be just that --- rumors---.

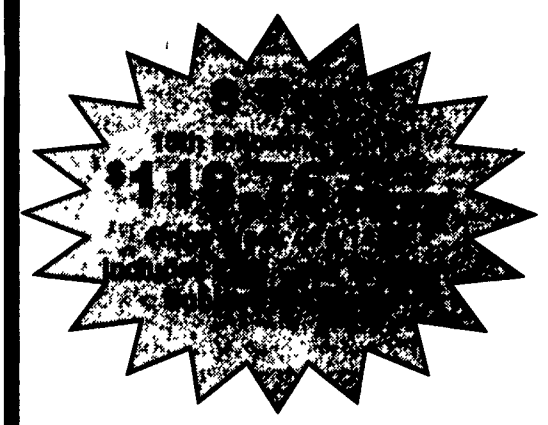
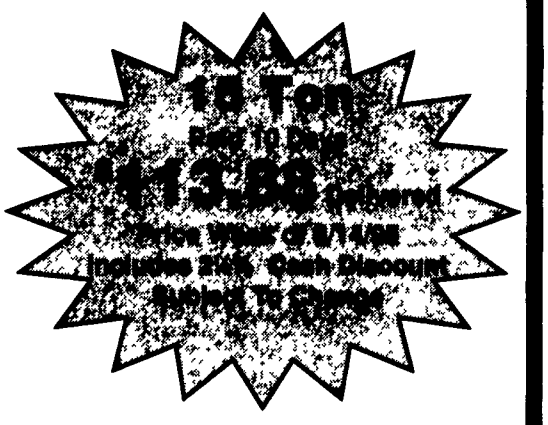
PENNFIELD'S ALL NEW BARLEY BLEND 10½% #79506



This product contains Pennfield's new "Flat Rolled" Barley, Non Fortified Pellet, Molasses and Flo-Coat.



Performance Top Dress - LTD 22%

LTD 22% is a high performance Top Dress from Pennfield. It contains select sources of high quality blood meal and fish meal. Blood meal is an excellent by-pass source of the amino acid Lysine. Fish meal, an excellent source of by-pass protein, has also been shown to increase rumen bacterial protein synthesis – Rumen bugs work harder.

Combine these features with the steam crimped soybeans, steam flaked corn, balanced proteins and carbohydrates, plus vitamins and minerals and you have Pennfield's LTD Top Dress.

OK City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK
AUGUST 9, 1995

Compared to last week: Feeder steers and heifers firm to 2.00 higher. Steer calves steady. Heifer calves firm to 2.00 higher. Demand good for all classes. Higher cost of gains and strong 4th quarter CME slaughter contracts creating excellent demand for heavy feeders that will have short turn in feedlots. The light supply of yearling feeders thruout the country that are available to feedlots at present has also sparked demand. Quality of supply plain to average, end attractive. Feeder cattle flesh condition attractive and mostly medium to thin; calves varied from slightly thin thru soft with most in medium condition. Bulk of supply in average fill condition. Slaughter cows steady. Slaughter bulls 1.00 higher. Packer demand moderate to good. Several high quality, ranch fresh pairs included in supply. Demand for replacements good, especially for pairs.

Total of 491 cows and bulls sold with near 45 percent returning to the country.

Receipts this week 8,078; last week 6,560; last year 12,122. Supply consisted of 74 percent yearlings and calves over 600 lbs; 20 percent calves under 600 lbs; 6 percent cows and bulls. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC — THIS WEEK WITH

AUGUST 14-20, 1995

NATIONAL AVIATION DAY, AUG. 19.

CATASTROPHES AND VICTORIES

Rhode Island celebrates Victory Day (V-J Day) on August 14, marking the end of World War II in 1945. Quonset, Rhode Island, contributed the Quonset hut to the WW II effort, fashioned after the British Nissen hut. In other war history, Vermont recognizes Bennington Battle Day on August 16, in recognition of the Green Mountain Boys who defeated the British in 1777. According to Georges Clemenceau (1841-1929), "War is a series of catastrophes that results in a victory.." Joseph Heller, author of the novel Catch-22, put the sentiment into more modern terms: "I'd like to see the government get out of war altogether and leave the whole field to private industry."

TIP OF THE WEEK

COOL CUKES SOUP

3 large cucumbers
1/2 small onion
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
salt and pepper to taste
4 cups chicken broth
1/2 cup heavy cream chopped chives
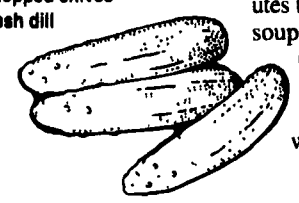
fresh dill



Peel and slice cukes, chop onion, and sauté both in butter for about 10 minutes. Sift in the flour, salt, and pepper, stirring until smooth. Add broth and simmer 15 minutes to thicken, then put the soup through the blender. Chill well. Just before serving, stir in the cream and garnish with chives and dill.

Makes about 4 cups.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

If the Moon turns on its back in the last quarter (Aug. 17), it is a sign of rain.

When spiders crawl on the walls more than usual, rain will ensue.

When the spider cleans its web, fair weather is indicated.

If corn is hard to husk, expect a hard winter.

Our Building Lease may be the best way to build your farm or commercial building.

Whether your new farm or commercial building is of pole, timber column, stud, steel or block construction; choose Telmark lease financing.

Telmark has been leasing equipment for over 30 years. Did you know that we've been leasing new buildings for that long too? Consider the features:

- Tax deductibility and accelerated write-offs: Lease payments are income tax deductible over the term of the lease compared to 20-year depreciation of farm buildings and 39-year depreciation of commercial buildings.
- Low upfront costs: Beginning costs may be as little as one monthly lease payment.
- Flexible lease term: Building lease terms start aggressively at five years but may be as long as ten, twelve, or fifteen years.
- Customized payment schedules: Lease payment schedules match your cash flow. Payment options include monthly, quarterly, annually, as well as, skip or specially designed seasonal payments.

How do you start leasing a building from Telmark? Talk with a qualified builder to determine your needs and building cost. And call your Telmark representative:

OPINION

An Educational Experience

This year at Ag Progress Days you will be able to test drive new products and see many new ag technologies. Not only is there a wealth of information available for large and small-scale producers but for families and the average consumer.

New this year will be tractor ride and drive opportunities. In addition, special attention will be given to bean planting and harvesting, as well as many other machinery demonstrations.

The Pennsylvania Hay Show has been a long-time feature of the event, and the 1995 judging will be held in the hay tent.

The equine exhibits and demonstrations will showcase Penn State's Quarter horse equine teaching programs.

Landscapes, lawns, and gardens get their share of attention too. Especially noteworthy is the demonstration of a computer-assisted landscape design that shows you what to plant and then projects what your grounds will look like in 10 years.

If you want to compare brands of farm equipment or see the latest in Penn State's exhibits, a trip to the Russell E. Larson research facility at Rockspring in Centre County next week will be an educational experience.

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Attend Ag Progress Days

Penn State's Ag Progress Days will be held Aug. 15-17 at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center, nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45.

This is the largest agricultural technology show in Pennsylvania. Come see the latest in equipment and cultural practices and take a peek into the future.

Learn how Penn State research on crops, soils, pests, dairy, and livestock translates into farming practices. There will be a tractor ride and drive area this year.

Field machinery demonstrations include precision planting, mowing, bailing and round bale handling, primary and secondary tillage, and composting. In addition, there will be educational activities, opportunities to ask questions to researchers and extension experts, activities for children, and a variety of food booths.

More than 300 commercial and noncommercial exhibitors will be on the grounds. Admission and parking are free.

The hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday and 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday.

To Prevent Poisonings

I just received the 1994 Annual Report of the Central Pennsylvania Poison Center at the Penn State Hershey Medical Center.

Some highlights of the report include:

• Fifty-three percent of poison exposures involved children under the age of six. Medications represented 36 percent of substances, followed by cleaners (9 percent), personal care items (8 percent), and fumes (6 percent).

• Poisonings because of drug ingestion most frequently involved analgesics, specifically aspirin, acetaminophen, and ibuprofen.

In the past we have stressed the importance of keeping people, especially children, away from pesticides and dairy sanitizers and detergents. We need to continue our efforts in those areas.

However, based on this report, we need to be extra careful with medications and household cleaning compounds and keep them away from children under six.

Now is the time to do a check of your home and farm and make sure poisonous compounds are properly stored. Also, post the Poison Control Center number next to all telephones.

For central Pennsylvania, the number is (800) 521-6110.

To Teach School Bus Safety

It is hard to believe school will be starting soon.

According to Pennsylvania SAFE KIDS Coalition, an estimated 22 million students ride school buses daily. In 1993, seven school bus passengers were killed and an estimated 5,000 children ages 14 and under were injured in school bus-related crashes.

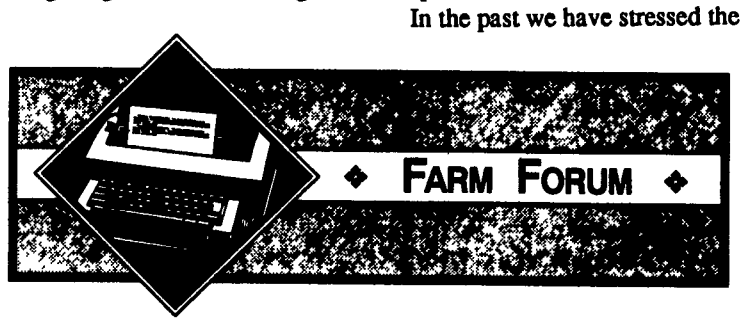
Many injuries occur when children are boarding or exiting because a blind spot extends approximately 10 feet in front of the bus.

Some safety tips you should consider are:

• When waiting for the bus, children should stay out of the street, avoid horseplay, wait for parents on the same side of the street as the school bus loading and unloading zone, and cross at least 10 feet in front of the bus.

• While on the bus, children should: 1. Remain seated at all times and keep the aisles clear; 2. Do not throw objects; 3. Do not shout or distract the driver; 4. Keep hands and arms inside the bus at all times; and 5. Exit from in front of the bus.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "Excellence can be yours if you know that the real danger in life is doing nothing."



Editor:

It was with a great deal of interest that I read the articles on development pressure on agricultural land. This was a subject upon which I spent a great deal of time, effort and concern since about 1970, so much so that in 1992 my wife and I donated our development rights to a local conservancy.

However, since then, I have taken a different viewpoint on the subject. I no longer condemn farmers for selling to developers. My reasons . . . prices paid to farmers are on the decline while the costs of farming are keeping up with inflation and taxes perhaps even exceeding the rate of inflation.

Basically, there are two very powerful forces which drive the action of mankind, one of which is

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

GETTING THE SIGN
August 13, 1995

GETTING THE SIGN
August 13, 1995

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 7; II Kings 16
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 125:1-5

Put two persons in the same situation and you may well get two radically different interpretations. One person may see it as a dire threat, the other as a challenging opportunity. Which person's perception is the right one? Actually, both are right. If you interpret a situation as threatening, then it is. If, instead, you interpret it as a challenge, perhaps an opportunity, then it is likely to be just that.

Stress research has indicated that those who do most poorly in stressful situations are those who react with fear and anxiety; those who see it as an obstacle to be overcome will be the least affected. In other words, the situation's effect upon us is largely determined by the way we perceive and react to it.

Medical researchers, Doctors Jeanne Achterberg and G. Frank Lawlis, did extensive studies with cancer patients. Having the patients draw pictures of their disease and their therapy. Patients whose drawings depicted their disease markedly stronger than their therapy, proved to be least likely to survive the disease. The drawings, represented their deepest feelings about their chances, in a sense, their faith.

LEARNED FAITH

Another researcher, Dr. Martin E.P. Seligman, has found that people with an optimistic perspective on life are generally happier, healthier and achieve more. Furthermore, says Dr. Seligman a positive outlook on life is generally learned. People become hopeful by practicing thinking that way. Correspondingly, helplessness is also learned when people practice a helpless outlook.

What these people are talking about is basically what we have in mind when we speak of faith. Faith preserves us from the toils of stress. With faith we tend to be healthier, happier and achieve more. And faith is essentially learned. We can grow in faith if we keep ever before us the promises of God and practice living on those promises. Similarly, unfaith or distrust can also be learned.

King Ahaz of Judah was a man afflicted with learned cynicism. He practiced his negative, hopeless attitude whenever he was confronted by a challenge. So when Israel and Syria brought their armies to attack Jerusalem, Ahaz panicked: "his heart and the heart of his people shook as the trees of the forest shake before the wind" (7:2).

LEARNED HELPLESSNESS

Ahaz's tragedy is not that he was frightened of his enemies, but that he stayed frightened despite all the signs God sent to assure him. The first of these was the sending of Isaiah with a message of hope: "Take heed, be quiet, do not fear, and do not let your heart be faint . . ." (7:4). To reinforce his message of hope, God tells Isaiah to take along his son, Shearjashub, whose names means "A remnant shall return."

God also sends the king a prophecy concerning the invasion by his enemies: "It shall not stand, and it shall not come to pass" (7:7). And to these signs God adds a magnanimous offer: "Ask a sign of the Lord your God; let it be deep as Sheol or high as heaven" (7:10). But Ahaz's mind was steeped in practiced negativism and he refused, not because he didn't want to test God but because he didn't want to test his own faith.

So God gave him yet another sign: "Behold a young woman shall conceive and bear a son and shall call his name Immanuel" — God with us. No matter what the challenge or the danger, there is ground for faith in the assurance that God is with us.

So, there were signs aplenty for Ahaz, but there was no room for them in his mind. And, so there are signs aplenty for us, too. Are you getting them?

A new name. A new company. Great on-farm service from trusted friends.

Universal Dairy Direct℠ is a new name in on-farm service. Universal Dairy Equipment Inc. purchased the on-farm dairy route, installation and service from Agway so you'll most likely find familiar faces providing that service.

The Universal Dairy Direct representative will provide you with the same great service you have come to expect with Universal Dairy Direct℠.

several additional pluses. They'll have access to over 75 years of dairy equipment experience from Universal technical representatives. They will also have a lineup of proven cleaners and sanitizers from Universal.

You'll see a new attitude for service and great products at competitive prices. This is change where everyone is a winner.

For more information call our 24-hour customer service toll-free number 1-800-409-1170.

The Perfect Place To Discuss Your Banking.

When farmers like you have financial needs, you don't have to come to us, we'll come to you. After all, running a successful farm doesn't leave much time for running to the bank. It's this kind of personal attention that farmers in Lancaster County and surrounding areas have been getting from Bank of Lancaster County for over 125 years.

So if you need working capital, a way to finance machinery, land, livestock, buildings, or a loan tailored to specific needs, look to the bank that's committed to your industry and to our area. At Bank of Lancaster County, decisions are made locally. And for you that means fast turnaround and flexible terms.

Why not give Bob Badger or Stan Michonski of our Agricultural Loan Division a call at (717) 397-7941? We're looking forward to talking to you about banking on your terms...on your farm.

Crops Information At Ag Progress

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — New herbicide-resistant corn and soybean cultivars are providing more weed-control alternatives for farmers. Visitors can see herbicide-resistant corn and soybeans at Penn State's Ag Progress Days, Aug. 15-17.

"Advantages of herbicide-resistant crops include greater flexibility for herbicide applications and more effective handling of hard-to-control weeds," said Dwight Lingenfelter, graduate student in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. "There also are economic advantages.

"Some herbicides can remain in soil and injure subsequent plantings in crop rotations," Lingenfelter said. "Planting herbicide-resistant crops can help alleviate problems with herbicide carryover. Herbicides also can be used on late-emerging weeds in these crops."

Several herbicide-resistant corn and soybean cultivars will be displayed at Ag Progress Days in demonstration plots near the Crop and Soil Science Tent, located at the end of East 5th Street. Featured will be the following:

- Roundup-Ready soybeans. Registered by the Environmental Protection Agency this spring, these soybeans are resistant to glyphosate, a commonly used broad-spectrum postemergence herbicide.

- Liberty-tolerant corn and soybeans. These cultivars, due to be registered in 1997, are resistant to glufosinate, a broad-spectrum postemergence herbicide.
- Poast-resistant corn. Registered by the EPA this spring, this corn is resistant to sethoxydim, a postemergence grass herbicide.
- STS soybeans. These soybeans have been registered for the past several years and are tolerant to the sulfonylurea herbicide family, which mainly are used as postemergence herbicides.
- IMI corn. Also registered for several years, this corn is tolerant of imidazolinone and sulfonylurea herbicides. This crop is mainly used for carryover situations in crop rotations and for over-the-top applications of herbicides.

Chemical companies and research institutions are continually working to develop more resistant cultivars. "Several have been developed using standard tissue culture techniques, isolating herbicide-resistant traits," said Lingenfelter. "Others have been genetically engineered by transferring genes from resistant organisms, such as bacteria."

Where trade names appear in this release, no discrimination is intended, and no endorsement by Penn State is implied.

Schuylkill County Opens Ag Museum

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN (Schuylkill Co.) — Hundreds of visitors to this week's Schuylkill County Fair had a chance to see actual, old-time working farm machinery here as part of the dedication of the Schuylkill County Ag Museum.

Dedication ceremonies for the new museum were Monday evening. As part of the day's dedication activities, museum committee members and friends turned the crank of an old one-hole corn sheller at the fairgrounds.

Tractor pull events were also staged for the week-long celebration coinciding with the fair, which runs through Saturday evening.

In an interview with Lancaster Farming, co-director of the museum, Curt Luckenbill, said that the museum was built as a showcase to have people "see the ways things were done years ago," prior to the 1950s. The museum, which has a lot of room for additional antique and antiquated equipment, measures 44 feet by 120 feet, for a total of 5,280 square feet.

Inside, some of the equipment featured includes a 1915 Osborne grain binder from Lebanon County, a 1922 Ellis-Keystone threshing machine, and an early 1920s Buch roughage cutter, according to Luckenbill.

Along with co-director Harold Berkheiser, Luckenbill manages the equipment, and there is still "plenty of room for more" to showcase farming technology before 1950, said Luckenbill.

Rodney Zechman is at the wheel of a garden tractor in the 1,100-pound modified stock class at the fairgrounds.

Eventually, Luckenbill said the plans are to feature tillage, planting, and harvesting equipment, in addition to blacksmithing tools, butcher shop equipment, kitchen, and other items. The museum will showcase food production from start to finish, he indicated.

The museum is open free to the public until the end of the fair on Saturday evening, Aug. 12.

Luckenbill said that as of press-time, several hundred people had toured the building. The building will be open by appointment the rest of the year.

Also, the museum will be open during the county Fall Festival, scheduled Oct. 14-15 at the fairgrounds. In additional, antique tractors, including an antique tractor pull, will be featured.

For more information about the museum, contact Curt Luckenbill at 324 Schuylkill Mountain Rd., Schuylkill Haven, PA 17972, (717) 739-4554 (home) or (717) 754-FAIR (at the fairgrounds).

Chester Holstein Breeders Hold Field Day

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

COCHRANVILLE (Chester Co.) — We may have fewer dairy farms in Chester County, but we still have a lot of good kids," said Walter Wurster, Chester County dairy extension agent, speaking at the Chester County Holstein field day at the Melvin Stoltzfus family farm.

"We had an excellent 4-H dairy program this year with 105 animals shown at Kimberton Fair," Wurster said. "Maybe next year the show will be at the new 4-H Center. We expect to break ground on the building to be put up this fall. We think we give the kids a good experience in 4-H.

Wurster said a hoof care meeting was scheduled for Oct. 27 in the Spring City area. In addition, the Animal Housing Expo is scheduled for Nov. 8-9, and a milking school is planned for mid-November.

State Director Jane Pepple said at the July 25 state directors' meeting that the review of the national convention in June was positive. In addition, Pennsylvania now has the national president in John Cope, Grantham. Cope will be the speaker at the Chester County Holstein annual meeting Oct. 26.

In addition, the state board gave PHA approval to pursue a large export heifer order from Peru. They are looking for 1,000 bred heifers and 600 open heifers.

Pepple thanked everyone who helped the association at the Cochranville Carnival this past week. They sold 53 gallons of ice-cream and 64 gallons of milk for milkshakes.

Ken Raney, Pennsylvania Holstein Association, said they are in the middle of two export projects right now. They need heifers for Japan that must be started on the process of testing right now. These are to be commercial type heifers to make up a 90 head lot to be shipped in early October. These heifers must be bred for November and December.

Also, the state association is working on two plane loads of heifers, 230 head, to be shipped to Saudi Arabia. These heifers are to be shipped in December to bred for February through April.

If you have heifers that may qualify for export, contact your local or state Holstein officials for more information.

Raney also said the state has an active youth program with 2,000 members and 25 different programs for youth. Any family that would like to get involved should contact the state office.

Clarence Stauffer said he wanted to remind everyone of the many different ways available to register cattle and the help that is available to catch up registrations. He said that if you or a neighbor who may not now be registering cattle would like help to bring your herd into the program, you should contact him or any of your local association officials.

Guest speaker was Dieter Krieg, Farmshine, who encouraged everyone to count the blessings on the farm and in America and to encourage young people to stay on the farm.

Winners in the judging contest were:

Youth: 1. Rusty Herr & Keven Nolan, tie; 2. Becky Nolan; 3 Rodney Hostetter.

Womnen: 1. Marilyn Umble; 2. Mary Lue Glick; 3. Nancy Mae Stoltzfus.

Men: 1. Robert Davis; 2. Dwight Stoltzfus; 3. Richard Mellinger.

Royalty at the Chester County Holstein field day are from left, Karen Imholf, Chester County dairy princess; and Erica Lloyd, Julie Sollenberger, and Crystal Kolb, dairy maids.

FORAGE QUALITY PROGRA

Comments from producers confirm what's en the selection program delivers resul o

In 1987, Cargill Hybrid Seeds initiated the first full-scale evaluation of corn hybrids for silage. That was the beginning of our Forage Quality Program. The first two years of this Cargill-funded research project at Michigan State University –

▲ Isolated corn silage traits in order to identify hybrid genetics that consistently exhibited high quality forage attributes.

▲ Supplied critical information on plant features such as ear type and kernel texture which impact silage quality.

▲ Utilized digestibility measurements to accurately predict the historical profile of the energy and intake potential of corn genetics.

▲ Generated a quality index to idenfity the hybird best suited for a producer's specific need, keeping in mind the nutritional requirements of livestock.

▲ Used this information to develop hybrid Menus for specific dairy and beef feeding strategies.

Subsequent on-farm research shows that most dairy and beef producers can increase their earnings by better matching corn hybrid characteristics to their feeding needs. It has been demonstrated that there are repeatable differences in important quality characteristics such as whole plant digestibility, neutral detergent fiber, digestibility, non-fiber carbohydrates and crude protein.

That's why for the past six years dairy producers and cattle feeders have relied on Menus from Cargill Hybrid Seeds to grow and feed hybrids especially designed to maximize the benefits of corn silage.

Gerald Burket, Martinsburg, Pa. (feed, seed sales, 100 cows) – "I don't think there's anything today that a farmer can do that will be more productive... the more forage the cow can utilize, the less he's got to purchase off the farm and the more profitable he's going to be..."

HYBRIDS SELECTED FOR CORN SILAGE INCREASE MILK PRODUCTION

At one time, Carl Theunis, Kaukauna, Wis., primarily fed haylage to his 500-cow dairy herd. However, after hitting a brick wall in production, he increased the amount of corn silage fed to the present level of about 50 percent of the diet. The result was a significant production increase.

Theunis is sold on the Cargill Forage Quality Program. "I believe including corn silage in our rations and selecting hybrids according to Cargill's forage quality criteria are part of an excellent risk-management plan."

Ed Liegel, Loganville, Wi crop consistency of the Cargill grar supplier says they will do. e mu hybrid for silage."

HYBRIDS PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE IN RISK-MANAGEMENT PLAN

Weir Stewart and Bob Kimmel, partners in the 1,000-cow Odyssey Farm dairy operation, Copake Falls, N.Y., can cover their entire cost of fertilizer, seed and planting by getting a milk production increase of about 4 lbs./day/cow.

"We get that much or more by planting Cargill hybrids selected for their forage quality attributes," says Stewart (left in photo). Adds Kimmel: "I'm convinced that Cargill hybrids increase feed intake and fiber digestibility. Its easier to balance a ration if cows are eating 52 lbs. of dry matter per day rather than 46 lbs."

Lentz Farm Host For Lebanon Holstein Night

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

GREBLE (Lebanon Co.) — More than 300 people attended the Lebanon County Holstein Club's annual field day event Thursday evening at the Gary and Barbara Lentz farm near Greble.

In addition to a judging contest, commercial exhibits, tours, food and fellowship, representatives from the state and national Holstein Associations told members about identification requirments and supplies and about seeking cattle for export.

In addition, guest speaker was Roy Moyer, manager of Junge Farms, in Berks Co.

Kenneth Raney, director of member service for the Pennsylvania Holstein Association said that the association is seeking animals to fill an order to Japan and that the association is also looking for animals for an upcoming order to Saudi Arabia.

Raney said that registered bred heifers with dams of Good Plus 81 percent or better and 18,000 pounds production at first lactation are being sought to fill out an pending order to Japan.

For more information call the association, or talk to a local representative.

Raney also announced that the Southeast Championship show will be held this year. He said it has been scheduled to be held in Schuylkill County at the fairgrounds on August 31. James Burdette, of Mercersburg is judge.

Clarance Stauffer, National Holstein fieldman, talked about registration, identification and keeping up on registrations, especially if dairy farmers intend to take advantage of exporting and merchandising cattle.

Stauffer also mentioned that the association has been very pleased with the work of David Lentz, nephew of Gary and Barbara, who has been working for the association in the Southeast, being based in Florida.

In the area for a couple days, David was at the field night with his parents Robert and Sandra Lentz, and his fiance.

Presiding at the event was Duane Nolt. He announced that the county club sale is slated to be held 7 p.m., August 25.

According to Nolt, there are 62 animals consigned. He said there are 30 head of milking cows, 25 bred heifers, two to three yearling heifers, one service-aged bull, and one choice of a flush from Reid Hoover, of Lebanon.

For more information on the sale, and catalogs, call Nolt at (717) 866-6424, or Dale Hoover at (717) 867-2489.

Nolt also announced that youth can submit for the club's annual scholarship. Call for more details.

Jim Hill won the men's division in the judging contest, while Cheryl Horst was champion of the women's division. In the 14 and under age catagory, Jenny Seyfert was champion, while Justin Troutman was the winner in the 15 and older competition.

Mike Menendez, a sire specialist for Landmark Genetics, was

From the left, Gary and Barbara Lentz and their children Katie and Dustin, welcome more than 300 fellow Holstein breeders to their Dream-On Holsteins dairy farm. The family farm operation has 83 registered Holsteins in modern facilities and conducts a brisk merchandising business, having sold 17 bulls into artificial insemination domestically, one to Australia, and one to Japan in the past five years, with all bull dams carrying the farm prefix.

Dairy Management Symposium Set

UNIVERSITY PARK (State College) — Pennsylvania has lost more than 2,000 dairy farms since 1985, with over 1 percent going out of business each year. To stay in business, the state's remaining dairy producers will have to become more competitive.

"Managing Dairy Farms into the 21st Century," a dairy management symposium sponsored by Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences and Monsanto Inc., will address topics vital to the dairy industry's future.

The event will begin Dec. 7 at 1 p.m. and will run through 4:30 p.m. on Dec. 8 at the Hershey Convention Center in Hershey.

Experts from Penn State, Cornell University, Ohio State University, and industry will discuss topics including:

- Positioning your dairy business for the 21st century
- Benchmarks for a profitable dairy farm business
- Putting dollars where they count
- Recruiting, hiring and keeping employees
- Maximizing existing facilities for cow comfort
- Carbohydrate management for dairy cows
- How attention to cow feet and legs affects profitability

The symposium also will feature five presentations related to use, economics, and experiences with bovine somatotropin (bST). Further details about the event will be released in late summer.

For more information about "Managing Dairy Farms Into the 21st Century," write to Dr. Michael O'Connor, The Pennsylvania State University, 324 Henning Building, University Park, PA 16802, or call (814) 863-3913.

Aged Cow Grand At Maryland Brown Swiss Show

FREDERICK, Md.—Despite the hazy, hot, and humid weather here in Maryland, 140 Brown Swiss were shown at the recent Maryland State Show, held at the Frederick Fairgrounds, in Frederick, Md.

James Burdette, of Mercersburg, Pa. judged the cattle during the all-day event. Breeders participating were from seven Maryland counties, and three breeders from Virginia.

Allen and Tammy Bassler, of Upperville, Va. won the premier breeder banner, and George Wm. Smith III capture the premier exhibitor banner with their point accumulations during the show.

This was the first year for these prestigious banners, and will continue to highlight future shows, according to Eric Fleming, the show chairman.

Exhibiting the senior and grand champion cow was GS Associates, of New Windsor, Md.

The GS Associates' Long View Jades Raisin, an aged cow, is no newcomer to the winner's circle. She displayed the dairyness and excellent mammary system that judge Burdette was looking for in naming a champion.

The line-up of winners from the cow classes was outstanding. Reserve senior and grand champion was a 3-year-old, Lauter Bach Challenge Di, exhibited by George Wm. Smith III, of Frederick.

The junior champion of the open show was a tall and stylish junior yearling, Garstlyn Jason Lil Tex, exhibited by GS Associates. The reserve junior champion was Blessing PR Noleanna ET, exhibited by George Wm. Smith III.

Grand champion of the 4-H show was Sand Rock JG Hage, a big senior 2-year-old, exhibited by Bruce Bassler, of Emmitsburg. Reserve champion was Aimee Smith, of Woodsboro, with Towpath Pretus Fran, a junior 3-year-old.

The owner of the junior champion of the 4-H show was Aimee Smith, of Woodsboro. Her Lake Lane Aimees Berry, is an intermediate calf.

The reserve junior champion, shown by Chris Birch, of White Hall, was a senior heifer calf, Glad Ray Jetway Vixie.

Also highlighting the 4-H show was the fitting and showing contest. Winning the intermediate division and also named overall winner was Amanda Valentine, Emmitsburg. The junior winner and also her first year of fitting and showing was Amanda Stowers, Brunswick. The senior winner was Bruce Bassler, of Emmitsburg.

In other activities, Shannon Harbaugh, of Thurmont, was crowned the 1995-'96 Maryland Swiss Miss. Shannon is to represent Maryland Brown Swiss at various shows and banquets throughout the year.

This year was the first year for bull classes, premier breeder and exhibitor banners, and several other group classes.

Maryland breeders wanted to elevate this show—known more often as a "Field Day"—to a more prestigious show for breeder and exhibitor recognition.

Through the efforts of the newly appointed show chairman, Eric Fleming, the Maryland Brown Swiss State Show was well received and very successful.

Gable Shows Supreme With Guernsey At Morrison's Cove

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Correspondent

MARTINSBURG (Blair Co.)—"We have some good dairy cattle shows in Maryland," said type judge, Norman Hill, of Woodbine, Maryland, as he studied his six choices fo: the overall supreme champion at the annual Morrison's Cove Dairy Show. "But the cattle here in Pennsylvania are outstanding."

Narrowing the selection from the breed champions being exhibited, Hill rated the Holstein, Guernsey and Milking Shorthorn as the top three.

Gable received the annual John Fisher award presented each year at the Martinsburg show by the Ida Mohr family.

Premier exhibitor went to Globe Run Farms.

All top champions were chosen on Friday following the Open Holstein Dairy Show.

Rebecca Kelly took the champion and junior champion awards in the Holstein division while R.C. Norris & Globe Run Farms had the reserve honors.

Field Day Examines Corn Row Width, Planting Depth

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Corn planting depth makes a big difference in terms of standability, especially when using new herbicide formulas, according to research at the annual Reading Bone Agway Crop Day on Wednesday here at the Milton Hershey School.

About 225 farmers and agri-industry representatives were registered for the event, which provides a product and service showcase for Agway and other companies. In all, about 14 companies were represented at the field day.

Randy Weyer, plant manager for Reading Bone Agway, Leesport, told tour groups that corn producers should "shoot for 1½ -inch seed depth when planting." He said a difference of a ½ inch can be critical to emergence and standability, and one inch variance can be "very critical."

Herbicide formula use and rates can affect emergence and standability if planters stray too far from the 1½ -inch depth required, according to field trials at the

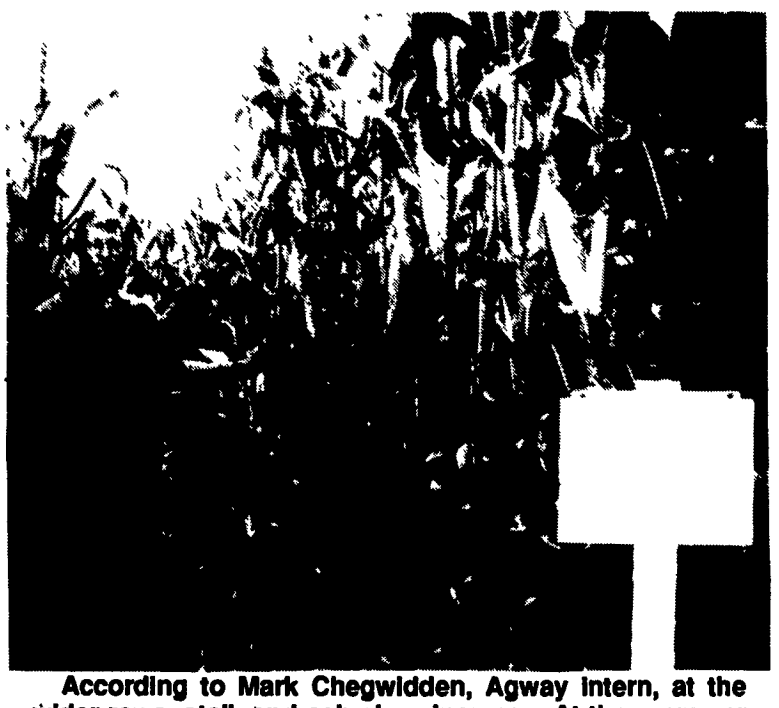
Research provided by Dean Kohler, intern at Reading Bone Agway, examined how shorter planting depths affected corn height.

Seventeen different research plots were featured at the field day. Roy Aber, right, sales manager for Reading Bone Agway, provides information on post applications of herbicide products to soybeans.



According to Mark Chegwidden, Agway intern, at the wider rows, stalk and cob sizes increase. At the narrower rows, while the cob and stalk sizes decrease, there are more plants per space which may result in greater yield.

4-H'ers Believe Luck, Hog Selection Win Championships

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — "When I pick hogs, I just get lucky, I guess," commented Shannon Horst after capturing the supreme champion hog trophy on Wednesday night at the annual Lancaster County 4-H Swine Show.

And Dale Livengood, who won reserve champion at the show, also claimed luck, in this case "beginner's luck," for winning the championship.

But both exhibitors know that it takes more than simple good fortune to win a championship.

Shannon, who also serves as state FFA chaplain, showed his 250-pound Yorkshire crossbred gilt, which he said he picked from a group of 20 hogs shown to him by Ezra Good. Shannon purchased the Babcock hog from Jerry Hostetter. Hatfield purchased the championship hog for $3 per pound, for a total of $750.

Shannon, 17, son of Harvey and Marlene Horst, Narvon, said when he looks for show hogs, he looks for those that would "make a big hog, but on a smaller scale." The Hampshire cross had "nice hams. If you find one that has nice hams, you might as well go for it." Shannon is a graduate of Garden Spot High School.

Shannon will be showing hogs at various fairs, including Elizabethtown, Ephrata, and New Holland, and at the state Farm Show.

Dale Livengood said it was "beginner's luck" that allowed him to show his first-time reserve champion hog. This was Dale's first year at the show.

Dale, 17, son of Earl and Joyce Livengood, Lampeter, showed his 251-pound Hampshire crossbred gilt. The hog is from the Frank Feeser herd in Tannytown, Md. Dale, a junior at Faith Mennonite High School, wil be showing three hogs at Elizabethtown and three at the Lampeter Fair.

Leidy's, represented by Leon Stoltzfus, purchased the reserve champion for $2 per pound, for a total of $502.

There were a total of 110 hogs and 21 buyers. Judge for the show was Henry Holloway, a Yorkshire breeder from Darlington, Md. Auctioneer was John D. Stauffer.

Following is a list of show placings.

Beef Show Picks Winners

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.)—Chester County 4-H Beef Club members attended the annual Goshen Fair Steer Show on Saturday, Aug. 5.

Judge for the show was Keith Bryan from Penn State University, where he is the coach of the Livestock Judging Team as well as an animal science instructor.

The evening started with the weigh-in of the show steers, in which they were divided into four weight class divisions.

In the lightweight division, local winner was Jonathan Howe. Mediumweight division winners were 1. Jonathan Howe and 2. Becky Byrne. Light Heavy Weight division winners included 1. Matt McAllister, 2. Nathan Howe and 3. Phillip McAllister. Heavyweight division winners included 1. Sara Howe, 2. Sara Howe and 3. Adam Byrne.

Results of the showmanship competition are, in the senior division 15 years and older 1. Matt McAllister, 2. Jonathan Howe and 3. Kasey McAllister. In the intermediate division ages 12, 13 and 14, 1. Sara Howe and 2. Nathan Howe. In the junior division ages 8, 9, 10 and 11, 1. Phillip McAllister, 2. Becky Byrne and 3. Adam Byrne.

These 4-H members will exhibiti their county steers for their final show and sale as they will end their beef projects at the conclusion of this show. By members selling their project steers, they can use the sale money to purchase new calves for next year or by saving up for a college education.

The show and sale will be held at the Kimberton Fire Company Fairgrounds on Aug. 18, with the show starting at 9 a.m. followed by the sale at 1 p.m.

Those interested in supporting the Chester County 4-H beef program by purchasing one or more of these steers, contact the 4-H office at (610) 696-3500.

Lebanon Market Animal Auction Raises $75,765

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — The annual sale of champion market animals exhibited by 4-H youth at the Lebanon Area Fair raised a total of $75,765 on 222 animals sold during the auction held last week at the county fairgrounds.

The success of the annual livestock auction is well-known and all supporters were in-effect honored prior to the sale in a special moment of silence observed in the passing of two strong and consistent local 4-H supporters — Carlos R. Leffler and Bob Blecker.

Leffler was founder of Carolos R. Leffler Inc., a fuel oil transporting and selling business based in Richland. Blecker was a vice president for the company who died in a helicopter crash near Williamsport shortly after last year's auction.

Kenneth Winebark, former Lebanon County extension agent and long-time worker to help establish the success of the auction, talked about the support of Leffler and Blecker.

He called Leffler, "... one of the strongest supporters here in Lebanon and surrounding counties and at the state Farm Show." Leffler had once been a member of the Lebanon County 4-H Beef Club and through purchasing of project animals has helped numerous youth establish a sound base for pursuing their goals — contuining education, establishing a valuable corps of breeding stock, etc.

Blecker represented the company and himself, serving on the county 4-H board of directors and being closely involved with community youth projects, such as helping with fair barbeques.

Winebark led more than 200 people in observing the moment of silence.

That type of community support was continued at this auction. Not only did past supporters continue to help with the youth development program, but Carl Wenger, of Champion Leasing, in Myerstown, told sale officials he wanted to ensure that each youth showing market hogs got a minimum of $270 for their animal, and that each youth showing lambs received at least $120 per lamb.

For those who received a sale resulting in less, Wenger made up the difference. It helped in creating one of the higher grossing sales.

Of the animals sold, there were 24 beef animals selling for an average of $1,117.70, for a total of $26,825.

The grand champion market beef exhibited by Jason Shirk, son of Thomas and Dawn Arnold, of Rexmont, sold for $3,000 to Hoss's Steak and Sea House, a very strong supporter of youth programs in the state.

Craig Campbell, son of Hoss's CEO Bill Campbell returned his purchase to the auction ring in order to raise funds for the county livestock 4-H program. Campbell also announced that a Hoss's Steak and Sea House restaurant is slated to open in Lebanon County in 1996, resulting in loud applause from the audience.

Representatives for Leffler Inc., as second buyers, then purchased the champion beef animal for $1,600.

The reserve grand champion beef animal exhibited by Nathanial Artz, son of Scott and Linda Artz, of Lebanon, was purchased for $1,600 by First National Bank of Fredericksburg.

Of the 97 live and 1 carcass market lambs sold, the average price was $161.94, for a total of $15,870.

Benjamin Bow, son of Ben and Mary Bow, of Annville, sold his 109-pound grand champion crossbreed to Leffler Inc. for $525.

The reserve grand champion market lamb, exhibited by Darren Fidler, son of Dennis Fidler, of Richland, sold for $300 to the agricultural lending group at Lebanon Valley National Bank.

Of the 1 carcass and 99 live market hogs sold, the average price was $330.70, for a total of $33,070.

Dairy Shrine Announces Student Winners

SHAWANO, Wis.—The top five award winners in the 1995 Dairy Shrine Student Recognition Contest have diverse career aspirations ranging from dairy research to journalism to dairy farming.

The top five honorees, selected from a group of 16 entrants, are: first place, Miriam Kelly, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University; second place, Michele Ruby, California Polytechnic State University; third place, Corey Geiger, University of Wisconsin-Madison; fourth place, Kevin Ziemba, Cornell University; and fifth place, Jeffrey Hostetter, Penn State University.

These top winners will receive cash awards of $1,000, $500, $400, $300 and $200 respectively from Dairy Shrine. And all entrants will receive lifetime memberships in Dairy Shrine.

They will be honored at the Dairy Shrine awards banquet in Madison, Wis. on Wednesday, Oct. 4, in conjunction with World Dairy Expo.

Miriam Kelly

First place winner Miriam Kelly is familiar to Dairy Shrine members as recipient of the 1994 Kildee Scholarship for graduate study. A Pennsylvania native and Virginia Tech graduate, Miriam is currently pursuing a master's degree in Animal Science at Cornell University, concentrating on research in dairy cattle nutrition and physiology.

While at Virginia Tech, Kelly was honored as the outstanding senior in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences and received the Paul A. Reaves Award as outstanding senior in the Department of Dairy Science.

In addition to being involved in many on-campus activities, she was a national officer in the American Dairy Science Association student affiliate division.

Michele Ruby

Michele Ruby, this year's second place winner, is planning a career in dairy advertising, journalism or public relations.

A native of Oregon and a graduate of Cal Poly, Michele is a past

Jeffrey Hostetter
National President of the American Dairy Science Association student affiliate division.

Currently, she is editor of the New York Holstein News, Ithaca, NY. She also continues to be involved in her family dairy operation through ownership of 38 registered Holsteins, including 22 milking cows with a BAA of 105.7 and an average production average of 23,500 pounds of milk.

Corey Geiger

Corey Geiger, the third place winner, has already begun his career in the dairy industry as an associate editor of Hoard's Dairyman magazine. A University of Wisconsin-Madison graduate, Corey plans to maintain ownership of 20 registered Holsteins on his family farm near Reedsville, Wis.

As a college student, Geiger was vice president of the Badger Dairy Club, president of Alpha Gamma Rho and a recipient of a Dairy Shrine-UDIA milk marketing scholarship.

Kevin Ziemba

The fourth place winner, Kevin Ziemba, has joined his family dairy operation in New York, after graduating from Cornell University. A successful dairy cattle judge, Ziemba led the Cornell University team to a first-place finish in the 1994 National Intercollegiate Dairy Cattle Judging Contest by placing first individually and first in oral reasons. He is a past president of both the Cornell University Dairy Science club and the New York State Junior Holstein Association.

Jeffrey Hostetter

Jeffrey Hostetter, the fifth place winner, also plans to return to his family farm following graduation in December from Pennsylvania State University. A Pennsylvania native, Jeffrey has served as president of the Penn State Dairy Science Club, Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Club, Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association and Alpha Zeta honorary agricultural fraternity.

The Dairy Shrine Student Recognition program is designed to recognize outstanding dairy students who plan to work with dairy cattle following graduation.

Lebanon Market Animal Auction

The grand champion was exhibited by Janine Winebark, daughter of Kenneth and Janet Winebark, Myerstown, and sold for $1,100 to Country Fare Restaurant, in Myerstown.

The reserve grand champion market hog was exhibited by Trisha Berger, daughter of Bonnie Arnold, and sold for $900 to MACH Farms, of Lebanon.

Complete market lambs and hogs are shown first on hoof and then judged by carcass, and are rated according to a final index that correlates to goals of commercial production, such as average daily gain, carcass weight, length, backfat and the area of the loin on cross section.

The carcasses are then cut, wrapped and quick frozen and ready to be consumed by the buyer.

Billie Jo Atkins, daughter of Bill and Judy Atkins, of Lebanon, sold her grand champion complete market lamb to the agricultural lending group at LVNB for $225.

For those familiar with the details of meat production, Atkins' lamb had a carcass weight of 49 pounds, a 2.35 square-inch loin eye, a tenth of an inch backfat, an average daily gain of .60 pounds, 47 percent retail cuts, a yield grade of 2.126 and a final index of 79.25.

Brandon Winebark, son of Ken and Janet, sold his grand champion complete market hog to Ezra Good, of Denver, for $450.

The details of his champion include an average daily gain of 2.08 pounds, with a tested .7807 pounds of lean gain per day, a carcass weight of 184 pounds, a length of 32 inches, a 5.9 square-inch loin eye, .90 inches of backfat, and it measured out 50.89 percent lean, and had a final index of .95679.

The volunteer auctioneer was Harry Bachman, of Annville, with helper Brian Kreider, of Lebanon.

event at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center, located nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45. The premier Penn State showcase event lasts from Tuesday, Aug. 15 through Thursday, Aug. 17.

Importantly, according to Oberheim, is that Ag Progress not only showcases new ag technology, but presents a lot of diversity. Not only is there a wealth of information available for large and small-scale producers, but for families and the average consumer.

"Ag Progress is a showcase for new equipment technologies available in the industry," said Oberheim. Oberheim said a lot of experts will be available to answer questions regarding dairy, beef, and other livestock operations, in addition to questions on veterinary science, equine programs, and crop production.

But there are displays and demonstrations for the "home manager," also, including computer-assisted landscape design, selection and care of ornamental plants and turfgrass, and care of the lawn and landscape.

New to this year's Ag Progress will be the tractor ride and drive opportunities. Also, precision snap bean planting and harvesting will be demonstrated with planters from three different companies at the site.

Also, new food vendors will feature taco salads, and the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association will have a stand for the first time at the show, offering fresh produce.

For the second year, a tractor rollover safety demonstration will be highlighted near the sinkhole at the research center. In addition to commercial exhibits from more than 300 companies, the following will be highlighted at Ag Progress:

• Forage and crop information. Visitors can learn about crop production and management, soil fertility and testing, nutrient management, pest control, weed identification, and more in the Crop and Soil Science Tent and demonstration plots at the end of East 5th St.

• Herbicide-resistant crops. New herbicide-resistant corn and soybean cultivars provide more weed-control alaternatives for farmers. Visitors can tour the demonstration plots near the Crop and Soil Science Tent.

• Snap bean demonstrations. Planters from three different companies will be demonstrated. Farmers will be able to evaluate the stands produced by the different planters before the beans are harvested.

• Machinery demonstrations. These include snap bean harvesting, primary and secondary tillage, mowing, round silage baling, and round bale handling.

• Animal agriculture. Visitors can learn about new developments in beef production, dairy farming, and other aspects of animal agriculture by touring the Dairy and Livestock Tent at the research center.

• Lessons on conserving natural resources. Questions about preserving a wetland, generation of income from woodlot without harming wildlife, and composting will be featured in bus tours that depart daily from the Conservation Education Tent on West 11th St., leaving daily every hour starting at 10 a.m.

• 1995 Pennsylvania Hay Show has been a long-time feature of Ag Progress Days. The Hay Show Tent is at the end of East 5th St. Deadline to drop off the hay sample is 10 a.m. on Aug. 15.

• Horse and pony programs. The Equine Exhibits Tent will feature informative displays about various aspects of the horse industry in the state. Other exhibits and demonstrations will showcase Penn State's Quarter Horses and equine teaching programs. Included are a handling and training clinic, breed clinics, and other demonstrations.

• Family programs. Adults and children can build a bug, compete in a science-based game show, listen to tales of a storyteller, and takes a hands-on journey into agriculture's rich historical past.

• Landscapes, lawns, and gardens. The College of Agricultural Sciences Exhibits Building, on West 11th St., will feature displays of interest to homeowners, landscape contractors, and grounds maintenance professionals. Topics will range from computer-assisted landscape design to the selection and care of ornamental plants and turfgrass

Last year, between 40,000-50,000 people visited Ag Progress, according to Oberheim. A large number of visitors — about 60 percent — are farmers or those involved in agri-industry, according to Oberheim. "It's safe to say that about a third of the audience that attends Ag Progress is not directly ag related," he said.

Since becoming manager of the annual event in 1991, Oberheim said he has seen a lot more diversification, including composting, tractor safety demonstrations, and "new and challenging field demonstrations," said Oberheim. Also, enhanced family programs have highlighted the event.

In the future, the event manager said he hopes to see additional emphasis on the "small-scale" producers, those with 5-10 acre "farmettes" who are making a living with exotic livestock or vegetables.

Also, in years to come, those involved in the vegetable and fruit industry will be represented more, including greenhouse and supply vendors, fertilization and irrigation companies, and others.

More detail about Ag Progress is included throughout this issue of Lancaster Farming.

seed, especially specialized vegetable seeds, more accurate planting and specific population allows the farmer to use less seed, therefore saving seed cost. Visitors to Ag Progress Days will be able to compare the plots for uniformity and spacing.

"We opened up this demonstration to any company that has a precision planter," Oberheim said. "Three companies responded."

The only six-row planter, a John Deere 7200 was supplied by by Dunkle and Greif of Center Hall. Salesman Jim Smith said the vacuum metered corn planter was set to plant 110,000 seeds per acre at a moisture depth of two inches. The edible greenbeans were planted in 30" rows with seeds spaced two inches apart.

Jim Done, field representative for AG-CO, brought a 4-row White 610 (6100 series) from Birchfield Ag of Martinsburg. Describing it as a single ridged frame planter, Done said this planter was set to two inches of water column to plant these snap beans. Three plots were planted with 16 rows per plot. Done says the advantage of using this pressurized, positive air planter is that it doesn't remove seed inoculant during planting process.

Binkley and Hurst of Lititz supplied a Monosem precision vacuum planter. Salesman Eugene Hoover said they set the planter for 14 beans per foot at one and one-fourth inches deep. According to Hoover, the patented meter boxes can be used for any type of seed including vegetables such as lettuce.

All of the planters demonstrated are adaptable to both conventional field crops and specialized seeds which may lack size uniformity.

Oberheim plans to complete the demonstration cycle next week with harvesting demonstrations scheduled for 12:15 p.m. each day of Ag Progress Days.

Pa.DHIA To Hold Records Workshops

The ability for technicians and other agri-business personnel to understand and interpret DHIA records is very vital to the dairy industry.

As the dairy industry continues to turn up the treadmill of progress, Pa. DHIA is preparing its technicians with the proper tools to interpret dairymen's records more thoroughly.

The advent of the new nutrition program on the revised Herd Summary I, and the basic understanding of the record analysis of Pa. DHIA reports allows us the opportunity to better educate the technicians and other agri-business personnel.

There is a tremendous need for people such as nutritionists, vets, artificial inseminators and other professional agri-business people to receive sufficient updating concerning the records that are available through Pa. DHIA.

To give our technicians and other professional agriculture personnel the opportunity to receive more education on Pa. DHIA records, several workshops will be held throughout the state.

Our main goal for the workshops is to attract small group settings, which enhance more interaction between the members of the group.

The agenda for the workshops will include covering the revised Herd Summary I, which includes the format of the new nutrition program. The Reproductive Report will be covered concerning what information is available on the report and how it can best be used.

Discussion will also be initiated on how same-day test Westfalia Dairy Plan reports can be utilized. Somatic Cell Count will be discussed along with the benefits of good management involved with proper use of the Somatic Cell Count Report.

Currently, plans are being made to schedule these- mini workshops. Each workshop is estimated to last about 2½ hours. All agri-business personnel who are interested in being involved with such a workshop are urged to contact the Pa. DHIA region manager who represents their area.

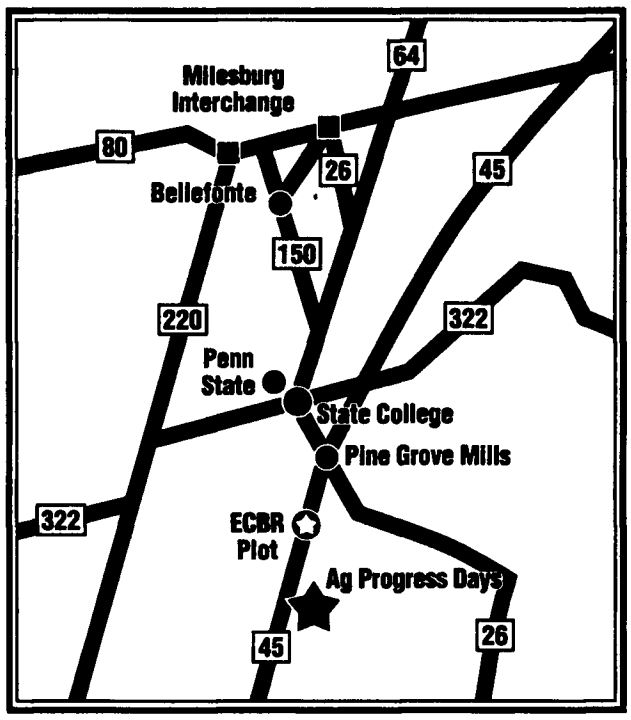
Introducing Maximizer™ Hybrids from Ciba Seeds™

See the First EPA Approved Corn Borer Resistant Hybrids at Ag Progress Days

On Wednesday, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) granted Ciba Seeds the first ever registration for the commercial marketing, sale and use of hybrids genetically engineered for protection against European Corn Borer. The product will be available as Ciba Seeds' Maximizer™ hybrid corn and will be identified as having KnockOut™ built-in corn borer control.

According to Fred Lepley, executive vice president at Hoffman Seeds, "European Corn Borer annually costs U.S. corn producers nearly $1 billion in yield losses. This year has been particularly tough on Eastern corn growers.



Ag Progress Days will be held August 15th, 16th, & 17th at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center, nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45.

"Maximizer hybrids increased yields 14.3 Bu/A in 1994 field trials compared to non-ECBR hybrids when exposed to these pests."

A test plot featuring the new hybrids can be seen at Ag Progess Days (see map for location). More information can be obtained at Hoffman Seeds' booth.

Introductory quantities of Maximizer hybrids will be available from Hoffman Seeds for the 1996 growing season. Hoffman is an associate producer of Ciba Seeds and also sells and distributes Funk's G® brand hybrids.

Future Cooperative Leaders Meet

ALTOONA (Blair Co.) — Cooperative education, leadership development and young adult fellowship were the benefits for the 40 young cooperative members that participated in the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives (PCC) Young Leader Conference at the Ramada Hotel in Altoona, last month.

Highlighting the 3-day conference was a keynote presentation by nationally known speaker, Dr. Bernie Erven of the Ohio State University. Dr. Erven addressed the importance of effective communication and listening skills in both business and family relationships. He was sponsored by Nationwide Insurance.

In addition to Erven's presentation, attendees also participated in workshops targeting cooperative basics; media communications; and farm management and evaluation. Participants also felt privileged to hear dinner presentation speaker Mr. William Perry with Milk Marketing, Inc.

The young cooperative members also participated in round table discussions with cooperative leaders and demonstrated cooperative principles through skits produced and performed by the participants.

Region leaders that assisted with the 1995 conference included conference chair couple, Michael and Dorrie Blue, Shenandoah Junction, WV; Bradley and Sandra Hershey, Southeast Region; Bob and Jennifer Baughman, Western Region; and Mark and Lois Yoder, South Central Region.

Conference participants and their cooperative sponsors are as follows. From the Southeast region of the state, those attending were: Joe and Yvonne Garber from Lancaster, sponsored by Atlantic Breeders Cooperative; J. Richard and Miriam G. Brenneman of Quarryville, sponsored by Keystone Farm Credit; John and Teresa Hocking of Landenberg, sponsored by Keystone Farm Credit; Dave and Tracy Horning of Honey Brook, sponsored by the Southeast Region Board.

From the Western region those that attended included: Alan and Nancy Muir from Armagh, sponsored by Atlantic Breeders Cooperative; Todd Allio of Rionesta, sponsored by Milk Marketing, Inc.; Gary and Darlene Youngs of North East, sponsored by National Grape; John and Judy Ligo from Grove City, sponsored by Penn-West Farm Credit; and Michael and Debbie O'Brien of Amity, sponsored by Agway.

In attendance representing the South Central region of the state were: Brian and Alice Musser from Newburg, sponsored by Agway; Joe and Heather Hollenshead of Needmore, sponsored by Atlantic Breeders; Glenn M. and Kathy Jo Pugh of Shippensburg, sponsored by Atlantic Dairy; David and Terella Rice of Williamsburg, sponsored by PA DHIA; Melvin and Barbara Marks of Airville, sponsored by Maryland & Virginia Milk Producers; Dean and Becky Innerst of Red Lion, sponsored by York Farm Credit; and Joyce Ringler of Berlin, sponsored by Pro-Fac.

Recognizing and developing leadership skills is one of the purposes of the conference. A special opportunity is offered to four participating couples to return as part of a leadership team that plans the conference for the following year. Those selected as Region Leaders for the 1996 conference were: Joe and Yvonne Garber representing the Southeast region; Gary and Darlene Youngs representing the Western region; representing the Northern region will be Steve and Sue Neff; and Glenn M. and Kathy Jo Pugh representing the South Central region. Bob and Jennifer Baughman were selected to serve as the 1996 conference chair couple.

Crystal Smithmyer, Executive Director of PCC says, "We are consistently encouraged by the quality and enthusiasm of our young farmer participants. These producers are committed to their families and their fram and are eager to invest time and energy into creating a secure and productive operation."

PCC is a statewide association of cooperative businesses owned and controlled by farmers and rural Pennsylvanians. Its membership includes major marketing and farm supply cooperatives, the Farm Credit Associations of Pennsylvania as well as rural electric cooperatives. Organized in 1933, PCC is the voice for agricultural and rural cooperatives operating in Pennsylvania. For more information contact the PCC office, Cricket Field Plaza, Building 2, Suite 104, 600 Chestnut Avenue, Altoona, PA 16601.

Berks Youth Receives Holstein Chain Calf

OLEY (Berks Co.) — Andrew E. Youse, the 13-year-old son of Paul and Linda Youse of Oley, has been selected by a team of judges to receive the 1995 Berks Co. Holstein Club Chain Calf. As the club's third recipient, Andy was presented with Keb-Bek Mascot Alissa born November 23, 1994. To be eligible for the contest, a youngster must be a member of a county 4-H club or FFA chapter. Andy is a member of both, but is using his prize as an FFA project animal. Alissa has already found a favorite spot in Andy's herd when she placed first in the Senior Calf Class at the Southeast PA District FFA Dairy Show held last month. He is looking forward to showing her more this season and most of all to developing her into a dairy cow. When she has her first heifer calf, Andy will pass her on to another deserving 4-H or FFA member through the club's contest.

Andy Youse with his 1995 Berks Co. Holstein chain calf, Keb-Bek Mascot Alissa.

Andy spends many hours helping on the farm at home and also participates in a variety of activities at school, grange and church. Over the last several years that he was involved in project work, his animals have not always developed as he hoped, therefore he entered the contest to gain some genetic improvement for his herd. With the start he and Alissa seem to have, he's sure to be on the right path.

The Berks County Holstein Club will be conducting its next contest at the beginning of the new year. This time they will be presenting the first heifer calf born from the first chain calf given out in 1993 to Erica Davis. Berks County youngsters should watch for details on how they might be able to win this fine project animal.

Dean Hood To Step Down In '96

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Citing the need for new leadership to take the College to the next level of achievement, Dean Lamartine F. hood has announced plans to leave his position in early 1996. As he finishes nearly 10 years in his leadership role, he will take a leave and then return to the University to assume new responsibilities.

In his announcement to the faculty, staff, and students of the College, Dean Hood commented on the accomplishments made together over the last decade — a 60% increase in undergraduate enrollment since 1988; the fostering of excellence and diversity among faculty and staff; the marked enhancement of facilities; and the significant growth in funding for education and research programs during the late 1980s. However, he also noted the lack of any increase in state funding during the 1990s that led to the major downsizing of the College — a loss of 123 faculty and staff positions over the past five years.

"I predicted that the '90s would be remembered as a decade of transition," he noted, and "although we are scarcely halfway through the decade, it is increasingly apparent that our programs and organization must continue to evolve if we are to remain relevant and responsible to our multiple stakeholders. This will require a commitment from all of us to put the organizational good ahead of personal benefit."

Penn State President Joab Thomas said Dean Hood brought vision and commitment to the university. "In a time of decreasing resources from both state and federal government for agricultural research and extension, Dean Hood succeeded in improving the college's academic quality, adding new facilities and enhancing its stature in and service to the Commonwealth," he said.

The University will launch a national search for the Dean's successor, establishing a search committee within the next several weeks. Meanwhile, Dean Hood will actively continue his leadership of the College over the next several months.

Susquehanna District Show Picks Walnut-Hills Astro Brigette

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

CENTRE HALL (Centre Co.) — A refreshing breeze was a welcomed added entry to the day as FFA and 4-H dairy animals gathered at the Grange Fairgrounds facilities for the Susquehanna District 4-H/FFA Dairy Show recently.

The breeze made sweltering temperatures more tolerable for those judging, watching, and showing as judges circled the ring, eyeing animals in five separate breed shows.

By 3:30 in the afternoon, type judge Creedin Comman of Cumberland County had picked champions in each breed and then selected the supreme champion of the show. The retired dairy farmer chose Dianne Glock's aged cow for that honor. The Juniata County 4-H'er also won best bred and owned honors with that same Holstein cow, Walnut-Hills Astro Brigette. Reserve supreme champion went to a Jersey Calf owned by Stephanie Lynn Donough, also of Juniata County.

Milking Shorthorn entered the ring first. Melissa Wolfe of Lycoming County took all champion honors. Her junior 2-year-old won grand champion honors while her spring calf earned reserve grand champion and junior champion. Reserve junior champion went to Wolfe's Spring Yearling.

The grand champion Jersey was a junior 2-year-old shown by Jennifer Kellerman of Centre County. Reserve grand champion went to Seth Derr of Lycoming County and his junior 3-year-old. The junior champion Jersey was also the show's best bred and owned animal, a fall calf shown by Stephanie Donough of Juniata County. Reserve junior champion and reserve best bred and owned went to Jennifer Kellerman's spring calf.

Lycoming County took most champion honors in the Ayrshire show. Roberta Fogleman's aged cow won grand champion honors while reserve grand champion and junior champion honors went to Charles Liner of Centre County. Reserve senior champion honors were earned by RaeAnn Fogleman of Muncy. Charles Liner's fall calf won reserve junior champion honors for him. Best bred and owned went to RaeAnn Fogleman and her senior 2-year-old.

Blue ribbon winners qualify for state competition to be held Monday, Sept. 25, at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

Sue Beshore of Cumberland County served as showmanship judge and Dr. Patricia Kitchen of Montour County awarded fitting honors.

SUSQUEHANNA DISTRICT

relations for Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, served as moderator of the program.

The first morning speakers formed a panel. They included Jim Sumner, president of the USA Poultry and Egg Export Council, a nonprofit promotion organization that works as a cooperator with the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA); Peter Witmer, chief of the Domestic and International Trade division of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture Bureau of Market Development; and Michael Moran, executive director of the New Independent States (NIS) Programs of the Former Soviet Union for Agricultural Cooperative Development International (ACDI), a private nonprofit organization that provides international development expertise and technical assistance in areas such as agribusiness and trade development, banking and credit systems.

Louis Moore, well-known Penn State University professor and extension coordinator of agricultural economics and rural sociology, served as moderator for the panel.

The three outlined a characterization of the current export market within the United States.

According to the panel, for the most part, the dairy industry in the United States has developed many of its own export markets, limited as they are. All three cited attitude problems within the industry that treat exports as only a way to get rid of unwanted surplus.

The speakers said that in order to be successful in developing an export market, research and development of possibly new lines and forms of product have to be undertaken.

The bottom line according to the speakers is that the world export market must be viewed as a market that requires a committed effort for production, not a dump for surplus.

They cited the success of New Zealand in exporting a large amount of its production. However, it was noted that while New Zealand (because of its low input dairying) enjoys the lowest production costs, the country produces about the same amount as California, and it treats exports as a steady, full-time market.

Export infrastructure was also discussed, and the lack of it. In Pennsylvania, there are two deep water ports within easy access to major dairy production centers and highways providing access to other export ports.

There are some facilities producing some traditional milk-derived products, such as milk powder and butter, that can be exported, if markets exist.

However, the infrastructure for meeting buyers or potential buyers in other parts of the world is not strong and far from complete.

The industry needs to devote more attention and energy to creating and filling foreign markets for dairy products, and it shouldn't wait for the U.S. government to do it.

Advice was given that cultural differences in expressing respect and in conducting business must be learned and respected in order to develop long-standing relationships.

Developing and maintaining relationships is key to opening many direct export markets, they said.

From the perspective of providing a foreign market with a raw or finished product, educating the intended consumer about how the product is consumed and what are its uses and benefits is key to developing markets.

At the same time, some well-established branded products don't need much explanation, though developing those markets may require much more commitment to developing personal business relationships.

Other considerations are the ability of the intended consumer to pay for the products and transportation costs, which were reported to be comparatively relatively high in the U.S.

Following the panel discussion, Frederick Bowman, Latin American general manager for Sire Power Inc., Bob Dever, secretary and CEO of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, and Brenda Briggs, director the Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Program, each gave short presentations about their respective work and approach to exporting.

Bowman prefaced his remarks saying that he was more comfortable speaking in Spanish than in English, though he was born a Pa. Dutchman in Berks County. He said he moved to Venezuala when he was 3 years old, implying that he learned Spanish as a first language. He has a doctorate in veterinary medicine earned in 1978 from the Universidad Central Del Ecuador-Quito, in Ecuador. He currently lives in Long Branch, N.J., but frequently works in the field in Latin America.

He said that when he started with Sire Power Inc., he had never sold anything, and he wasn't comfortable with being a salesman.

In effect, he said he has never become one, though he has helped establish growing sales in a region where basic dairying methods don't necessarily support the use of artificial insemination, or the use of improved genetics for high production.

He said that in many places people are milking by hand and if they breed using high production genetics and go from milking by hand a cow that produces 15 pounds of milk per day to one producing 60 pounds per day, it becomes too much work. He said some people have had to use two people to hand milk each cow.

He said what he has done is to concentrate on teaching people how to use artificial insemination.

He said he has a number of distributors for semen located throughout the region and that each one serves as a liason with the local potential consumers.

Through the distributors, he said he will go into the field on the farm and provide instruction to the farmer on how and what to do with artificial insemination.

Dever presented an outline of the cooperative and its mission, and said that exporting is an important, but small portion of the cooperative's business. The federal Dairy Export Incentive Program (DEIP) has made all the cooperative's exporting possible.

Briggs talked about exporting apples to Central and South America and how it has been all possible through export programs and the formation of an export council by all apple-producing states, except Washington, which conducts its own exporting program.

The afternoon program was dedicated to public policy, where the educator fits in, and what role that public figure should take in helping to form public policy.

Speaking first was Philip Favero, an associate professor and extension specialist with the University of Maryland, with interests in state and local government policy analysis.

Favero described three different philosophical approaches to dealing with public policy.

Basically he said there are three different outlooks to developing public policy which goes back to the 1930s, when Americans began getting better and more science-based educations. He said that people began adopting science more widely and approached public policy as following facts and ignore values.

Later on, people began disputing the facts-only approach and have been approaching policy from the basis of considering facts and values.

And after listening to the debate, a third group's approach has arisen and its approach to policy is to question the validity of science, and render its own opinion.

Favero advised that public educators have no business be policy advocates and should not support one side over another in public debate, but should serve as moderator, facilitator and information provider, but not as crusader.

In his presentation, Herbert Cole, professor of agricultural sciences in the Penn State Department of Plant Pathology, argued that public educators can and should be advocates for certain policies, such as preserving agriculture.

His argument is that agriculture is the foundation of all modern man's cultures and activities. It is what allows the billions of humans to live, and to do so in relative peace and prosperity.

He said that there are issues in which there are clear alternatives to do right or wrong, and when those issue become before the public forum, those with solid information about why something is right to do should come forward research station.

Research provided by Dean Kohler, intern at Reading Bone Agway, examined how shorter planting depths affected corn height.

Also, research examined corn row widths. A "pinwheel" demonstration of various row widths, including 15-, 30-, 36-, and 40-inch rows, was provided. Rows were hand-seeded with Agway 792 at 1½ -inch depth on May 8.

According to Mark Chegwidden, Agway intern, at the wider rows, stalk and cob sizes increase. At the narrower rows, while the cob and stalk sizes decrease, there are more plants per space which may result in greater yield.

Seventeen different research plots examined forage varieties and quality, the global positioning system and precision farming, seed depth and spacing, a weed screen, Roundup Ready and STS soybeans, post- and pre-emergent herbicies on soybeans, corn and corn herbicide varieties, sorghum varieties, and soybean varieties and inoculant. Also, Messicks provided farm equipment demonstrations.

and be strong in declaring their position and provide the justification and reasoning and supporting facts.

The final speaker was G. Terry Madonna, director of the Center for Politics and Public Affairs, a political science professor and a pollster at Millersville University. In central Pennsylvania news media, he is frequently cited as a source of information concerning national, state and local politics.

He addressed how public policy is formed, how it is measured and what are its influences.

His opening statement probably best summed the development of public policy. In joking with a member of the audience, he said that, as a member of the audience, it's best not to try to outdo the speaker. The speaker has the control.

"He who controls the microphone has the last say," he said.

Ag Department Names Regional Directors

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—On behalf of Gov. Tom Ridge, Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius announced the appointment of two regional directors for the Pennsylvania Agriculture Department.

"I'm pleased these individuals have agreed to serve as advocates for agriculture," Brosius said. "They will join a team that works to safeguard Pennsylvania's abundant food supply for 12 million Pennsylvanians and meet the Governor's goal of promoting agriculture's profitability and stature."

Appointed were:

•R. Edwin Nchrig, a dairy, crop, and livestock farmer from Indiana County and member of several state and local agricultural associations.

•Kenneth R. Mowry, a dairy farmer from Blair County and member of many agricultural and community associations.

Nehrig has been a dairy farmer for 32 years and owns a 1000-acre farm in partnership with his son, David. He began directing the Region 4 office in Gibsonia on July 17, coordinating the department's services in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Nehrig was graduated from Laura Lamar High School in Homer City, attended The Pennsylvania State University, and completed the Kellogg Rural Leadership Program. He is a member of the Indiana County Fair Board, the Indiana County Planning Commission, and the Indiana County Farmers' Association.

Nehrig was named Indiana County's Outstanding Conservation Farmer in 1994 and was presented the Outstanding Service Award by the Indiana County Farmers' Association in 1991.

Mowry has operated a 1,100-acre, 350-cow dairy farm since 1945. He started directing the Region 5 office in Altoona on July 3, coordinating the department's services in southwest central Pennsylvania.

Mowry has been involved in a number of agricultural activities, including the Bloomfield Township Farmland Preservation Committee, the Executive Board of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, and the Pennsylvania Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission.

Mowry is affiliated with the Southern Cove Lions Clube, Martinsburg Grace Brethren Church, and Morrison's Cove Memorial Park.

Lebanon Pond Meeting Set

NORTH CORNWALL (Lancaster Co.) — The Lebanon County Farm State Extension Office is offering a pond meeting at Stover's Dam on Wednesday, August 23, at 6:30 p.m.

This meeting will help you learn to identify common aquatic weeds and provide strategies and techniques for controlling them.

We will discuss physical and biological methods of weed control, including the use of triploid grass carp in Pennsylvania ponds. We will talk about selecting a suitable aquatic herbicide, pesticide safety, and the permit application form.

Other topics will include pond arithmetic and application techniques, how to determine area and volume of your pond, and how to calibrate your equipment.

There will also be a short discussion about the care of the pond embankment, principal spillway, and emergency spillway.

Please bring problem weeds from your pond for identification.

There will be a #2 charge to defray expenses. This is paybale on site; however, we would appreciate a call by Monday, August 14, telling us that you are coming so that we may have adequate materials on hand. Call the Penn State Lebanon County Extension Office at (717) 270-4391.

The Pennsylvania State University is committed to the policy that all persons shall have equal access to programs, facilities, admission, and employment without regard to personal characteristics not related to ability, performance, or qualifications as determined by University policy or by state or federal authorities. final judge for the contest.

The Lentz's operation, Dream-On Holsteins has an interesting history in the course of being transferred from Elmer and Verda Gibbel in 1922 to being owned and operated by grandchildren Gary and Barbara.

Currently the couple has been successful with their operation and has been doing a lot of merchandising. They have sold 17 bulls into domestic aritificial insemination in the last five years. Additionally they have sold one to Japan and another to Australia. All of those bulls' dams carried the Dream-On prefix.

The current 83-head milking string has a rolling herd average of 24,017 pounds milk, 871 pounds fat, and 777 pounds protein.

They've had the progressive genetics herd award for five years, and the progressive breeders registry for three years.

The queen of the herd is Dream-On Mark Hazel, a 2E-90 dam of merit that had a 365-day lactation started at 5 years old of 38,020 pounds milk, 1,540 pounds fat, and 1,260 pounds protein. She has nine daughters milking in the herd and a Leadman son just released for testing by Sire Power.

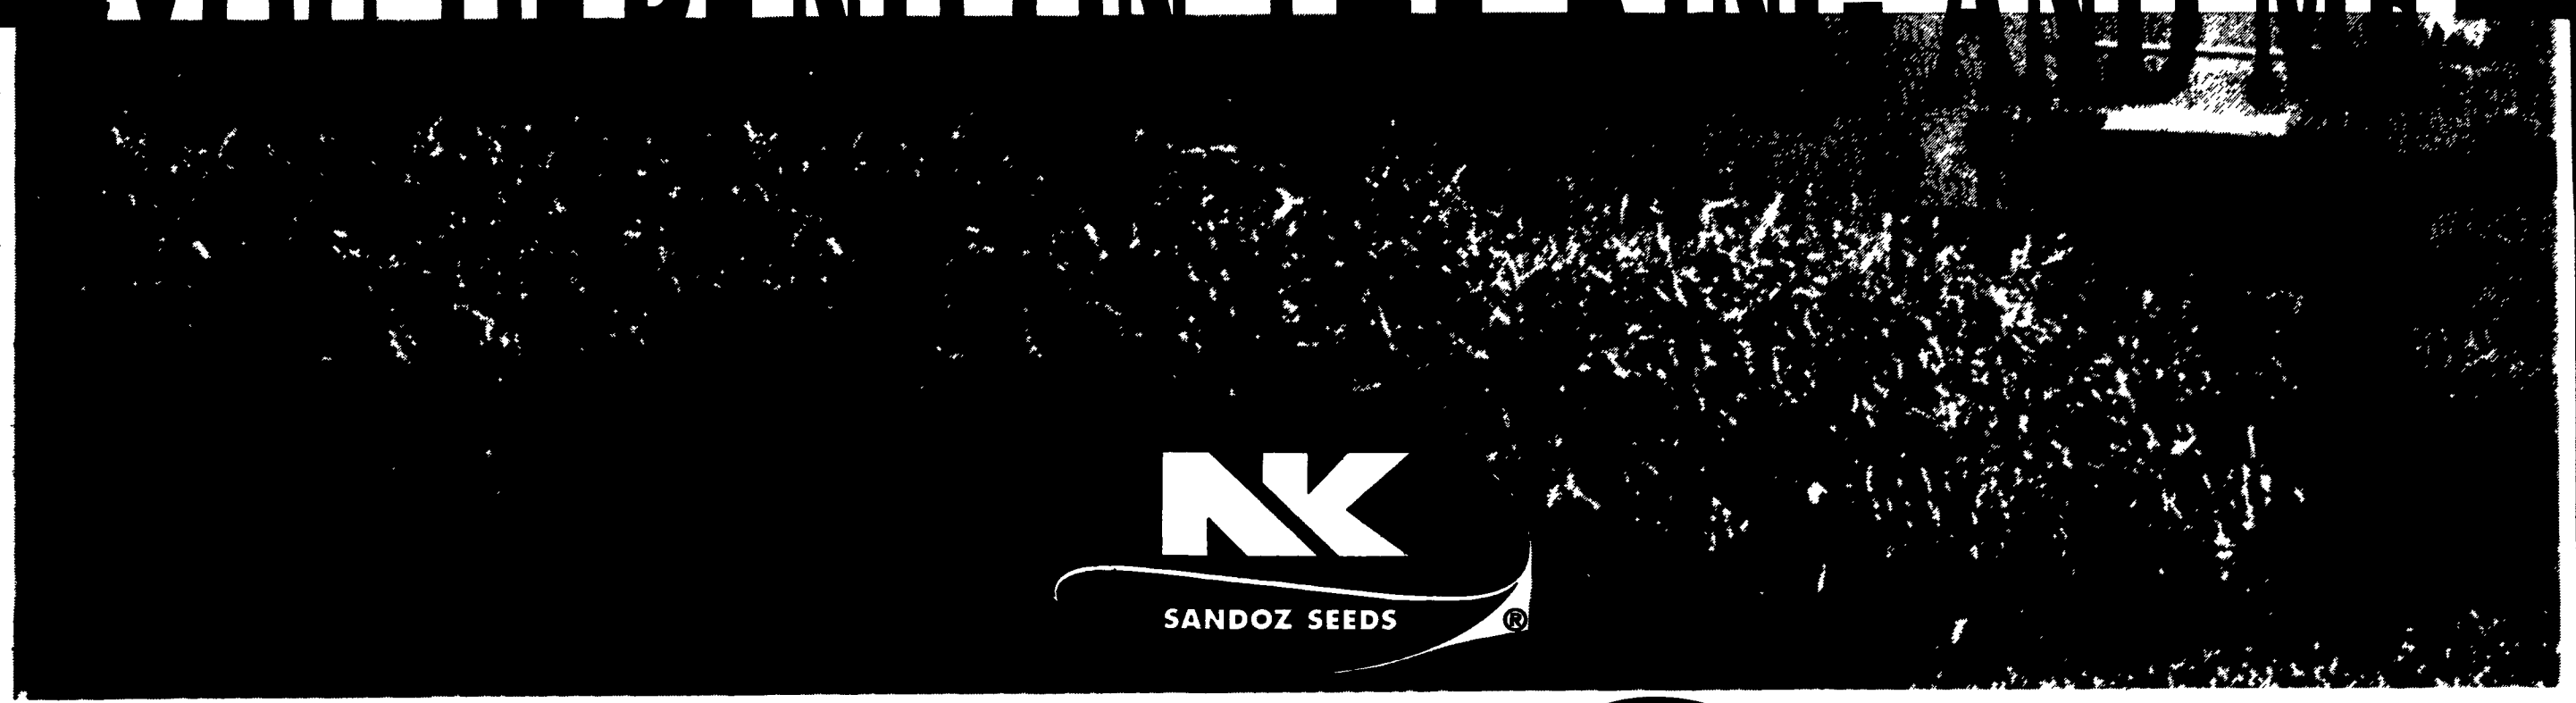
YOU DEPEND ON THE KING AND ME



See The King Pins!...

N4640 (X4263) RM: 101-105
An exceptional hybrid for early corn, silage or early harvest, N4640 offers extremely high yields of dry grain. Superior stalk strength and excellent ear retention permit field drying. Ideal for upper tier counties of Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Adapts to a wide range of plant densities. Responds well to higher populations. White N5220 and N5866 may show faster early growth in abnormally, cold, wet conditions, N4640 displays excellent yield standability.

N6822 RM:110-114
A 1994 NCGA champion in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, this outstanding hybrid also offers top performance across central Indiana and Ohio. Very good staygreen helps N6822 maintain exceptional yield potential under continuous corn or standard rotations. Very good standability and drought tolerance also support yields. Performs well on medium to fine textured soils at moderate to high plant densities. Semi-flex ears produce good quality, heavy test weight grain with good shellability.

N7448 RM: 112-116
Excellent standability, superior staygreen and a good foliar disease package helps this newer hybrid deliver maximum yields in stress environments. A long grain-fill period also contributes to high yield potential. Heavy test weight grain dries down exceptionally fast. N7448 is a good hybrid for both no-till systems and continuous corn in mid-Atlantic states and southern Ohio. Performs best at moderate plant populations.

N7590 (X7782) RM: 112-116
Exceptionally high yield potential could make this new hybrid your top producer. With excellent early growth, N7590 becomes a strong choice for no-till fields. It flowers and sets up grain slightly later than PX9540 and S7751, although grain moisture at harvest is similar. N7590 responds well to higher plant densities. Superior stress tolerance helps you maintain yields. Short shanks that hold ears close to the stalk can surprise even the best yield estimators.

In the last few months, we have been visited by most of our grandchildren. They range in age from a few months to several years. Some of the older ones have summer jobs or are involved in athletic camps.

The elementary school-age boys eat with us and sleep with us but they like the farm best for their waking hours. I have to get up early or they will dash off to the farm before eating breakfast. They love the animals there and play with the dogs, cats, calves, and baby pigs. Of course, the two boys on the farm are an attraction too. There is a very long farm lane where they can ride the bicycle.

Sometimes the parents stay here with us and other times they simply drop off the children and go to meetings. Some children are so very inquisitive and get into everything — drawers must be opened, screws unscrewed and delicate objects picked up and hopefully not dropped. The Teddy bears get moved from room to room as do the dolls. I never know where I'll find my stuffed cow.

Our black kitten disappeared about two weeks before the mother cat had another litter. Might she have led it astray? It seems this happened before. For several years I've had two goldfish but now only one big one as I found the little one on the bottom of the bowl this morning and buried it in the flower bed. Some fish have lived for years and years. It seems that one cannot tell from day to day what will happen next to us or to them.

Beef Industry Partners With Wendy's

CHICAGO, Ill. — Beef producers are joining forces with one of the country's largest quick-service restaurant chains to help move more beef this summer. Through their beef checkoff program, producers are working with Wendy's beginning in August to promote the chain's new Smoky Bacon Cheeseburger in 3,800 restaurants nationwide.

The beef industry will help supplement the chain's promotion, which includes extensive broadcast/print advertisements and the production of in-store point-of-purchase materials, including ceiling banners and drive-up window signs that show three different burger "combos." The materials, which will encourage patrons to purchase the beef value meals, will remain in Wendy's restaurants throughout the year. The checkoff logo will appear on all industry-supported materials.

Larry Oltjen, a beef producer from Robinson, Kan., and chairman of the BIC foodservice subcommittee, said the promotion is an important element in the industry's summer campaign because it helps move more beef at the point of sale. "People who see our materials will be more likely to purchase beef," Oltjen said. "An added benefit is the opportunity to strengthen partnerships within the foodservice industry and get that beef marketing channel excited about our product."

Spotlessly clean heifers and cows stand in wooden-stalled shelters, buried up to their bellies in deep piles of golden straw. In front of them are piles of leafy, green hay.

One old cow, a veteran at this scene, yanks a mighty mouthful of the lush dry forage, then tosses her head to scatter bits of the hay across her shining, sleekly-groomed back. Then, with a sigh, she settles her shining flanks onto the thick, fluffy bed of straw, landing one leg right smack in a small, fresh, pile of manure somehow missed on the last trip through with the fork.

Meanwhile, at the nearby washrack, a leggy, beautifully-muscled steer bellows a loud protest at his owner's plentiful use of livestock soap and a pressure hose. When the hose hits his face, carefully aimed away from his ears, the steer grimaces with the look of grubby little kid whose mom has cornered him with a washrag.

And, in still other barns, thick-fleeced sheep stand patiently on trimming tables, while owners fit and shape their curly coats. Over the scene echoes the loud squeal of a pig, squeaky clean from a scrubbing. Having escaped from the bath, the pig has found a bag of feed and despite his owner's best efforts to corral him, is gobbling up chop like...well, like a hog.

All over the state, all over the country, similar scenes are taking place. As summer begins to wane and harvest season looms ahead, local and regional livestock shows and fair take center stage in rural communities.

Fairs and shows have always been a proud rural tradition, a chance to showcase agriculture's best in the locale. Friendly competition and visiting with neighbors and fellow exhibitors is the people-side of shows and fairs that make them so much fun. And, if a little prize money is won to boot, to help defray the costs of hauling and being away, that's a bonus. For many of us, it was never profitable—just a fun hobby.

Shows offer one of the greatest learning avenues for kids that are involved. They're fun vacations: you get to spray each other with wash hoses, eat fair junk food, and sleep in your dirty clothes on a pile of hay. Where else would Mom let you get away with that?

Meanwhile, kids learn to finish a job, take responsibility for themselves and their animals, practice sportsmanship and develop physical and "people" skills that will stay with them for a lifetime. And millions of college educations and the start-ups of businesses have been partially financed with winnings from livestock showing.

But, over the years, many of us adults involved with shows have grown concerned over the heavy emphasis on winning that sometimes prevails. Too often, that emphasis is underlined by over-zealous, parental involvement.

A great, great majority of parents of youth exhibitors are supportive, encouraging, enthusiastic, helpful and maintain their good humor through the show season. There are, unfortunately, a tiny fraction of parents who want to see their kids win—almost at any cost.

The zeal to win—at whatever cost—was underlined at a midwest livestock show a year or two ago, when tampering with animals caused some youth exhibitors to forfeit many thousands of dollars in championship winnings. One wonders—were their parents looking the other way? Or helping?

We've stood on both the top and the bottom of cattle classes. The top's more fun. But not if you have to cheat to get there.

What's your kid-learning in the showing this year?

Colorful Bloom Of Summer Annuals

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — The place to be to find beautiful summer annuals and shrubs is Hershey Gardens. While the large collection of roses are still in their bloom cycles, they step aside and let the annuals take center stage. Throughout the month of August, the gardens will be featuring these colorful annuals which include salvia, marigolds, cleome, four o'clocks, celosia, ornamental peppers, nicotiana, petunias, dahlias, heliotropes, fountain grass, lisianthus, begonias, caladiums, geraniums, vinca, cannas, zinnias, melampodium and impatiens.

The Hershey Gardens was developed when Milton S. Hershey instructed his director of horticulture to "create a nice bed of roses." That original 3½ plot of roses has developed into 23 acres of seasonal flowering displays, collections of specimen trees and shrubs, themed garden areas, and of course, our award-winning rose collection.

The gardens are open daily through October 31, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Admission rates are $4.25 adults (ages 16-61); $3.75 seniors (62 and up); $2 youth (3-15). Family and group rates are available. For further information, please call (717) 534-3492.

The wedding of David Rosenberry and Cindy Jo Barley combined their love for each other and farming. After the ceremony, the couple drove in the combine while the bridal party followed in the hay wagon covered with a white canopy. Shown with the bridal pair are Pamela Stetter, Gail Breneman, Susan Barley, Lugene Gochnauer, Brad Hershey, Kevin Ebersole, Mark Breneman, Thomas Barley, Robert Barley, Steven Gochnauer, ring bear Joshua Bitner, and flower girl Amelia Barley.

Wedding Combines Love For Each Other And Farming

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — For a groom who had disked a marriage proposal into soybean stubble and a bride who prefers farm work instead of bookkeeping, it came as no surprise that their wedding day intergrated marriage and farming.

A shock of wheat, symbolic of the union of Cindy Jo Barley and David Scott Rosenberry, was a theme oft-repeated from table centerpieces to candy favors.

The couple's first introduction happened in the wheat field when David was custom-combining the Barley's Star Rock Farm.

"I met 'Barley' in the wheat field," David is fond of describing that first meeting when Cindy was running the auger cart.

From the beginning, the couple's three-year courtship was highly intertwined with farming because dating was sandwiched in-between David's work as farm manager for James Garber & Sons, a 1,000-acre farming operation in Milton Grove, and Cindy's working with steers, pigs, and fieldwork on the Barley's 3,500-acre complex in Conestoga. If the couple wasn't helping each other with chores, their conversations were dominated with agricultural lingo. For David's birthday, Cindy sent him on a two-week custom combining crew out West.

In October, David flew Cindy Jo by helicopter over a field where she read his marriage proposal in the soil: Cindy Jo, will you marry me?

The couple wanted their wedding to reflect their love for each other and farming. They considered being married on the Barley farm with the bridal party wearing country-print dresses and bib overalls but discarded that idea. They decided that a traditional church wedding reflected their devotion to God and the church. Cindy works part-time as youth director for Crestwell Bethany E.C. Church.

Nonetheless the traditional attire had touches of the couples' agricultural ties.

The most eye-catching detail was the glistening combine, tractor and hay wagon used to transport the bridal couple, 12 attendants, ring bearer and flower girl to the reception.

Although Cindy begged to drive the combine, she deferred to David's chauffering the new John Deere model. The bridal attendants followed in a hay wagon pulled by a tractor. And two new truck pickups escorted the caravan.

The equipment sparked a lot of good-natured debates among agricultural-interested guests on the pros and cons of the "green" versus "red," which reportedly the Barleys favor.

For the wedding decor, a pickup truckload of wheat was harvested from the Barley fields and used in many innovative ways. Wheat blended in with the cascading rose and ivy bridal bouquets. Wheat sheaves were arranged in window and candle displays. The six bridesmaids carried small sheaves of wheat intertwined with flowers. Each guest was given a tiny muslim feedbag with wheat inside to throw instead of traditional rice or birdseed.

A pre-ceremony video flashed many scenes of the couple doing farm work.

The wedding meditation by Rev. David Hall correlated marriage with hybrid seed. "Two people from different families, backgrounds, and experiences come together with the hope that, together, they will be better than they were by themselves. A good hybrid seed is developed to take the strengths from two different strains, leaving the weaknesses behind," he said.

Hall emphasized that with the help of the Lord — the master technician of all hybridizations — and by maintaining good "soil" conditions in marriage, two people can yield to hybridization to become something new, something better than either would have been single.

At the reception, the table centerpieces were shocks of wheat tied with burgandy bows. The groom's mother made candy favors from chocolate peanut butter molded into a wheat shock for each guest.

After a wedding trip to the Bahamas, the couple will reside in Conestoga. The couple's dream is to own their own farm someday.

Cindy is the daughter of Rep. John Barley and his wife Jane. David is the son of John and Nancy Rosenberry.

The wheat theme was carried out in candy favors molded into wheat sheaves and in wheat grains thrown instead of rice or birdseed. The wheat grains were placed in the muslim bags stamped with the names of the bridal pair and tied with string.

A pickup truckload of wheat harvested from the Barley farm was used for bridal arrangements, table centerpieces, and even on the cake.

Jammin' Time

Making jams and jellies can be a great introduction to food preservation. You don't need a lot of expertise or fancy supplies and equipment to do it.

Only four basic ingredients are needed to prepare jam or jelly: fruit, sugar, acid (such as lemon juice) and pectin. Pectin is the ingredient that makes the jam or jelly set up or gel.

Although pectin is found naturally in fruits, some soft-spread recipes require using additional pectin.

If you are concerned about sugar intake, use a pectin specifically formulated for low or no sugar, but don't try to improvise yourself. If exact measurements are not used, many recipes will not jel.

THREE-FRUIT JAM

2 cups cut-up, peeled peaches
2 cups cut-up, peeled apples
2 cups cut-up, peeled pears
2 tablespoons lemon juice
6 cups sugar
1 package powdered fruit pectin
1 teaspoon butter
5 drops yellow food coloring

Combine fruits and lemon juice in a large saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until fruit is almost tender. Stir in sugar, pectin, butter, and food coloring.

Place over high heat. Bring to a rolling boil being careful not to scorch. Boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir and skim off foam with a metal spoon for 5 minutes (a must) to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Ladle into hot, sterilized glasses. Cover immediately with ¼-inch hot paraffin. Makes 6 cups.

Breezewood

CIDER JELLY

4 cups fresh apple cider
1 package Sure Jell
5 cups sugar

In 5 or 6 quart saucepan, mix cider and Sure-Jell, bring to a boil over high heat, stirring often.

Immediately stir in sugar, stirring constantly. Heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Boil one minute.

Remove from heat. Skim foam with metal spoon. Pour in jars and seal.

PEACH PRESERVES

1½ quarts peaches, diced
1 orange, diced and grated peel
Juice of 2 lemons
1 cup chopped maraschino cherries
6 cups sugar

Mix together all ingredients and cook until desired consistency. Pour into hot sterilized jars; seal. Makes about 3½ pints.

Sarah Clark
Breezewood

RED BEET JELLY

4 cups red beet juice
½ cup lemon juice
6-ounce box raspberry gelatin
1 box Sure-Jell
6 cups sugar

Cook juices, gelatin, and Sure-Jell for 3 minutes. Add sugar and boil 5 minutes longer. Place in containers and seal.

Sarah Clark
Breezewood

DANDELION BLOSSOM JELLY

1 quart dandelion blossoms
1 quart water
1 box Sure-Jell
1 teaspoon lemon juice
4½ cups sugar

Clean blossoms and boil in water for 3 minutes. Strain juice through cloth. Three cups juice will take 1 box Sure-Jell. Add lemon juice and sugar and boil 3 minutes. Stir constantly. Pour in jars and seal.

Glenna Shaner
Hughesville

PEACH PINEAPPLE-STRAWBERRY JELLY

1 20-ounce can crushed pineapples
5 cups finely crushed peaches
7 cups sugar

Boil together pineapples, peaches, and sugar. Add:

6-ounces strawberry Jell-O

Bring to a full-rolling boil. Put in jars or freeze.

Mabel Kurtz
Womelsdorf

TOMATO JELLY

5 cups sugar
5 cups tomato juice

Boil together sugar and juice for 5 to 7 minutes. Add:

1 large box strawberry Jell-O

Mercersburg

Great-tasting jams and jellies can be made at home so they're handy at mealtimes — or anytime.

APPLE CINNAMON JELLY

4 cups bottled apple juice
1 box pectin
4 cups sugar
¼ cup hot cinnamon candies

In large microwave bowl, stir pectin in juice until it is dissolved. Cover with plastic wrap. Cook 14 minutes, stir twice. Remove from microwave. Add sugar and candies, stir until sugar is dissolved. Cover and cook for 12 minutes. Skim if needed and put in jelly jars.

Glenna Shaner
Hughesville

DIABETIC GRAPE JELLY

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
3 cups unsweetened grape juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice, strained
2 tablespoons liquid sweetener

In a saucepan, soften gelatin in grape juice and add lemon juice. Bring to a boil, dissolving gelatin. Boil one minute. Remove from heat. Stir in liquid sweetener. Pour into sterilized jars to ¼-inch of top. Cover with paraffin on cap and screw tight. When cool, store in refrigerator. Yields: 4 half pints.

A wonderful cookbook has been dedicated in memory of Ginger Groff, a young mother who died from cancer last year. Ginger and her husband had served as 4-H leaders of the 4-H Woolies Club. She was an active participant of Elizabethtown Brethren In Christ Church and a super cook.

In addition to several of Ginger's recipes, hundreds of recipes from members of the Elizabethtown Brethren In Christ Church appear in the tab-indexed spiral-bound cookbook that has about 350 pages.

The cookbook is available for purchase from church members and will be sold at a booth set up at the upcoming Elizabethtown Fair on August 22-26.

To order by mail, send $15.25, which includes postage and handling, to Elizabethtown Brethren In Christ Church, 996 E. High St., Elizabethtown, PA 17022.

Here is a timely recipe, submitted by Shirl Bowers for the cookbook. To read more about the compilation of the cookbook and for more recipes, look for the feature story on page B 12.

SLICED SWEET PICKLES

4 quarts thinly sliced pickles
¼ cup salt (scant)
3 cups sugar
1½ cups water
2 cups vinegar
3 tablespoons pickling spice
1 teaspoon tumeric

Spread sliced pickles on trays. Sprinkle with salt in layers with ice cubes. Let stand 3 hours. Pour off water (no need to rinse the pickles). Bring sugar, water, vinegar, and spices to a boil. Add pickle slices and bring to a boil again. Put into pint jars and seal immediately. Delicious and easy to do.

Read and Consider Credit Applications Carefully

Several weeks ago, I attended a community fair in my town. Vendors and community agencies had booths set up selling products, raising funds, speaking out on issues, and advertising their companies. It was a classic community fair.

What wasn't so classic was a credit card marketing practice that I encountered there. I was horrified, once I slowed down enough to actually read and think about what was happening! My husband and I were hooked by a booth that displayed FREE insulated lunch bags and water bottles. According to the worker, all we had to do was fill out a little "survey." I bit. What the heck, we'd get a nice lunch bag for just a few minutes of time.

I was wrong. The form that we were asked to fill out wasn't a survey, it was a request for credit from a credit card company. As I read the questions and began to casually jot in the information, red flags began to pop up all over the place. They began by asking name and address. No big deal. I prepared myself for lots of mailings from banks that I would discard. Remember, I still wanted that free lunch bag.

From there the questions progressed to level of household income and Social Security number. The question that caused me to call a halt to the process and rip up the form was, "Applicant's mother's maiden name." I was, without thinking giving this person that I had never met before all the personal information he would need to access my current bank and credit accounts.

That scared me! I had no way of knowing if this person was legitimate. I also did not know who else would see this information. Personally, I thought the credit application asked for too much personal information. If I had signed it, I would have authorized a credit search of not only my records but also my husband's.

All for the price of a free lunch bag.

If you are asked multiple questions about your personal or financial identity, think carefully before supplying it. With the information on that form and a computer, an unethical person could have quickly robbed me. With that paper, he could access my credit card account numbers. With my mother's maiden name, he could have authorized the release of personal identification numbers (pin) or transferred cash from an account. From there, the damage could have escalated.

Granted the likelihood that the worst would have happened is small. Probably I would have walked home with a free lunch bag and in the months ahead I would have received hundreds of pieces of mail offering more credit than I need. But for me, the risk was too great!

As a consumer, take time to read things carefully. Be skeptical and think about the consequences of releasing personal information, particularly at one place and time. Financial accounts do have safeguards, but as technology advances, it is easier and easier for a person to quickly access information and money electronically. Sometimes the safeguards aren't enough. Don't make the job any easier by placing all the necessary information in the hands of an unauthorized person.

Being cautious may save you a lot of money and hassle. Then you can afford to buy yourself an insulated lunch bag.

Tomato Problems?

RUTGERS, N.J.—Tomatoes (along with sweet corn) are probably the premium product of home vegetable gardens. So, when something goes wrong gardeners want to know why...and what they can do about it.

A number of area gardeners have called to find out why the bottom end of their tomatoes have "rotted." Given the erratic rainfall we have had, I am sure most of the people are seeing blossom end rot, a problem in pepper and eggplant as well as tomato. A discolored sunken area appears at the blossom end of the fruit. Secondary rot may eventually set in. Causes and "cures" of blossom end rot are summed up by Extension specialists at Rutger's Cook College.

Blossom end rot is a fruit disorder, not a disease. It will not spread as a disease does, but the symptoms will continue to appear until the cause is relieved. The condition is directly related to soil moisture and the need of the plant for calcium. It is usually more of a problem if the plants have been growing rapidly and luxuriantly early in the season and are then subjected to prolonged dry weather when the fruits are in an early state of development.

When the plant is small, it needs less calcium and less water than when its fruits are increasing in size. If anything interferes with the ability of the roots to absorb enough water containing dissolved calcium symptoms may appear. Problems can occur if the soil gets too dry, or if it gets so saturated for a period of time that there is not enough oxygen for the roots to function. Cultivating too deep and too close to the plants can cut off some of the roots available to absorb water and calcium.

The only control for this disorder is to maintain a soil pH between 5.8 and 6.3 and keep the plants adequately watered in dry weather or properly drained in wet weather. Plants with fruits require about one inch of moisture each week. A rain gauge, sold at garden supply stores, can let you know if less than an inch fell during a week. You will know then how much you must add by watering.

By giving sufficient water to the plants, blossom end rot can be reduced or eliminated. Pick off any affected fruits because they do not recover and will only drain moisture and calcium needed by healthy fruit. It is safe to eat the undamaged parts of fruits with blossom end rot—merely cut away the blackened part.

Under certain conditions and on certain varieties the leaves may curl. The leaves may be cupped because of the upward rolling of the leaf edges or they may even be completely rolled up. The older leaves will be most severely affected. If tomato leaves are otherwise normal and the curl is happening on all plants or all plants of one variety, physiological leaf curl is probably the "problem." There is nothing to be done about it and, fortunately, it will not affect the crop.

When night temperatures are high—near 80 or above—tomatoes may not set fruit. Recent very hot weather may account for some loss of yield. As soon as temperatures moderate, fruit production will resume.

QUESTION — Esther Martin, Shippensburg, would like a recipe for angel biscuits.

QUESTION — Dotty Gainer, Holtwood, would like a recipe for cookies that were made years ago by the former Federal Bake Shop in Lancaster. She writes that the cookies were shaped like stars and other designs and melted in your mouth. She thinks a cookie press was used to make the shapes.

QUESTION — Georgia Harding, Smithsburg, Md., used to vacation regularly in Ocean City, N.J., in the early 1980s. Several bakeries in that area sold a delicious breakfast cake, called Butter Cake. She believes it originated somewhere between New York City and Philadelphia. None of the bakeries would reveal the recipe. The cake was relatively flat and the baked consistency was not that of a regular cake. It was very moist and had a buttery layer on the top. The cake is absolutely out this world, Georgia writes and she would love the recipe.

QUESTION — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.V., would like to know where she can purchase flaked hominy. She had requested this some months ago. Someone sent an answer but when Louise checked it out the Merchant's Grocery Co. Inc. wrote that they stopped selling it 25 years ago.

QUESTION — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.V., would like a recipe for breakfast bars similar to toaster streusel, pop tarts, Snackwell's cereal bars, and Snackwell's Devil's Food Cookies.

QUESTION — Mark Miller, Sugarcread, Ohio, would like sausage recipes.

QUESTION — Richard Haller, Mechanicsburg, would like an old Dutch recipe for "Clapboard" or Claboard" pie. His mother used to make it. If she were living, she would be 107 years old.

QUESTION — Julie Garber Smith, Millersville, would like recipes to use in a cast-iron cookie mold.

QUESTION — Katherine McCleary, Stewartstown, would like a good recipe for tomato paste.

QUESTION — A Paradise farm wife lover of B-section would like to know how to make bagel sandwiches like those sold in restaurants.

QUESTION — Linda Fields, New Oxford, would like a recipe to preserve eggplant so that it can be enjoyed all year. She also would like a book on home canning. Editor's Note: An excellent up-to-date home canning book is available from the Penn State Extension. Contact your local extension office to purchase a copy. The extension also has many free handouts on home canning directions.

QUESTION — Arlene Snyder, Manheim, would like a recipe using banana creme flavoring.

QUESTION — Judy P. Looney, New Castle, is looking for a cake recipe with a hot milk dressing served over it. It was one of her favorite foods made by her grandmother.

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like directions for making realistic gingerbread people that are used in crafts. Some are puffy and others are thick and flat. How is the dough made and colored and the features painted?

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like the recipe and directions for Slow-Ball Dip that appeared in Woman's Day on July 5, 1983, page 98. She recalls that it contained 3 cans chopped clams and cream cheese. It is baked in a round loaf of bread that has been scooped out.

QUESTION — Sarah Clark, Breezewood, would like a candy called Decadent, which she thinks is made in North or South Carolina. She'd also like a bread recipe called Arkansas Travelers Bread, and a cherry pie made with red Kool-Aid.

QUESTION — A Chambersburg lover of Section B would like details on using a smoker. Do you burn charcoal or wood? How do you keep the fire hot while adding wood? How do you keep ashes off the meat? How can you tell if it's hot enough?

QUESTION — Nancy Price, Jarrettsville, would like a recipe for fruit sauce such as they serve with ham at Horn and Horn Restaurant. She has tried other recipes but none is as good as Horn and Horn's.

QUESTION — Dick Taylor, Allentown, N.J., would like a recipe for hot pepper sauce using lime juice and carrots as opposed to the traditional method of using vinegar and tomatoes. He writes that lime juice enhances the pepper flavor more than vinegar.

QUESTION — Dee Crowder, Gettysburg, is looking for a recipe similar to Rotel or Chi-Chi's Tomato and Green Chilies.

QUESTION — Gina Hawbaker would like to know how to make a salad dressing similar to the house dressing at Atrim House Restaurant in Greencastle.

QUESTION — Sue Werner, Lebanon, would like a recipe for alfalfa jelly. She writes that her family tasted it at the Farm Show. Although she felt like she was eating grass, her son loved it.

QUESTION — Frank T. Cat of Millerstown, would like a recipe for English toffee cookies like those sold by Weis Markets. The cookies are great tasting and don't crumble for children.

ANSWER — Mark Miller, Sugarcreek, Ohio, wanted a recipe for krepples or scrapple. Thanks to a reader for sending a recipe.

Scrapple
Panhaas

2½ cups boiling water
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup cornmeal
½ pound liverwurst

Place salt in boiling water into saucepan. Gradually add cornmeal, stirring constantly. Add liverwurst while stirring and simmer for 4 minutes. Remove from heat and pour into greased loaf pan. Let cool. Cut into slices and fry until browned.

ANSWER — D.K. Love wanted recipes for cold soups. Thanks to an anonymous reader and to Sarah Clark, Breezewood, for sending recipes.

Cold Milk Soup

½ loaf frozen bread, cubed
2 cups frozen fruit
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
5 cups cold milk

Combine bread, fruit, sugar and vanilla in a bowl. Pour milk on top.

Cold Cucumber Soup With Sour Cream

1 quart homemade chicken stock
2 medium unpeeled cucumbers

Dice cucumbers and simmer with a small sliced onion in butter until tender.

Add 1 cup light cream and pinch of thyme, salt, and white pepper as needed, and simmer another 5 minutes. Refrigerate and serve cold.

Chilled Melon Soup

1 medium-sized cantaloupe, chilled
Juice of 1 lime
3 teaspoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons golden honey
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup orange or lime yogurt
1 tablespoon honey
Mint leaves for garnish

Cut cantaloupe in half; remove seeds and peel. Chop in small chunks. Place in blender. Add lime juice, lemon juice, honey, and nutmeg; blend again. In a separate bowl, mix in orange or lime yogurt with 1 tablespoon honey.

Serve puree topped with yogurt; garnish with mint leaves.

Cool Raspberry Soup

20 ounces frozen raspberries, thawed
1¼ cups water
1 can cran-raspberry juice
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons ground cinnamon
3 whole cloves
1 tablespoon lemon juice
8-ounces raspberry-flavored yogurt
½ cup sour cream

In a blender, puree raspberries and water. Transfer to a large saucepan; add the cran-raspberry juice, sugar, cinnamon, and cloves. Bring just to a boil over medium heat; strain and allow to cool. Whisk in lemon juice and yogurt. Refrigerate. To serve, pour into small bowl and top with dollop of sour cream. Serves 4-6.

EASY AND DELICIOUS PEACH JELLY

6 cups peeled, crushed peaches
2 cups crushed pineapples
6 cups sugar

Mix and cook 20 minutes. Add 2 small boxes orange Jell-O. Stir well, cool and freeze.

J. Martin
N.Y.

ZUCCHINI JELLY

6 cups shredded, peeled zucchini without seeds

Boil zucchini 15 minutes, stirring occasionally so it does not stick fast to the kettle. Add:

½ cup lemon juice
5 cups granulated sugar
1 small can crushed pineapples, blended

Boil mixture 10 minutes more. Add:

6 ounces apricot Jell-O

Stir. Put in jars and seal. Gets too stif if kept in refrigerator.

Mabel Kurtz
Womelsdorf

EASY STRAWBERRY JAM

4 cups sugar
2 cups crushed strawberries
1 box Sure-Jell fruit pectin
¾ cup water

Stir sugar into strawberries. Set aside 10 minutes; stir occasionally.

Stir fruit pectin and water in small saucepan. Bring to a boil on high heat, stirring constantly. Boil and stir one minute. Remove from heat.

Stir pectin mixture into fruit mixture. Stir constantly until sugar is completely dissolved and no longer grainy (about 3 minutes). Pour into clean plastic containers to within ½ -inch of tops; cover. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours. Store in refrigerator or freeze until ready to use.

CRANBERRY JELLY

1 quart bottled cranberry juice
1 package Sure-Jell
5½ cups sugar

Stir Sure Jell into Juice. Bring to a boil. Add sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil. Boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Skim. Fill jars. Seal. Variations:

Cranapple: Use 2 cups apple juice and 2 cups cranberry juice instead of all cranberry juice. Apple: use apple juice instead of cranberry. Grape: use grape juice instead of cranberry.

Manheim Reader

• Earth has virtually the same amount of water today as it did when dinosaurs roamed the planet, but only 3 percent of the water is fresh, and two-thirds of that is ice, says National Geographic.

• The atmosphere around the Earth carries only about a 10-day supply of fresh water — about 1 inch (2.5 centimeters) of rain, says National Geographic.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — D.K. Love wanted recipes for unusual whoopie pies such as oatmeal, pumpkin, zucchini, carrot, etc. Thanks to an anonymous reader, Vera Dietz of Port Trevorton, and to Glenna Shaner, Hughesville, for sending recipes.

Oatmeal Whoopie Pies

4 cups brown sugar
1½ cups butter
4 eggs
2 teaspoons salt
4 cups flour
4 cups oatmeal
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons baking soda
6 tablespoons boiling water

Cream together sugar, butter, eggs, flour, salt, baking powder, and oatmeal. Mix well. Put baking soda in hot water; add to batter. Mix well. Bake at 350 degrees for 8 minutes.

Molasses Whoopie Pies

3 cups vegetable oil
4 cups sugar
1 cup black molasses
4 eggs
8 cups flour
8 teaspoons baking soda
4 teaspoons cinnamon
2 teaspoons ginger
2 teaspoons cloves
2 teaspoons salt

Mix and roll into balls. Press into sugar. Bake at 375 degrees. Bake on top shelf of oven. Do not overbake.

Red Velvet Whoopie Pies

½ cup shortening
1½ cups granulated sugar
2 eggs
2 ounces red food coloring
2 tablespoons baking cocoa
1½ teaspoon baking soda
3½ cups flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
1 tablespoon vinegar

Make a paste of the cocoa and food coloring. Set aside. Cream shortening, sugar, and eggs. Add cocoa mixture and vanilla. Beat at medium speed for several minutes. Add flour, salt, and buttermilk alternately to mixture. Beat several minutes at medium speed. Fold in baking soda and vinegar. Do not beat. Drop by tablespoonful on greased cookie sheets. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes or until done. Put your favorite filling between cookies.

Banana Whoopie Pies

1 cup banana, mashed
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 egg
1 cup sugar
½ cup oil
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup nuts
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon vanilla

Mix together ingredients. Drop by spoonful on greased cookie sheet. Bake for 12 to 15 minutes at 350 degrees until done. Cool. Put your favorite icing between each cookie.

Peanut Butter Whoopie Pies

2 cups brown sugar
⅓ cup peanut butter
2 teaspoons baking soda dissolved in
3 tablespoons boiling water
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup whole wheat flour
⅓ cup butter
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder

Cream sugar, butter, peanut butter, and eggs. Add salt, flours, and baking powder, baking soda, and water. Beat and drop by spoonful on cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes.

Filling:

3 cups confectioners' sugar
½ teaspooon salt
1 tablespoon hot water
⅓ cup milk
½ cup peanut butter

Mix together all ingredients and spread between cookies.

Restaurant Operators Smell Success

CHICAGO, Ill. — Restaurant operators have discovered a sweet smell of success in the delicious aroma of beef promoted in recent beef industry advertising to the foodservice industry.

Since February, more than 2,000 requests have come in for recipes from the current foodservice advertising promotion, which features "scratch and sniff" technology. The ads began in February and will run until October in five of the nation's most prominent foodservice publications: Restaurants & Institutions, Restaurant Hospitality, Nation's Restaurant News, Restaurant News and Food Arts.

After experiencing the aroma of a "Steak Vesuvio" ad, foodservice operators can call the toll-free beef industry hotline number included in the ads and receive four new recipe cards. Hand-in-hand with the new recipes and advertisements, the beef industry also is using direct mail to entice foodservice managers and other key menu decision-makers to offer more beef entrees. The direct mail piece, "Beef, New Menu Classics," features new beef recipes for steak, burgers, sandwiches and entree salads.

"We've received four to five times as many requests from these ads as we typically receive," said Larry Oltjen, a beef producer from Robinson, Kan., and chairman of the BIC Foodservice Subcommittee.

Ideas For Summertime Fun

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Enjoy these last warm, lazy days of summer before school begins. Kids across the state are finding plenty to do — and doing it safely.

Did you know that summer is the peak season for child injuries occurring outside the home?

Did you know that one in four children suffer a preventable injury serious enough to require medical attention?

A preventable injury means it did not need to happen if precautions had been taken.

Did you know that more injuries are associated with bicycles than with any other consumer product?

Recently, a new law went into effect to help reduce bicycle injuries. The new state law required children 12 and under to wear an approved bicycle helmet while riding as either the operator or passenger. The law applies to any vehicle propelled by human-driven pedals, including tricycles and other devices such as "big wheels."

Helmets have a hard plastic exterior and an inner shell made of strong material, which absorbs most of the impact from a fall.

If an accident occurs while riding, the risk of head trauma is between three and seven times greater for people who do not wear helmets.

Remember to take time to buckle your helmet no matter how quickly you want to jump on your bicycle. Wear it even if you are on a country road because they can be as hazardous to bikers as city streets.

Although fewer cars are traveling on country roads, the road often has bumps, ruts, loose stones or sharp drop-offs that can upset bicycles or cause a child to lose control. Country roads are often narrow and winding, which makes it difficult for motorists to drive safely around a biker.

If you do not wear a helmet while riding a bicycle, tricycle or big wheel, you may be fined $25. The fine may be dismissed with proof-of-purchase for an approved helmet.

How To Choose A Helmet

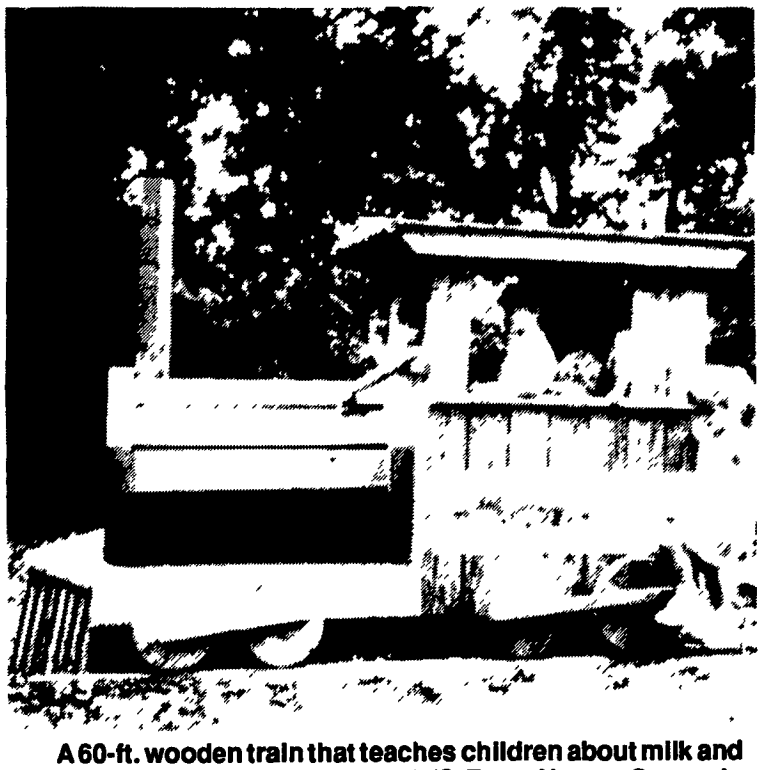
- Select a helmet that fits properly and does not move around on the head. It should cover the top of the forehead. Choose a helmet that can be buckled and unbuckled easily.
- Buy only a helmet approved by either the Snell Memorial Foundation or the American National Standards Institute. This means the helmet has been tested for safety.
- White, yellow, and orange helmets offer the best visibility in traffic.
- Treat your helmet with care. If thrown or kicked, it could be damaged.
- Buy a new helmet if yours is involved in a bike crash.

PROVE Rules For Bike Safety

- Predictable. Ride to the right. Use hand signals. Obey traffic laws and signs.
- Responsible. A bike is a vehicle, not a toy, and you are a driver. Obey traffic laws and signs. Be considerate of other cyclists, motorists, and pedestrians.
- Observant. Watch for road hazards including potholes, drainage grates, loose gravel and oil spots. Watch for cars exiting driveways.
- Visible. Wear flourescent clothing and use a bike flag. Avoid riding after dark. If you must ride at night, use lights and reflectors.
- Equipped. Wear a helmet and keep your bicycle well-maintained.

Always wear a helmet when biking or riding a tricycle or big wheel. More injuries are associated with bicycles than with any other consumer product. Children ages 6 to 12 face the greatest accident risk. Helmets reduce the risk of head trauma.

Derrin, 8; Brent, 7, and Curtis, 3, enjoy jumping and doing flips on the trampoline. They are the children of Merle and Charlene Ranck of Gap.



A 60-ft. wooden train that teaches children about milk and farm life recently arrived at PAWS Farm Nature Center in Mount Laurel, N.J., courtesy of Dairy Council, Inc. The sections of the train (dubbed the "Dairy Express") teach children how milk goes from a cow to the supermarket. PAWS, which stands for the Preservation and Wildlife Society, is a nonprofit organization that acts as a refuge for injured animals. PAWS volunteers nurse the injured animals back to health so they can be released into wildlife again.

Other attractions at PAWS include a fenced-in area for the animals and wildlife that will remain on the farm, a nature trail, and a restored farmhouse that shows children how items such as wheat, potatoes, apples, milk and eggs are turned into supermarket products. PAWS Fram Nature Center is open Wednesday through Sunday year-round from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Admission is $1.25 for children and $2 for adults. For more information contact Barbara Holmes at (609) 778-8795.

Church Cookbook Stirs Memories Of 4-H Leader And Good Tastes

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Ginger Groff was a young mother — 43 years old — when she died from cancer last year.

For four years, Ginger and her husband served as 4-H leaders of the 4-H Woolies Club. She was an active participant of Elizabethtown Brethren In Christ Church and a super cook.

For friends, family, and 4-H'ers, her memory lives on. A wonderful cookbook has been dedicated in memory of Ginger. In addition to several of Ginger's recipes, hundreds of recipes from members of the Elizabethtown Brethren In Christ Church appear in the tab-indexed cookbook that has about 350 pages.

The spiral-bound cookbook, released two weeks before Christmas last year, has been ordered by people as far away as California and Canada.

"Many people have said that it's a tremendous cookbook, and we think so too," said Sharon Engle of the committee that put together the cookbook.

It is the result of many women using their individual skills to work together.

The church cookbook was Shirley Bower's idea. She said, "We have lots of fellowship meals and lots of good cooks in our congregation so I thought why don't we share this with others?"

At first, people were not too interested in her idea. Sharon Engle and Margaret Eyer had been on the committee for a previous cookbook and knew the hard work involved and everything that could go wrong. Although they had a realistic assessment of the project, Sharon and Margaret eventually decided that the hard work would be worthwhile.

By word-of-mouth a committee soon formed with these three women and Loretta Wahl, Carolyn Bair, and Rae Ann Boozer.

One of the biggest decisions the committee made that is different from most church and community groups that put out a cookbook was deciding not to have it printed by a cookbook publishing company but by an independent local printer.

"It enabled us to have more control over the finished product," Sharon said.

Interspersed among the hundreds of delectable recipes are spiritual tidbits that range from short little sayings to instructions on how to get to heaven, from a dishwasher's prayer to a friendship recipe.

An introduction by Dr. David Hall, senior pastor of the church, states that the word "food" occurs in the Bible 305 times.

"That's enough to assure us that food must be important, even from God's perspective," he writes. "Food has been a medium of celebration for thousands of years. God has chosen food as a symbol of His great love and gift. . . . Food is a physical reminder that we need to be fed spiritually."

For anyone flipping through the pages of the cookbook, the recipes reflect the creativity of the contributors and the abundant variety of food for every taste.

In addition to an assortment of recipes for meats, soups, sandwiches, casseroles, desserts, breads, and beverages, there are also categories for vegetarian dishes, heart healthy recipes, international specialties, marinades, sauces, dressings, candies, and canning recipes.

Since the committee decided to self publish, it required endless typing and proofing.

One committee member worked in a printers' office and took responsibility for the layout. Jane Dows, a church member and freelance commercial artist, drew the cover design.

Another member took the computer discs in which other committee members had typed in recipes. When she attempted to format that, she found that many of the discs were not compatible with the software used. It took weeks to correct the glitches involved in reformating.

Several other complications that the committee is hesitant to mention surfaced. But despite the problems, the committee agreed that if they had to do it all over again, they would again self publish.

The cookbook is available for purchase from church members and will be sold at a booth set up at the upcoming Elizabethtown Fair. To order through the mail, send $15.25, which includes postage and handling, to Elizabethtown Brethren In Christ Church, 996 E. High St., Elizabethtown, PA 17022.

4-H WOOLIES LAMB STEW

2 pounds lamb pieces
½ cup chopped onion
4 potatoes, diced
4 carrots, diced
½ cup celery diced
16-ounces tomatoes, undrained
1¼ cups water
1½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 bay leaves
½ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon basil

Place all ingredients in a slow-cooking crock pot for 8 hours. Or, bake in a 325-degree oven for 1½ hours.

Ginger Groff

CHOCOLATE ZUCCHINI CAKE

½ cup soft butter
½ cup vegetable oil
1¾ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup sour milk
2½ cups flour
4 tablespoon cocoa
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups shredded zucchini
Chocolate chips

Cream butter, oil, and sugar. Add eggs, vanilla, and sour milk. Mix together all dry ingredients, add to creamed mixture and mix well with mixer. Stir in zucchini. Sprinkle with chocolate chips before baking. Bake in 9x13-inch pan at 350 degrees for 40-45 minutes. Needs no frosting.

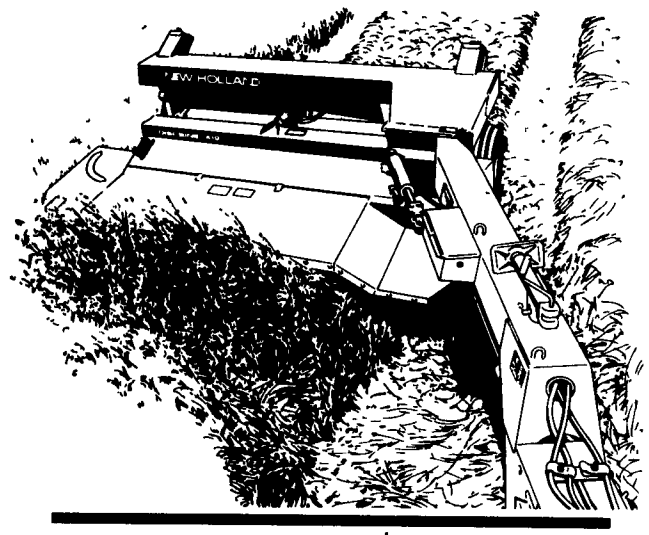
DISCBINE PERFORMANCE



ECONOMICAL FLAIL CONDITIONING

The Model 412 Discbine® disc mower-conditioner gives you a 9'9" cut and uses an economical flail conditioning system that scuffs plant stems for fast drying. And, the "412" has the responsive header flotation you've come to expect from a Discbine. See it for yourself.

NEW HIGH CAPACITY

MORE OF THE THINGS YOU WANT

More capacity, improved reliability and better bale shape.

- Big Capacity. Wide, Super-Sweep™ pickups get the short fine hay ordinary pickups miss.
- Efficient Feeding Systems. A rotary system on the two larger balers adds capacity and improves bale shape. The "565" has a beefed-up Flow-Action® feeder.
- Increased Reliability. Heavy-duty materials in the bale case and plunger, and accurate knotters or twisters, complete the story.

WILLOW STREET (Lancaster Co.) — Paul Hess Sr. intended that the family butcher shop that he purchased in Willow Street would pass on through the generations.

But times and consumer demands change. When his sons, Paul Jr. and Lloyd, took over ownership in 1978, they soon realized the butcher shop needed a new direction to stay viable.

Nine years ago, the brothers held their first pig barbecue. Today they are the third largest caterer in Pennsylvania and have garned state and national awards for their innovative barbecue catering business. They still do custom butchering in their newly remodeled facility, but the catering business is their main emphasis.

With eight full-time employees and a list of part-time ones "too numerous to count," the Hess's hold 300-400 barbecues annually sometimes as many as 15 in one day for groups that number between 75 and 8,000 people.

While business is brisk and tasty, Lloyd, who does most of the barbecuing, said that competition is plentiful. To keep on the cutting edge, he and his brother are continually on the lookout for new ideas.

Recently, they developed a barbecued beef brisket, which took a national award in the American Association of Meat Processors, which had 500 entries. In recent years, the Hesses have garnered more than 40 state awards.

The idea for barbecuing beef brisket came from Paul Jr., who travels nationwide as a judge in meat contests.

"Beef brisket is popular in Texas and the Southwest," Lloyd said.

Rather than use the same recipe, the brothers came up with their own version of beef brisket. It is marinated, barbecued, and marinaded again.

Lloyd said, "In Texas, they don't use butcher ground pepper on the brisket, but we do. The brisket is our signature product and only available through us."

Generally, catering is done within a 75-minute radius of the Willow Street business, but occasionally, they will travel a greater distance.

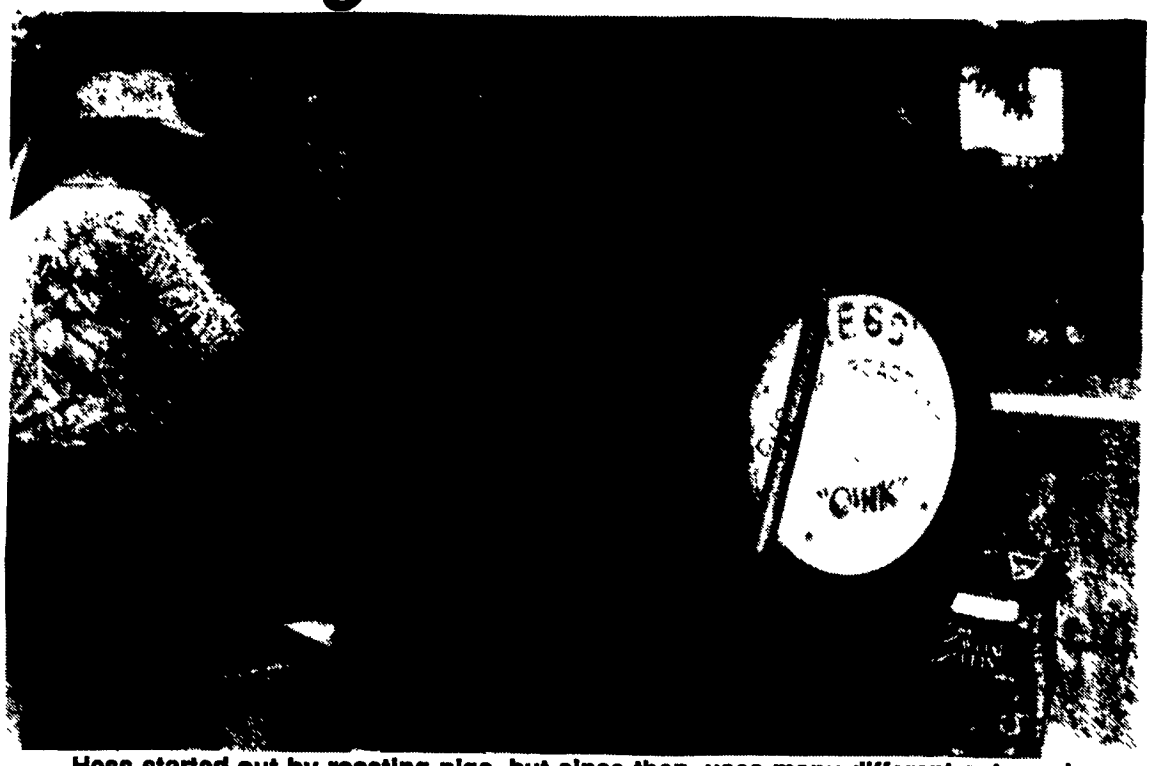
Holding 300-400 barbecues a year is no easy feat because the brothers are determined to keep Sunday as a day of rest.

"We hold a hectic pace so we really want to steer clear of holding Sunday events," Lloyd said.

Because the most popular season is summertime, the brothers sometimes caterer as many as 15 events on the same day. There can be no raindates, because barbecuing roasts and ribs is not like throwing a hamburger or hot dog on the grill, he said.

To keep up with the demand, the caterers recently started offering the option of customers picking up the barbecued meats and needed supplies at the shop. Roasted pork and beef is then reheated when ready to serve. They are pleased by the demand for this service.

While lean meat is always used for the steaks, filet mignon, chicken breasts, ribs, roast beef, ham, sausage, and the flavor is most succulent, Lloyd said that they can't depend on taste alone to keep their catering business successful.



Hess started out by roasting pigs, but since then, uses many different cuts and meats. "We're always looking for something different. Too many people make the mistake of trying to copy the competition. The secret is in developing your own signature product or you lag behind," he said.

"Appearance is 80 percent of the success," he said.

For this reason they work hard to arrange the food attractively. They have many different serving dishes, baskets, and colored linens to suit the preferred tastes of their clientel.

The most popular barbecues follow the theme of Chuckwagon, Western or Haiwaiian decor, but some affairs, such as weddings prefer the formal look of china and silver serving dishes.

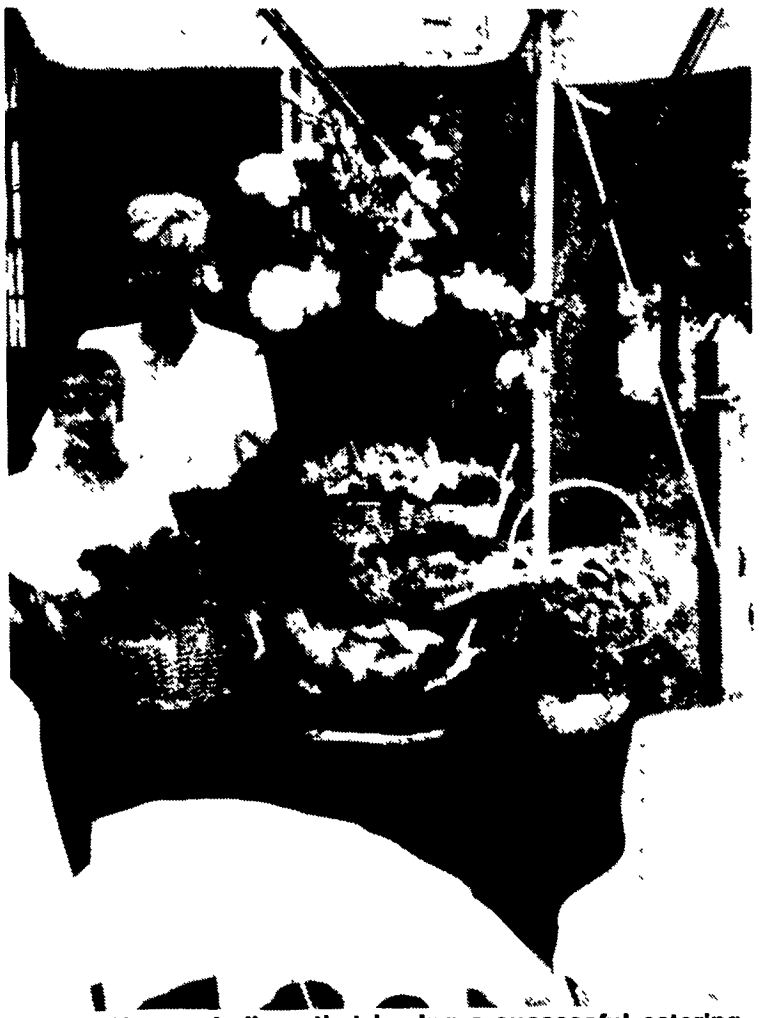
The Hesses offer tents, tables, chairs, sound systems, china, utensils, and numerous other items to meet every need.

The extensive menu selection is always being expanded. In addition to a wide variety of meat entrees, vegetables, salads, desserts, and appetizer are available from breakfast buffets to formal dinners. They even have picnic munchies for such items as hot and spicy chicken wings, buckets of beef or pork ribes, meatballs, tacos, and assorted cheese baskets.

The brothers' fame for developing a successful catering business from their butchershop has spread. They are asked to give seminars across the state.

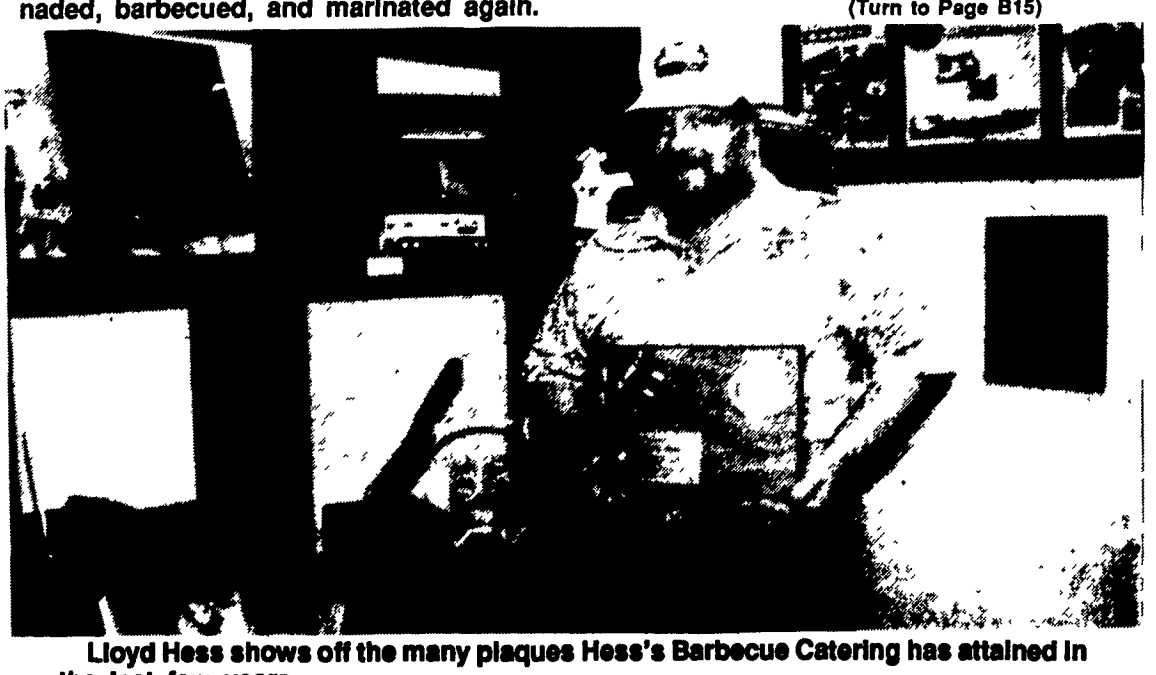
"We are self-trained, learn-as-you go. We aren't chefs but we sure do a good job at barbecuing meat," Lloyd said.

(Turn to Page B15)



The Hesses believe that having a successful catering business depends mostly on appearance. Here, Paul Jr.'s wife Brenda arranges flowers and food attractively on round tables covered with table linens.

The newest addition to the catering menu is beef brisket, which has won a national award. The beef brisket is marinaded, barbecued, and marinated again.



Lloyd Hess shows off the many plaques Hess's Barbecue Catering has attained in the last few years.

Butcher Shop

"A lot of people claim to do barbecues, but it isn't a real barbecue unless there is a lot of beef and smoke!"

The brothers sell their own name brand barbecue sauce by the trailer load.

"We use the same sauce on pork, beef, and chicken except for the beef brisket," Lloyd said.

While many small businesses falter, the Hesses is booming. Lloyd said that too many people try to copy the competition instead of coming up with a unique product or idea that makes it truely their own.

"If you don't specialize in something, you'll lag behind," he said.

Lloyd just completed his term as president of the American Association of Meat Processors.

His praise for the organization is extensive. He encourage every one involved in the meat business to join.

"The government is going to run us out of business if we don't join numbers in the association," he said. "The meat business is almost strictly family-owned businesses, but many are going out of business from ridiculous government regulations.

"I heard stories of butchershops being shut down for a whole day because weeds were growing in the parking lot. Another shop was closed down because it didn't have a handicap ramp to unload beef."

Lloyd said his butcher shop is the largest deer butchering facility in the East. "We butcher 2,000 deer during the season and make our own bologna, scrapple, and jerky from it."

The next venture for the brothers is to have a sit-down facility in which to serve the barbecues.

"You need to satisfy people when they're tasting food. High end caterers often serve food that you can't even recognize. We offer a lot of food at a reasonable cost," he said.

Little advertising is done. "But after a large party, the phone rings off the hook from people who want to book a party," Lloyd said.

The help wears bright fushia shirts with plans to switch to dark green next year. Trucks are all the same color and painted with attractive logos. Cleanliness is enforced. "People tend to think that if the truck is sloppy, the food isn't fit to eat either," Lloyd said.

He takes pride in the fact that they have never had a problem with food poisoning because they pay attention to details.

"Even if you're working with volunteers, it's important to take the time to teach food safety," Lloyd said.

Hess's Barbecue Catering is located at 2635 Willow Street Pike, Willow Street, PA 17584. Phone number is (717) 464-3374.

Ornamental Uses Of Herbs In The Landscape

This is the second in a series of articles on growing herbs in the home garden.

There are herbs for every garden. For shady spots there are beautiful herbs which thrive in moist, cool shade like the sweet cicely, Myrrhis odorata.

Many of the native herbs will enhance the wild garden while others will thrive in the open fields.

Most herbs do best in a sunny location with the exception of a few such as angelica, wooddruff and sweet cicely which prefer partial shade. Any garden loam will prove satisfactory for most herbs.

A soil of pH of neutral to slightly alkaline is best. Good drainage is essential, and poorly drained sites should be avoided or improved with deep cultivation and the addition of sand and organic matter.

Once established, most herbs prefer a rather dry soil and require watering only during a fairly severe drought. A few herbs such as mint, angelica, and lovage do best in moist soil.

Angelica archangelica, can be used as a bold accent plant for the background of a shady border. The individual flowers are small, but the large umbels are attractive in form and texture.

A traditional herb garden design would consist of a central focal point with four herb sections surrounding it.

Herbs with different colors and textures are interwoven in geometrical patterns to create the illusion of a knot.

The design of a knot garden is based on patterns used by weavers and lace makers popular from the 16th centurty to late 18th century. They are made on level ground, usually in front of a house with plants such as germander, dwarf lavenders, common thyme and santolinas. Boxwood is another popular choice for low-clipped hedges. A notable quality of the knot garden form was that it could be viewed to its best advantage from an overlock, such as a terrace or the second-floor window.

Herbs used to outline a pattern should be sheared at least twice during the growing season and sometimes more often. The herbs that stand shearing well are gray and green santolinas, dward lavender bushes, rosemary and the tall Teucrium lucium, common thymes, hyssop, and winter savory, but these last two are short lived. Others that can be shaped and sheared are Southernwood (Artemisia abrotanum) and Artemisia pontica. Dwarf forms of boxwood and yew are recommended for outlines and also juniper trimmed to stay low.

Dusty miller (Artemisia Stellariana) and violets along with thymes and strawberries make good "fills." The variants of Thymus x citriodorus are best for filling, particularly albus, which is compact and flat and has tiny white flowers; also argenteus, with the stem about 4 inches high and the leaves margined with white; aureus has lavender flowers and the leaves strikingly marked with bright yellow, coccineus has brilliant magenta flowers, while splendens has reddish purple flowers and is very flat; and lemon thyme now listed as Thymus serpyllum, is characterized by larger leaves than most of the others and is tinted decidedly a yellow green.

Other herbs for filling are germander, the small-leaved forms of English ivy, sweet marjoram, Corsican mint (for a well-drained place) and Ajuga repens for a dry, sunny place.

The design of a knot garden needs to be carefully transferred to the ground from paper. Use stakes, twine and lime to make the outline precissely according to the original plan.

ANSWER — D.K. Love wanted a recipe for raisin bread. Thanks to Vera Zimmerman, Stevens, for sending a recipe.

Raisin Bread

2½ cups water, lukewarm
½ cup shortening, softened
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons yeast
7 cups bread flour
1 cup chopped raisins
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Combine water, sugar, and salt. Stir to dissolve sugar. Sprinkle yeast on top. Let rise 30 minutes. Add all ingredients but knead in the flour last. Let rise until dough has doubled. Put in bread pans and let rise. Bake 30 minutes.

Pumpkin Whoopie Pies

2 eggs
1 pound confectioners' sugar
¾ cup salad oil
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
3 cups flour
16-ounce can pumpkin

Beat eggs, brown sugar, and oil until lumps are out of brown sugar. Add remaining ingredients. Drop on greased cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes.

Filling:

2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons milk
1 teapsoon vanilla
1 egg white
2 cups confectioners' sugar, divided
¾ cup shortening
½ cup marshmallow creme

Cream together flour, milk, vanilla, and 1 cup confectioners' sugar. Add remaining confectioners' sugar, shortening, marshmallow cream, and egg white. Beat until creamy. Spread between cookies.

Consuming Thoughts

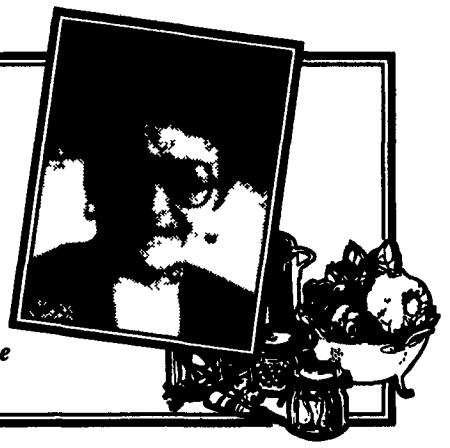
Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.



Who would think that we would see so many changes in the supermarket as we have in recent years? Since the 1930s consumers have seen many changes, but there are still many more to come. Let's look into the future and see how the supermarkets are changing. Depending where you live you probably have seen some of these features in your local supermarkets or soon will see them.

Home Delivery of Food — Look for more home delivery advertising. Some local stores charge a fee and some offer 24-hour toll-free phone ordering. Look for ads with fax number to order your food in and drive up or have the older delivered at a prearranged time.

Consumers Involved in Policy — More supermarkets are adding consumer affairs departments to represent consumers' ideas and build consumer support. These departments are involved in education, including point-of-purchase information, developing booklets and sponsoring classes. These departments are also involved as consumers raise environmental and solid waste issues.

Hypermarkets — The name given to the very large stores that combine a full supermarket with a discount general merchandise store. These stores will depend on high volume, and will offer low prices. Their main attraction for shoppers is that everything is under one roof. They are based on the designs and operations of very large stores that have been operating in Europe for sometime.

Ethnic Diversity in Stores — Supermarket management recognizes the growing ethnic diversity of the United States. You can expect the trend of supermarkets catering to specific ethnic food preferences to continue and grow.

New Pricing Technology — The scanners that "read" the UPC codes found on all our food products were the beginning of technology in the supermarket for many consumers. Looking ahead, grocers are experimenting with electronic shelf tags that will display the price of the product using a LCD (liquid crystal display) readout. Customers can press a button on this tag that will show the unit price of the item and this is the price that is in the computer at the checkouts.

New Food Technology — As many more consumers begin to rely on microwave food products, manufacturers are looking for improved products. One food company has developed a "microready indicator," a tiny strip on the top of its food container, that changes colors when the food has reached the proper temperature. Oven manufacturers are experimenting with "sensors" that measure the temperature of the steam that the food is producing and automatically shuts off the oven when the food is heated.

Take-Out Food — You will see a big growth area in supermarkets as they try to win back consumer dollars that are spent at fast-food stores. In some areas, the fast food section of the supermarket is more popular and has a greater volume of sales than traditional sections of the store.

Local Farmers Markets — Many consumers rely on buying fresh produce at the farmers market in their neighborhood. These specialty markets will continue to offer the best locally grown produce as well as increase the number of specialty and imported fruits and vegetables, etc.

Ag Progress Tours Tout Mulch Of A Different Color

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—Most of us have a favorite color, whether it's red, green, blue or hot pink. Now, researchers in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences are finding that plants and insects also prefer certain hues.

Experiments on the effectiveness of colored plastic mulches will be among the cutting-edge research highlighted on guided tours of the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center during Penn State's Ag Progress Days, August 15-17.

The free 30-minute bus tours, which leave every 20 minutes throughout each day, will take visitors through Penn State's horticulture, plant pathology, agronomy and entomology farms, as well as the USDA Pasture Research Laboratory.

On the horticulture farm, visitors will see colored mulches being tested for their effects on tomato, pepper, cucumber and cantaloupe production. Studies have shown that red, blue and yellow mulches can influence soil temperature, the amount of reflected light and crop yields. In addition, insects seem to be attracted to yellow mulches, which could be used to trap pests and reduce insecticide applications.

On the plant pathology farm, the tour will feature studies aimed at helping growers eliminate, manage or reduce crop damage from diseases. Several experiments are under way to refine strategies for combating the destructive late blight fungus. This disease, which attacks potatoes and tomatoes, in 1994 cost Pennsylvania growers millions of dollars in crop losses.

The agronomy farm portion of the tour will focus on breeding and management trials for a variety of crops, including corn, soybeans, alfalfa, wheat, barley and forage grasses. Visitors will see experiments on the use of legumes as a mulch crop in corn, a study on how various tillage systems affect run-off, and research on how various crop rotations influence corn yield.

At the USDA Pasture Lab, the tour will include research on a clover variety native to Russia that may be productive in Pennsylvania; corn and potato breeding experiments; and studies to improve the establishment and management of switchgrass, a warm-season grass that can be used for livestock grazing and to provide habitat for game and song birds.

A statewide project to monitor populations of corn insect pests will highlight entomology research on the tour. Traps placed near corn fields around the state enable entomologists to make recommendations for control of corn rootworm, European corn borer and fall armyworm. Information on trap catches is made available to growers and county-based Penn State Cooperative Extension agents via a toll-free telephone number (800-PENN—IPM) or electronically through a computer network. This information has helped some growers to cut insecticide use in half.

Penn State's Ag Progress Days features more than 500 acres of educational and commercial exhibits, tours and machinery demonstrations. It is held at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rock Springs, nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, with extended hours of 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Wednesday. Admission and parking are free.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free through August 17.

IT'S NO TIME TO PAY TOP DOLLAR FOR A TRACTOR.

When prices bottom out, you quickly find there are two types of tractors in the world: Those you can't afford to buy and those you can't afford to ignore. A Belarus tractor offers performance, fuel efficiency, proven long life and reliability at a cost that's tens of thousands less than its competition. Let's face it, a value like that is hard to ignore these days. Or any day, for that matter.

Winners Shake-It-Up-With-Milk Contest

NEW YORK, N.Y. — To increase awareness among teens about their calcium requirement and encourage dairy product consumption, American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC), sponsored a "Shake It Up With Milk" contest. Teens submitted recipes for fun and healthy milk-based beverages during May and June. According to ADADC, 50 percent of all teens don't meet their recommended daily requirement for calcium.

Five finalists gathered at Rumpelmayer's, a New York City ice cream parlor, on Tuesday, July 18 to decide whose recipe would advance to the national "shake off" contest in October. Rumpelmayer's has been famous for its delicious ice cream since 1930. The five finalists, ranging in age from 12-17, were from the New York metropolitan area.

Milkshake creators were challenged to start with at least ½ cup of milk and add their favorite ingredients for a great-tasting treat. Dairy product experts Jonelle Smith, New York State Dairy Princess; Natalie Welch, Pennsylvania State Dairy Princess and; Terri Snook, Sussex County (New Jersey) Dairy Princess, served as judges. These teen judges worked from a score sheet of originality and taste to determine the winners.

First-place winner received a year's supply of ice cream from Welsh Farms, and runners up were awarded electric ice cream makers. From the tempting recipes, the following winners were chosen:

CALYPSO COBBLER
(First Place)

1 cup milk
1 cup pineapple juice
2 cups apricot nectar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 pint orange sherbet
Bananas
Caramels
Toasted Coconut
Grapes for Garnish

In microwave, melt 7 ounces of caramel with 1 teaspoon water. Dip bananas into caramel and then roll in toasted coconut. These can be made ahead of time. Set aside for decoration.

Mix liquid ingredients in blender for 1 minute. Add sherbet and blend for 30 seconds. Place banana in tall ice cream glass. Add shake. Stick grapes with frilly toothpicks into banana to resemble palm tree.

NON-FAT CHOCOLATE MINT COOKIES AND CREAM BLISS
(Second Place)

½ cup skim milk
1 cup non-fat chocolate frozen yogurt
½ cup non-fat mint cookies and cream frozen yogurt
2 tablespoons of non-fat chocolate syrup
2 Ice Cubes
Pinch of Cinnamon

STRAWBERRY DELIGHT
(Third Place)

½ cup milk
6 scoops vanilla ice cream
1 strip Twizzlers licorice (chopped and blended)
½ strawberry to garnish

Mix all ingredients in blender for 1 minute.

ADADC sponsored a Shake It Up With Milk contest to increase teens' awareness of their daily calcium requirements. In July, five contestants gathered at Rumpelmayers, a famous ice cream parlor in New York City, to find the winning milkshake recipe. A photographer from Asbury Park Press, a New Jersey newspaper, captures the action.

Lebanon Flower Show

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — The Lebanon County Flower Club will present its 46th annual show titled "Flowers on Stage," this year for the first time at the Lebanon Valley Campus, Harrisburg Area Community College, located at 735 Cumberland Street, Lebanon. The show will be open Wednesday, August 16 1 p.m. - 8 p.m. and Thursday, August 17 9:30 a.m. - 7:30 p.m.

There will be plenty of free parking and no admission. Amateur flower growers are invited to participate or may stop and see the many talents displaying flowers and gardening exhibits.

Grange Urges U.S. Withdrawal From U.N. Conference On Women

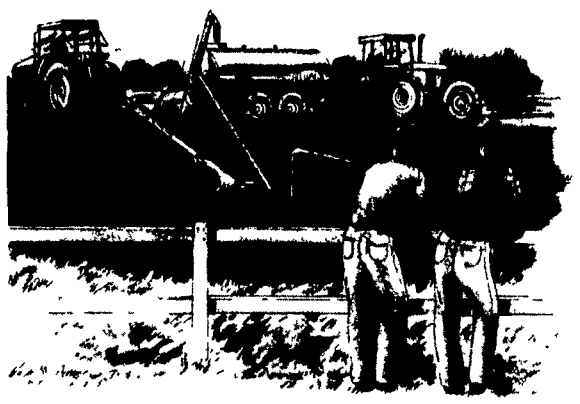
WASHINGTON, D.C. — Robert E. Barrow, master of the National Grange of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, is urging President Clinton to reject the underlying platform of the United Nations Conference on Women in Beijing, China in September and to boycott the event if changes to the platform are not made.

"From our understanding of the underlying platform that will guide the United Nations Conference on Women, the traditional family orientation of women will not be addressed with the high honor and respect they deserve," Barrow wrote in a letter to the president.

"The words 'mother,' 'father,' 'wife,' and 'husband' do not appear anywhere in the platform. To totally disregard, and in fact, slander, the value of women in the traditional family setting is to ignore women's greatest contribution to manhood and womanhood," Barrow added. "This recognition is in no way demeaning to women, nor does it remove or weaken their equality."

In the preparatory meetings for the Beijing Conference, reference is made to five definitions of "gender"; female heterosexuals, male heterosexuals, female homosexuals, male homosexuals, and transsexuals. "Gender," as defined by the platform, is not based on biology but rather on social classification and acceptance of social deviation. Barrow said that if the conference's agenda cannot be restructured to truly reflect equal rights for women in education, employment, and government in the traditional family setting, then the National Grange strongly recommends that the United States' participation be withdrawn.

The National Grange is a rural, family service organization with a special interest in agriculture.



"Charlie's new lagoon pump sure is fast!"
"That's because it's one of those new Van Dale 5000s."

Fast and powerful only begins to describe Van Dale's new line of series 5000 Lagoon Pumps. The Series 5000 has the perfect combo of agitation volume and pressure to break up hard surface crust or bottom manure solids in even the largest lagoons or pits. And with up to 5,000 G.P.M. agitation capacity it can blast a stream of manure 100' or more in any direction to create easy to pump and easy to spread slurry. They are by far, the fastest and easiest operating pumps on the market.

THE VAN DALE ADVANTAGE

Series 5000 3-Point Hitch Model
For use in straight and sloped wall open manure pits. Built with the same ruggedness as Van Dale's trailer lagoon pumps, it also shares the same high performance features.

Eastmont Farms Hosts Tioga County Farm-City Day

C.J. HOUGHTALING
Tioga Co. Correspondent

COVINGTON (Tioga Co.) — Cooler weather and fickle skies didn't dampen the spirits of those attending the fifth annual Farm-City Day in Tioga County this year. Coordinated by a committee dedicated to educating the public about the family farm, how society depends on farming, and how many people are affected by the everyday decisions, products, and work of the farmer. Farm-City Day is hosted by a family whose farm can best reflect the committee's ideals.

Nestled in the rolling foothills of the Appalachian Mountains, Eastmont Farms, owned by Alfred and Maxine Wilcox and operated by their son and daughter-in-law, Sam and Christine Wilcox, served as the host site this year. Sam and Christine's daughters, Samantha and Christie, are the fourth generation of Wilcoxs to live and work on the farm.

Eastmont (short for east and mountain) Farms is a combination of two farms totaling 280 acres, the first of which was 96 acres purchased in 1936 by Sam's grandfather, Alfred Sr. At the time of purchase, the initial farm was actually several different farms. Over the years the farm has grown with additional land purchases, as well as the construction of three silos and a machinery shed and the rebuilding of both the house and the barn. The second farm, purchased by Sam in 1987, consists of 76 acres and houses a heifer barn.

The primary barn, constructed in 1947 and 1948, measures 38' wide by 96' long and stanchions 55 Jersey and 10 Holstein milkers. Three buildings contributed materials to the barn's construction, with the two main support beams coming from the grist mill in near-by Canoe Camp. A large barn several miles away in Mainesburg was dismantled and brought to East mont, and part of the farm's original barn, which was torn down, was also salvaged and used. In the fall of 1948, the milkhouse was added.

Two wooden silos were built for storing corn silage. The first one, constructed in 1948 using wood from the farm, measures 14' by 30'. The second silo, measuring 14' by 32' was built in 1949. In 1988 a 14' x 50' Harvestore silo was added for high moisture shelled corn. The 40' by 72' machinery shed was also erected in 1988.

The Wilcoxs raise approximately 200 acres of mixed hay and purchase all the high moisture corn.

Maryland Farm Queen To Be Crowned

TIMONIUM, Md. — The reigning Maryland Farm Queen, Miss Jami M. Todd of Caroline County, will have the honor of crowning her successor, the 1995 Maryland Farm Queen, who will be selected at the Maryland Farm Queen Contest, Sunday, August 27, 7 p.m., in the State Fair Cow Palace.

Young women, between the ages of 16 and 19, who have earned their place in the 1995 Maryland Farm Queen Contest by winning county Farm Bureau-sponsored contests, will compete for this renowned title, tiaras supplied by Littman Jewelers in Cranberry Mall, and scholarship and cash awards valued up to $4,000. The 23 Maryland county farm queens, will be critiqued, during a two-day competition, primarily on their agricultural knowledge and experience and their civic involvement. Each must spontaneously respond to a "fish bowl" question either related to career opportunities or specific farming issues. Poise, appearance, personality, communication skills, and civic involvement are secondary requirements.

The 1995 Maryland Farm Queen will be present throughout the run of the State Fair to award prizes, and mingle with fairgoers, dignitaries, and media representatives. Her responsibilities will continue throughout the year as she will participate in a number of activities representing Maryland agriculture. The runners-up will assist the Farm Queen with award presentations and serve as hostesses for dignitaries.

from Holstein to Jersey in 1990 due to the size of the barn and the amount of butterfat Jerseys produce. The Wilcoxs classify their Jersey herd and about 75 percent of the herd is registered.

The herd is pastured twice a day throughout the summer. In addition to pasture, their feeding rations consist of 15 pounds of ground corn and soybean grain, 20 pounds of high moisture shelled corn, and 5 pounds of hay. In the winter with pasture time reduced, the herd's hay ration is increased to 25 to 30 pounds.

Sam and Christine's daughters take an active part in the family farm with the raising and showing of cows.

Samantha is president of the Classical Cows 4-H Club. Her cow Debbie was 4-H and Open Class Grand Champion at the Tioga County Fair in 1994 and went on to become the 4-H and Open Grand Champion at the District Show in Wyoming County.

Christie has had the Reserve Grand Champion cow for three years at the Tioga County Fair. In 1993 she went to Louisville, Kentucky and placed seventh with her cow Marge. It was the highest placing for any of the Pennsylvania Jerseys.

As supporters of the farming industry, Sam and Christine are members of the Holstein Club, American Jersey Cattle Club, and the Tioga-Potter Farm Bureau.

During Farm-City Day, visitors were treated to wagon tours of the fields where volunteers were round baling and plastic wrapping hay. A barn tour provided insight on how the milking operation works twice a day in the summers and three times a day (6 a.m., 2 p.m., and 10 p.m.) between December and February to accommodate Sam and Christine's attendance at Christie's high school basketball games. Contests open to the general public included wire splicing, bale throwing, and a kiddie pedal tractor pull. Demonstrations scheduled throughout the day involved sheep shearing, milking, cattle judging, rope making, Christmas tree pruning and shipping, wool spinning. Rounding out the festivities were exhibits involving artificial semination, machinery and toy farm equipment, and the ever popular petting zoo.

Twelve Receive Pa. Farm Women Scholarships

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Students of home economics and agriculture-related courses received scholarships from the Flora Black Memorial Scholarship Fund presented by the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania. Those who received $1,000 toward their education are Kristin Groff, Lancaster County; Carrie Hetrick, Berks County; Angela Leininger, Lancaster County; Cory Meyers, Franklin County; Bryan Pearson, Cambria County, and Kraig Sellers, Lebanon County.

Those receiving $250 are Jeffrey Balmer, Lancaster County; David Creamer, Somerset County; Christine Habecker, Lebanon County; Shawn Norman, York County and Matthew Shaffer, York County.

The Flora Black Memorial Scholarship, named for the founder of the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania, was established in 1960 to help educate girls studying home economics. This was changed in 1994 to include daughters and sons of mothers or grandmothers who are society members, studying home economics or agriculture related courses. The fund is supported by sales of a state cookbook.

Fastir-for Faster Stirring

Mechanical Reversing Drive
The special mechanical reversing drive makes other machines with cable or chain drives obsolete And, because of the heavy-duty 4 1/2" cross tube, standard on all Fastir units, you can add extra augers at any time
Best of all, the Fastir gives superior Sukup Stirring!

Simple, Automatic Stirring
Backed by 25 years of experience and field-use, the Sukup Fastir includes factory-set mercury switches to control machine movement. The simple Fastir design contains fewer moving parts than any other brand

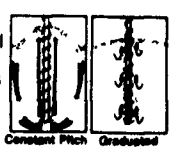
The Sukup constant-pitch auger picks up grain at the bottom and mixes all the grain Other graduated pitch augers may stir more easily, but they can't stir as much Plus, only Sukup offers hard-facing on augers at no extra charge And, we offer the best warranty around



Mounts to Maximize Storage
Other bins mount lower in the bin, taking up to 680 bushels of storage space in a 36' bin! Sukup mounts higher, so more grain can be stored

Stir Closer to the Wall
The new Fastir design allows closer stirring to reduce spoilage along the wall

Tent Caterpillars Camping On Your Trees?

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Like bad party guests, tent caterpillars arrive early, gorge on most the available food supply, and often leave before their hosts can discover a way to get rid of them.

The good news, according to an entomologist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, is that tent caterpillar outbreaks are not forever, peaking quickly over several seasons as populations collapse from parasites, predators and disease. "If a homeowner knows what to look for and is willing to do some work, tent caterpillars can be managed before they ever hatch," says Greg Hoover, senior extension associate in entomology.

Hoover says Pennsylvania has gone through scattered outbreaks of tent caterpillars over the past year. "Typically, an outbreak may last three years," Hoover explains. "The first year is moderate — homeowners often never notice the caterpillars; the second year is moderate to heavy; and the third year is really bad."

Hoover says two species of tent caterpillar are found in Pennsylvania, both of which appear in early spring.

The larval stages of the eastern tent caterpillar, which appears in late April, spins a distinctive, thick, web-like tent in the forks of tree branches. It feeds on the foliage of trees such as cherry, apple and crabapple.

The eastern tent caterpillar does not stray far from its tent, often stringing a thread of silk behind it while feeding in order to find its way back. "They return to the tent at night and when it rains," Hoover says. "Homeowners can eliminate great numbers of caterpillars by going out early in the morning to remove nests or apply registered pesticides."

The larval stages of the forest tent caterpillar, which appears in mid-May, feeds on oak, maple, ash and other deciduous trees. This species does not weave a tent, relying instead on riding a silken thread out of the trees onto the ground. Hoover says Pennsylvania landscapes can be infested by both species at one time, depending upon the host plants in the surrounding area.

Although tent caterpillars seldom kill trees, they can seriously threaten the plant's health. "Tent caterpillars damage plants because they defoliat them early in the growing season," Hoover explains. "By removing the leaves, caterpillars deprive the tree of the system by which it manufactures food."

Hoover says tent caterpillars can be significant pests, although they do not kill large areas of forest the way gypsy moths do. Much of the damage they inflict is aesthetic. Homeowners lament ornamental trees despoiled by tents and decimated foliage.

"If defoliation exceeds 50 percent of the tree's crown, the tree will refoliate, using up nutrients that would have been used as a reservoir for the next growing season," Hoover says.

Amazing Corn Maze Kicks Off Shippensburg Corn Festival

SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.) — Don Frantz, theatrical producer, and Adrian Fisher, internationally renowned maze designer, announce plans to set the new world's record for the largest maze on Thursday, August 17, in Shippensburg.

Frantz and Fisher, the team that established The Guinness Record in 1993 with a 126,000 sq. ft. labyrinth, will open a new three-dimensional maze that will encompass more than 2 miles of path through a 131,000 sq. ft. corn field. The 3-acre 1995 Amazing Maize Maze is a featured attraction of the 10th annual Shippensburg Corn Festival, which takes place on Saturday, August 26.

At this point the exact location is concealed, but the land and crop has been donated by an area dairy farmer. More details later.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

QUESTION — A subscriber would like to know where to locate a 1965, 1966, or 1967 gas tank (new old stock) for a 1965 Cadillac.

QUESTION — Robert Noller, Medford, N.J., writes that some time ago an ad appeared in this paper for plans to build a vegetable stand. He purchased the plans and misplaced them. Anyone able to help him with a name and address?

QUESTION — Henry Stoltzfus, Gordonville, would like to know where to get address stampers with interchangeable letters, new or used, or other printers.

QUESTION — Pollyanna Eby, Belleville, would like the verses to a poem that she learned as a small girl in school. The poem begins: "Come little leaves, said the wind one day. Come to the meadow with me to play...."

QUESTION — Janice Buhl, Erie, would like a cross-stitch pattern for antique John Deere tractors.

QUESTION — Mrs. Mervin Wenger, Womelsdorf, would like to know what type of spray to use to kill weeds but not the strawberry plants in the strawberry patch.

QUESTION — Bunny Bankert, York Springs remembers reading about a health food product to give dogs that are afraid of thunderstorms. She would like to know what it is called and where to purchase it.

QUESTION — Marie Lorah, Tamaqua, was sent an address for a source for owl glasses. She sent an SASE but did not receive an answer. Does anyone know where she could purchase some owl glasses?

QUESTION — Laurie Baker, Kutztown, would like a recipe for milk paint, not the whitewash used in the barn but to use on antique furniture and wood trim.

QUESTION — Jeff Connors is looking for a painting of a Lancaster County farm scene with cows, barn, and field work in it. Contact him at P.O. Box 144, Perryville, Md. 21903.

QUESTION — Marcia Richards, Pitman, N.J., collects old valentines called Penny Dreadfuls or Vinegar Valentines. They are one-page caricatures with a mean poem printed beneath the picture. The valentines were mailed unsigned. She would like information someone might have regarding the valentines and also to purchase more.

QUESTION — A Lehighton subscriber writes that she is the person who had requested an address for the company of the Merit Quik Chef Fast Grill. Someone sent an address, but when she wrote to it, her letter was returned. Does someone have an up-to-date address?

QUESTION — Amos Stoltzfus is looking for "Got-A-Minute," a word game by Selchow and Righter. It must be complete and in playable condition. Please do not send the game without contacting him first at R.R.1, Box 106 SR 17, Blain, PA 17006-9714.

QUESTION — Rose and George Plitt of Painted Post, N.Y., grow mint in their garden. They would like to know how to package it as a dry tea. Are the leaves stripped from the plant and put on a screen to dry in the sun or the oven and for how long? How long can it be stored after drying? How much is used for a cup of tea?

QUESTION — Jeff Connors, Perryville, Md., would like to know where a good FFA school is in Lancaster Co. or a good, clean Christian family farm, or a Virginia-style dairy barn.

QUESTION — Jeff Connors, Perryville, Md., would like to know where he can purchase a toy Farmall 560 1958 NFAN 1456.

QUESTION — Coralie Grant, Coopersburg, would like the name of an outlet for wool remnants suitable for making braided rugs.

QUESTION — Joan Francisco, Stroudsburg, would like to know where to purchase oil of cassia, used in Italian cooking.

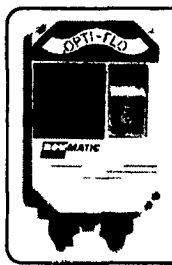
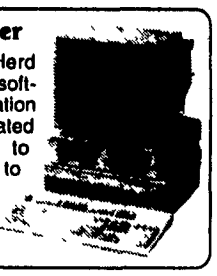
First In Product Innovation

Opti-Flo
(Milk transfer System)



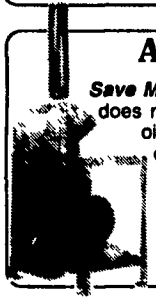
This control allows the milk pump to deliver a steady, gentle flow of milk to the plate cooler to achieve more efficient cooling. Since milk goes through the plate cooler at a slower pace, the water has a better chance to take the heat out of the milk, and increase the quality of the milk.

Agri-Comp Computer



The Agri-comp 2045 Herd Management Computer and software are state-of-the-art innovation at its finest. The totally integrated package with direct link-ups to detachers with milk meters and to feed stations updates cow data instantly in three vital areas: 1) milk production, 2) feeding and 3) breeding.

Air-Star Vacuum Pump

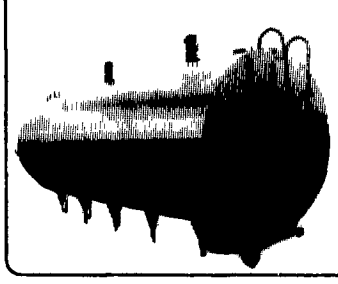


Save Money – The Air-Star vacuum pump does not consume oil like a conventional oil vane vacuum pump, saving the cost of pump oil.
High Performance – The Air-Star vacuum pump creates stable vacuum with low power consumption. Air-Star vacuum pumps are available in sizes from 5 HP to 25 HP.

Flo-Star Claws

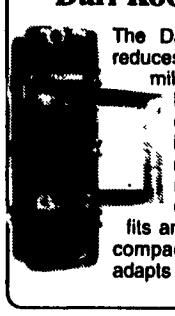
Its unique design helps maintain healthy udders by protecting against cross-contamination while promoting faster, gentler milking and improved milk quality.
No other milking claw can match the outstanding performance of Flo-Star.

Dari-Kool Milk Cooler



Dari-Kool milk coolers, larger than 800 gallons, are constructed with two or more independent, full-flow cooling plates. this fail-safe design distributes the cooling load efficiency and equally between compressors. Should one compressor fail, milk will be cooled by the other independent system, thereby avoiding the loss of a tank of milk.

Dari-Kool Plate Cooler



The Dari-Kool Plate Cooler reduces risk of downgraded milk and income loss, because quick cooling ensures you ship quality milk. It cuts bulk milk cooler run time, reducing wear and tear on the compressor. It fits any existing system it's compact, economical, and adapts to your needs.

Adams County 4-H Fair

Fifty dairy animals were paraded before the judges during the Adams County 4-H Fair held recenlty at the South Mountain Fairgrounds near Arendtsville.

Thomas Boyer of York placed the animals on the basis of type. Blue, red, or white ribbons were awarded according to the Danish system of judging. Fitting and showmanship was judged by Tom's daughter, Bridgett Boyer Bortner.

Thirty Holsteins were shown. Shannon Holtzinger of East Berlin showed her senior 3-year-old, Ke-Holtz Bert Kitten, to senior champion honors. The reserve senior champion was a senior 2-year-old shown by Ashleigh Van Lieu of East Berlin.

Placings for classes of Holsteins were as follows:

Spring Calf: 1. Carl Wilkinson, Aspers; 2. Matthew Guise, York Springs; 3. Jacob Waybright, Gettysburg; 4. Nathan Rhodes, Gettysburg; 5. Carrie Stevens, York Springs; 6. In a three-division showmanship contest, placings were as follows:

Junior Division: 1. Chase Rhodes; 2. Langdon Ramsburg. Intermediate Division: 1. Shannon Holtzinger; 2. Kristen Hill. Senior Division: 1. Carrie Stevens; 2. Anthony Hill.

These six individuals will represent Adams County at district competition.

Jacob Waybright was named champion fitter. Kristen Hill was reserve.

Thirty-six animals were selected for entry into the south central district show to be held on Saturday, August 26, at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. These animals will be shown by Joy Hess; Kristen and Anthony Hill; Brandy, Chase, and Nathan Rhodes; Jacob Waybright; Carrie Stevens; Matthew Guise; Carl Wilkinson, Shannon Holtzinger; Ashleigh and Molly Van Lieu; and Jesse and Jonathan Murren.

Ribbons were distributed by Julie Zepp, Adams County's dairy princess.

The show was conducted by the volunteer club leaders Timothy Brown, Littlestown; Barbara Hill, York Springs; Karen Holtzinger, East Berlin; Thomas Murren, Hanover; and Alan Zepp, New Oxford, assisted by parents of the members.

As an entertainment feature for the 4-H Fair, the dairy club conducted a calf dressing contest. County Commissioners Harry Stokes and Richard Waybright plus Thomas Davidson, Legislative Aide to Congressman William Goodling, participated in the event, each assisting a team of 4-H club members. The team of Jesse and Jonathan Murren, assisted by Commissioner Waybright, was named winner by the show judges Boyer and Bortner. Other 4-H participants were Charles Brown and Carl Wilkinson and Nathan and Chase Rhodes.

See The Toggle Trip Terra-Max I Demonstrated At The 1995 PENN AG PROGRESS DAYS!

Tough tillage conditions have met their MAX

Terra-Max penetrates deep and saves residue.

The double-shank Terra-Max II and the single-shank Terra-Max I fracture even the hardest soil for compaction-fighting aeration, maximum root penetration, moisture permeation, and seedbed preparation. Residue remains virtually intact to minimize water and wind erosion.

Adjustable, 20" spring-loaded coulters slice the residue. Next, Worksaver's unique heat-treated steel, helical shanks shatter hardpan as deep as 20".

Finally, an optional roller/conditioner breaks up clumps, works residue into the ground, and levels the seedbed. Secondary tillage usually is unnecessary.

Individual shank rows adjust to popular row widths. One person can easily adjust the gauges to regulate the working depth.

Realty Welcomes Farm, Land Specialists

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.)—Coldwell Banker University Realty is please to announce the opening of its Farm and Rural Property Division with sales associates Don Myers, Ken Hall, and Dale Sherman. Myers, Hall, and Sherman have a combined total of 25 years experience as specialists in marketing farms, farmettes, and rural acreage throughout central Pennsylvania.

The Coldwell Banker University Realty Farm and Rural Property Division gives buyers and sellers of farms, farmettes, and rural acreage the professional expertise needed in the marketing of rural properties. Myers has five years of agricultural lending experience and almost 20 years experience specializing in rural sales, as well as being a part-time farmer. Hall has extensive experience in the marketing of hunting and wooded parcels, as well as experience as a licensed sewage officer and former independent businessman and subdivision planner. Sherman has more than 10 years of sales experience, and he is an experienced hunter and outdoorsman. He also has 21 years previous experience in working with people and has post graduate experience in counseling and psychology.

The department makes extensive use of a computer database in matching available properties with potential buyers. They also make use of a computer aided mapping system (CAMS) which assists with property evaluations, acreage verficiations for farms and parcels without written legal descriptions, and potential subdivision layouts.

Acreage Report Wakes Up Traders

COLUMBUS, Ohio — USDA's recently-released acreage report splashed some reality on dozing markets, which had projected a higher level of corn plantings, said an Ohio State University agricultural economist.

The report released on June 30 estimated the nation's farmers planted 72 million acres of corn, which was 1.4 million acres below trade estimates of 73.4 million acres, and was also a downward revision by 1.3 million acres from the government's previous report.

Taking into account USDA s feedgrains acreage estimate — also considerably under traders' projections — the stage is set for "a strong floor under feedgrain prices throughout the summer," Lines said.

The government estimates that 94.6 million acres are planted in all feedgrains, which was 1.4 million acres under the trade estimate of 96 million. Even if normal growing conditions prevail for the rest of the summer, total feedgrains production could drop another 3 million metric tons under USDA's previous estimate, Lines said.

Lines offers the following guidelines for growers and buyers given this year's short crop:

• New-crop prices stand to reach some of the highest levels in more than a decade. Keep in mind that new-crop prices have broken above the $2.60-$2.65 per bushel range only twice since (and including) 1980. "That may not be a bad time to price some corn," Lines said.

• Prices could really jump if USDA's yield estimates prove to be too high. For example, prices could be in sight of $3.50 per bushel if yields come in 5 bushels below USDA's 120-bushel-per-acre estimate, Lines said.

• Watch if the Southern Hemisphere's farmers react by planting more corn. "This could cause prices to drop sharply next winter," Lines said.

• Don't forget the old saying, "short crop — long tail," meaning that harvest prices are highest during a short-crop year. In past, similar years, it didn't pay to store corn when harvest prices were in the $2.60 per bushel range,

Kuhn Introduces Gyrotedder

VERNON, N.Y.—A new model Gyrotedder, the GF8501T, has been added to the current Gyrotedder line from Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc., Vernon, New York USA, and Kuhn S.A., Saverne, France.

The new GF8501T is easy to use and gentle on the crop. The GF8501T uses a gentle fluffing action which speeds up the natural drying time of hay.

Key features of the new GF8501T include:

•Excellent ground following for quality tedding, even on difficult terrain, due to the land-hugging, articulating chassis and adjustable wheels.

The new GF8501T is easy to use and gentle on the crop. The GF8501T uses a gentle fluffing action which speeds up the natural drying time of hay.

•Generous working width of 28 feet.

•Quick and easy change-over from the working position to the transport position.

•Narrow width of only 9 feet eight inches when unit is hydraulically folded for transport.

•Features Kuhn's exclusive Digidrive® system which provides a constant velocity drive in all rotor positions.

•Medium tractor horsepower required.

Kuhn offers the largest selection of tedder sizes available with 11 models from 12 feet to 28 feet in trailed and 3-point mounted versions.

Chain Lube Kits Available

DENVER, Colo. — Masterlube chain lubricator kits for New Holland and Vermeer round balers provide a method for safely keeping chains oiled ahead of wear, while meeting safety and other requirements.

An eight-stage adjustable drive cam on rotary systems or a sliding pump mount plate on lever operations gives full and simple field adjustment of pump stroke and subsequent output.

Each chain is individually metered to suit its size and working environment. Balancing is predetermined at time of assembly and is set in accordance with manufacturers' field tests.

Operator adjustment is simple. By removing the meter unit that supplies a particular chain and replacing with the next number up or down, supply to that one chain will be doubled or halved, while all others remain constant.

It has been found that chain lubrication is only effective in reducing wear if oil is applied in sufficient individual quantity to keep the chain wet above the point where dust collects and grinding paste forms. A wet chain (oil bath condition) is the ideal. Chains must be kept wet for proper equipment operation.

Oil requirement is regular low-cost tractor engine oils SAE 30 to API/CC or API/CD specification.

Vermeer K and I series kits are available through dealers as a factory fit option, or for dealer or operator installation. New Holland 640/650/660 kits are available through dealers for dealer or operator installation.

Fellowship Of Christian Farmers Sets Picnic

YORK (York Co.) — Pennsylvania's first chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Farmers (FCF) International will host its second annual summer picnic on Saturday, Aug. 26, at the Samuel Lewis State Park east of York and near Wrightsville.

Farmers and people involved in greater agriculture in southeast Pennsylvania are cordially invited, said Donald L. Hershey, president of the chapter. Hershey, a Manheim area dairy and poultry producer, encourages spouses and family members to attend. "If you have friends who might benefit from a special time of celebration, inspiration and encouragement, please ask them to come with you."

The event returns to the scenic park overlooking the western shore of the Susquehanna River after last year's successful picnic. Music will be provided by the Country Chapel Singers.

Among several testimonies, the group will hear the personal experiences of George and Julia Holmes, a New York farm couple. Early this summer, they returned from a month-long assignment with the Fellowship of Christian Farmers International in the eastern Europe country of Albania.

FCF will provide a pork and beef barbecue meal for $4 a person. Children under age five are free.

Reservations must be made by Saturday, Aug. 19. Reserve your tickets by calling David and Phoebe Bitler (610) 944-0541. Or mail your reservations, payable to Fellowship of Christian Farmers, to the Bitlers, R.R. 4, Box 4176, Fleetwood, PA 19522.

To get to the park, take the Wrightsville exit off U.S. 30. Follow the signs south.

Deregulation Of Fuel Tanks Benefits Farmers

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—Pennsylvania's new law to deregulate fuel storage tanks will have an impact on farmers with small fuel tanks as well as large farms with tanks for heating fuel, according to Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius.

"Many farmers have been affected by the previous storage tank regulations. This new legislation takes a common sense look at what is happening in the farm community," Brosius said.

The law removes regulatory responsibilities from owners of farm or residential tanks of 1,100 gallons or less used for storing motor fuels for non-commercial use, along with owners of commercial underground tanks storing heating oil that is used on the premises. They were previously required to contribute to an indemnity fund, submit to annual inspections, and meet testing and maintenance requirements.

"It is primarily farmers who have the small storage tanks. They will now be free to run their business and not be bothered by the regulations that previously affected their daily activities," Brosius said.

On June 26, Gov. Tom Ridge signed Act 16, which becomes effective August 25. Rep. Robert D. Reber, Jr. (R-Montgomery) sponsored the legislation, which also provides the agricultural community with representation on the Storage Tank Advisory Committee.

Farm Credit Builds Branch

LEWISBURG (Union Co.)—The board of directors of Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA, has announced the construction of its new branch office location off the Fairfield Road Exit of Rt. 180 in the Fairfield Industrial Park, Montoursville.

Construction is under way as the office plans to move from its current location on Lycoming Creek Road to its new location on November 1.

"We are very please and excited about this move," said James George, branch manager. "It enables us to upgrade our offices to provide superior customer service. The move also helps position Farm Credit to meet the changing financial needs of agribusiness into the future."

Soybeans Hold Important Health Benefits

CHICAGO, Ill.—Dr. James Anderson, professor of medicine at the University of Kentucky, announced the release of "Meta-Analysis of Effects of Soy Protein Intake on Serum Lipids in Humans," a study published in the New England Journal of Medicine. This study provides one more compelling piece of evidence that soybean protein can be a powerful and beneficial part of the human diet.

Anderson's meta-analysis (an intense review of all current research) reveals what scientists have long expected—that the intake of soy protein may result in numerous health benefits, including a reduction in the risk of coronary heart disease. Past research has also shown that soybean protein may help reduce the risk of breast cancer, osteoporosis, and post-menopausal symptoms in women.

"This is the bottom line, increased intake of soy equals decreased risk of coronary heart disease," said Anderson. "In finding practical ways to make soy a part of their everyday diet, Americans can help keep healthy—and keep themselves out of the doctor's office."

Anderson's research, published in the New England Journal of Medicine on Aug. 3, involved six different complicated meta-analysis models of data evaluation including primate studies and over seven hundred human trials. His paper also addresses the practical ways in which people can incorporate soy products into their diet. Anderson said, "Too often the scientific community tells Americans what they need to eat, but doesn't worry about how they'll eat it. Soy can easily be a part of everyone's diet, and this paper helps show people how."

Anderson is professor of medicine and clincial nutrition, University of Kentucky. He also serves as director of the University of Kentucky's Health Management Resources and Weight Management Program, and is chief of the Endocrine—Metabolic Section of the Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Lexington. Anderson has published more than 100 research articles and more than 100 educational articles and books, appearing in the New England Journal of Medicine, the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, and the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition. Anderson also serves on the editorial boards of several health and medical journals and Prevention magazine.

Showring Veteran Holsteins Capture Honors At Lebanon

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — A 5-year-old Holstein owned by Dale Hostetter of Annville was named grand champion of the Lebanon Area Fair open division Holstein show, held August 4 at the Lebanon County Fairgrounds.

Hostetter's Dale-Pride Blacks Kasmira, a Blackstar daughter. was defending champion of the annual Holstein show held during the county fair. She has been a top and consistent show animal for Dale in different Holstein shows.

In addition, Kasmira, an almost all black cow, was judged best bred and owned, also a repeat distinction.

Lynn Miller, of Royal Haven Holsteins in Towanda, was judge of the show. He complimented the Lebanon agricultural community on the quality of the fairgounds and the large, high-ceilinged show barn, which provided human and animal comfort, despite the hot weather.

Miller also spoke highly of the depth of quality in the Holsteins exhibited.

In addition to Hostetter's returning grand champion, Miller selected an almost 11-year-old Holstein owned by Stephanie (Wagner) Anderson as the reserve grand champion of the show.

Anderson's now-aged cow, Ju-Vindale Tradition Bobbie has won several championships for Stephanie over the years. Wagner showed her to win two Lebanon Area Fair supreme championship titles in past county fair youth dairy division shows.

Bobbie was back in the ring and won the praise of not only the judge, but many along the ringside. In addition to showing a large, well-shaped and strong frame, the cow's udder was still above the hocks and the seams and connections appeared strong and healthy, according to the judge.

Stephanie and her husband Chris Anderson, live in the Myerstown area and have a hoof-trimming and show and sale cattle-fitting business. They have started breeding cattle under their own prefix, Kissamee Holsteins. They keep their animals at the farm of Stephanie's parents — Vince and Julie Wagner, owner of Ju-Vindale Holsteins, in Myerstown.

Ju-Vindale Holsteins showed strongly, capturing both the premier exhibitor and premier breeder banners, having exhibited animals that won seven first place class finishes.

Their senior 3-year-old, Kerchenhill Leader Carol, was named best udder of the show. Bred by Raymond Seidel, of Kutztown, it was purchased as a calf at a Lebanon County Spring Promise calf sale.

They also showed the junior champion, a winter yearling, Ju-Vindale Skybuck Duchess, a bred and owned daugther of Hanoverhill Skybuck.

The Wagners also showed the first place senior 2-year-old, junior 3-year-old, and senior 3-year-old. However, while Hostetter didn't show as many animals this year as he has in previous years, his 5-year-old Kasmira outdrew the judge's attention over the younger cows.

Jay Bomgardner, of Ono, showed the reserve junior champion of the show, a spring calf, Loving-Meadows Tannuck, a daughter of Carnation Counselor.

His parents, John and Margaret Bomgardner own Loving-Meadows Canadian Holsteins Farm, located in Ono. Past multiple winners of the county Holstein premier breeder and exhibitor awards, the Bomgardner family still faired well, showing several animals with first and second class placings, including the junior best three animals and the produce of dam.

PFGC Pasture Walk Aug. 31

HONEY GROVE (Juniata Co.) — The Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council (PFGC) will sponsor a grazing field day and pasture walk on Thursday, Aug. 31, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. here at the farm of Ed and Lorraine Rits.

The Ritses began subdividing their pastures and cropland in 1988 to use management intensive rotational grazing to feed their beef cattle. In the years since, 11 kinds of fence wire, 15 kinds of posts, and 12 varieties of minitubs have been used.

Eighteen varieties of grasses and legumes are on the menu for the herd. See on-farm demonstrations of frost seeding and no-till seeding. Also see the results of static composting, raw manure pasture fertilization, and water consumption results from black or white pipe.

Also see stabilized stock lanes, streambank fencing, and static composting. A farmstead environmental assessment will be explained by Jerry Martin of the Pequea Mill Creek Project.

Those who have questions about grazing will have the opportunity to "ask the experts." Doug Beegle and Marvin Hall from Penn State, Tom Calvert and Duane Pysher from Natural Resources Conservation Service, Ed Willow from Pennsylvania Game Commission, and others will be available.

The Rits' farm is located on Rt. 75, 16 miles southwest of Port Royal or 26 miles northeast of turnpike, Exit 14. The registration fee of $6 includes lunch. Reservations are appreciated.

For additional information, contact field day coordinator Ed Rits at (717) 734-3745.

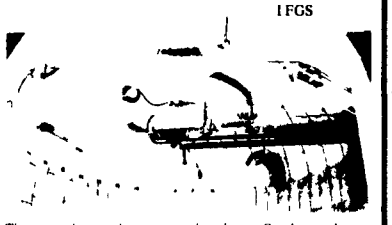
HI LIFT
I FGS



The new advance design Volumaxx unloader gives you the best of both worlds your choice of distribution. New HI LIFT legs let you raise the unloader an extra 15 into the silo roof so you can use a conventional side distributor. Or choose the Jamesway Powermaxx™ broad pan silage distributor. With proper distribution you'll have better quality feed and you'll increase your silo's capacity up to 35%. And we can prove it!

Volumaxx™ unloader. Expect the best from the leader

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

The major costs on dairy and livestock farms are related to FEED: production...harvesting...storage...purchases...delivery to animals. Significant savings in time and money are possible when you store and deliver your feed from a poured concrete silo.

"As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency: This can have as great an influence on Profit as milk price changes."

Protect your valuable feeds from rain, sleet, snow, mud, ice, wind and the sun's heat. Reduce the stress. INCREASE THE EFFICIENCY OF YOUR FEEDS, LABOR, AND LIVESTOCK!

At Sollenberger Silos Corp. we know a lot about feed storage and handling; we've been in the business since 1908. If your plans call for new feed storage, give us a call...We'd like to contribute to your success!!

NO USED SILOS!
NO REBUILT SILOS!
NO PRE-OWNED SILOS!
ALL NEW FOR YOU.

JAMESWAY DIRECT X-PRESS SYSTEM

NEW BELT FEEDERS & CONVEYORS

Big Capacity Delivery With All The Advantages Of Dependable, Efficient, Low Profile Direct Drive Design!

That's what farmers really appreciate about the new Jamesway family of Direct X-Press Feeders and Conveyors. All models feature a dependable and efficient heavy duty industrial drive, with enclosed oil bath and standard 1, 2 or 3 H.P. C-faced motors. Our direct drive design eliminates pulleys, jackshafts, sprockets chains, V-belts and shields, the low profile motor and drive can be mounted on either side for added installation versatility.

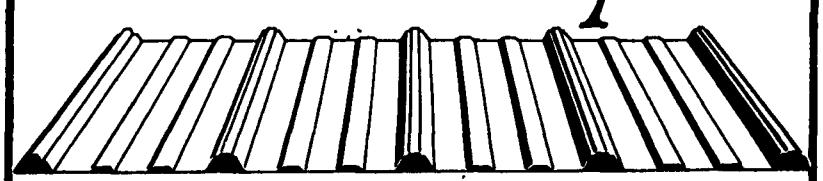
Rural Economy



Cost-efficient Centurydrain™ roofing and siding is on some of the best looking buildings in the country.

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

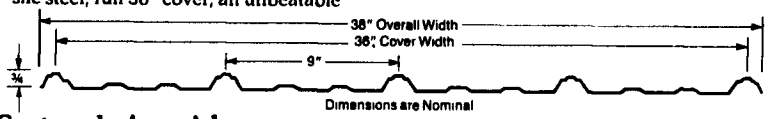
WHEELING
Centurydrain™

A country slicker with an in-town attitude.

Tough Centurydrain is a slick looking roofing and siding that'll do a job for you in rural applications, and one that you can use for in-town or suburban structures without apology

Centurydrain is packed with quality features. 100% American-made high tensile steel, full 36" cover, an unbeatable drain channel, and snug side laps Your building stays tight, dry, and lasts through years of punishing wind and weather.

Centurydrain is an economical, thoroughly practical building material, a slick choice for rural, suburban, and commercial applications



Centurydrain quick specs

- Full-hard 90,000 psi galvanized steel construction
- Popular 38" width (36" cover)
- Available in galvanized G-90 and in ten rich, 20-year warranted baked-on silicon polyester enamel colors
- Three quarter inch major ribs on 9" centers along with prominent intermediate ribs to provide strength, snug fit and clean lines
- 29 gauge
- Also available. 28 gauge, 2 oz. galvanized Wheeling Seal of Quality—heavier, galvanized coated sheet for extra wear and long life We're so confident of its durability that we offer this product s own special 20-year limited warranty

Drain Channel

The exclusive leakproof drain channel adds strength at each joint; prevents capillary action, stays weather tight, interiors stay dry, snug

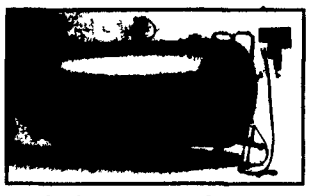
MUELLER DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31 000	$28 000
Cost of electricity @ 08 kW for 12 000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17 550	$22 850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48 550	$50 850
Savings	$ 2 300

INTRODUCING...

SWEETCAKE 16NU

FEED SUPPLEMENT BLOCKS FOR THE LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

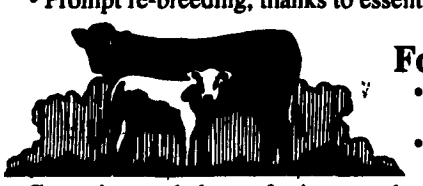
- High Natural Protein • No Urea • Fat Enhanced
- Balanced Supplementation • Safe For All Livestock Classes

Sweetcake Advantages

- Aids in making the best use of your available forage
- Promotes a more even herd consumption, with 24-hour availability to all cattle
- Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
- Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
- Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake

For Dairy

- Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
- Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
- Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems
- Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients



For Beef

- Stronger, healthier calves at birth
- Heavier Calves at weaning
- Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
- Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

- AVAILABLE IN 200 LB. SIZE -

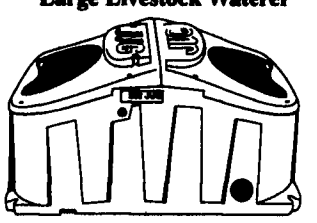
The cleanest waterer ever invented!

Self-cleaning
The JUG is designed so that debris and feed are sucked up from the feed trap in the bowl with each watering; debris won't foul the water.

Low-maintenance
Light-tight design so that algae and odors won't build-up in The JUG's interior.

Animals adapt easily
The JUG is designed so that animals, even calves, can suck water naturally, no balls or flaps to get in the way.

The JUG
Large Livestock Waterer


Choose 1, 2 or 4 bowl, energy-free, or energy-efficient models.
Meets requirements for dairy approval.

LLAMAS
LLAMAS

If you've been considering starting in llamas, or having a llama for a pet, why not stop in to see our herd.

Our young males start at $500, our weanling females at $2,500, our pregnant females at $3,500. A deposit will hold any of our crias (baby llamas) for you.

We prefer selling off the farm, rather than subjecting our animals to the stress of auctions.

All of our llamas are registered with the International Llama Registry. Some of the finest wool and blood lines can be found in our herd, including Otter Creek Harold.

All llamas can be halter led, and are gently trained by teenagers.

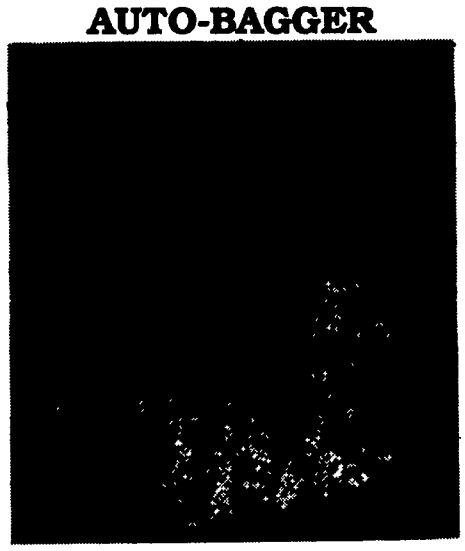
AUTO-BAGGER



The Fast, Efficient Answer To All Your Bagging Needs!

DESIGNED FOR USE WITH MOLASSES FEED

- Portable
- Compact
- Efficient
- Adjustable
- Fast
- Accurate
- Affordable

25-2000 LB. BAGS

WHY INVEST IN AN AUTO-BAGGER?
RAPID RETURN OF YOUR INVESTMENT

HERE IS HOW!
- Could save you $17,680 in one year
- Labor savings - you should eliminate at least one man now used in bagging ($6.00/hour x 40 hrs. = $240 for one man)
- Accuracy - most men will add about 1 lb. of feed per bag to avoid being short on the scale (based on 1,000 bags/ week at 10¢ a lb. = $100.00 per week savings)

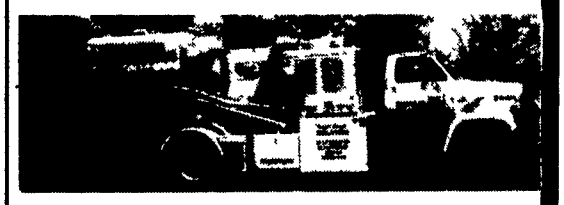
MANY USES
- Portable - bag almost anything anywhere one machine to serve several bagging needs

PRESERVE FEED QUALITY
- Direct bagging from mixer of molasses feed, saves feed texture

EASY CLEAN OUT
- Avoid contamination of feed

OPTIONAL RAILCAR UNLOADER
OPTIONAL MOLASSES BLENDER AVAILABLE

MOBILE TEXTUREATOR® MILL



FEATURES:
- Now Available With 2 Sets of Rolls
- Textureated Ear Corn Milling (cob hammered, kernels rolled)
- Roller Mills • Hammer Mills
- Electronic Scales

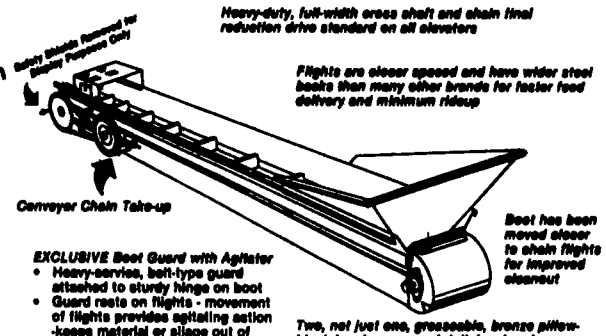
- Stronger Construction
- Smoother, More Dependable Operation
- Wider Choice of Accessories
- Lower Cost



Heavy-duty, full-width cross shaft and chain final reduction drive standard on all elevators
Flights are closer spaced and have wider steel backs than many other brands for faster feed delivery and minimum ridedup
Conveyor Chain Take-up
Boot has been moved closer to chain flights for improved cleanout

EXCLUSIVE Boot Guard with Agitator
- Heavy-service, bolt-type guard attached to sturdy hinge on boot
- Guard rests on flights - movement of flights provides agitating action -keeps material or silage out of boot and moving up the elevator

E-Z Open Cleanout Hole with Swinging Door provides quick access to boot

Two, not just one, greaseable, bronze pillow-block bearings on each tail, head and cross shaft for longer sprocket, shaft and bearing life

Quoad Hoc Committee Minutes

August 4, 1995

Common Law Writ of Proclamation

United States of America) SS De Jure People in and for ) the United States of America, Country of Pennsylvania) for Pennsylvania state, ex rel.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENT:

In the name and by the inherent power of the De Jure People, of Our posterity, "of necessity" under Our self-governing Right and Duty, of Our Right of Descent and Laws of nature and of natures' God and with the Counsel of and Accountability to Nature's God who is The Supreme Sovereign, and according to the "character of the party". We hereby command the Third Circuit Court of Appeals to enforce, "In Law", Our Article III Common Law Courts' decisions.

WHEREAS the legislated appellate division of the courts, are obligated to enforcing private foreign law (policy), against the will, happiness, well being, and posterity of the People. By forcing a private and monetary system upon the People, causing involuntary slavery forced upon Us, the UNITED STATES and "its" subdivisions, through usurped authority, is causing the unnecessary bankruptcy of this entire Nation.

WHEREAS the federal government caused and continues to cause this nation to be in a constant national emergency, since 1933, by the means of usurped authority, granting themselves power to legislate in all cases whatsoever and unlawfully extending war time jurisdiction across this land and over the People in times of peace. Having effectively suspended the 1787 Constitution for United Sates of America, the foreign entity known as the UNITED STATES has asserted "its" self as a god, attempting to make the People "subject" to "it" by threat, deceit, and coercion with obviously no obligation for the common welfare, safety or happiness of the People or their posterity.

WHEREAS the Magna Carta (Our Organic Constitution providing the Writ of Praecipe to all Freemen never losing his court, with no pleas of the crown) is instrumental in forming the principles of Our Supreme Law of the Land (Common Law) and guaranteed Republican self-governing form of government.

WHEREAS Our 1787 National Constitution (as restriction upon Government and our 1791 Bill of Rights) Guaranteed Due Process of Law, and all other Rights to the people, inviolate.

WHEREAS according to the 11th Amendment the Judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State.

WHEREAS the principles of the Declaration of Independence provide for separate and equal station and provide for the necessary and obligation of the People (Master) to enforce Justice for all and, when it becomes necessary, "... That whenever any form of Government becomes destructive of the ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness...

WHEREAS no titles of nobility or honor are citizens of these United States united by Constitution in America. A self-licensing association known as the "Bar Association" has been allowed to grant itself a "title of nobility and honor". The "Bar Association" has granted itself the "privilege" of declaring the People incompetent and themselves "officers of the court". As they operate on both sides of all disputes, they are obviously extremely monetarily motivated to cause as many problems as possible. These federally "privilege" persons, through their many acts of barretry, have caused severe damage and harm to the People and their Nation.

WHEREAS the Defacto State of Pennsylvania pledged its sovereignty and joined as a compact party state, a subdivision under the Federal Union i.e. the Corporation of the District of Columbia, and violated Article I, Section 10, Our National Constitution by accepting Socialistic New Deal Democracy, without the will of the people, thereby losing its De Jure Character and Capacity and taking on a de facto status as a police state.

BE IT RESOLVED therefore, We the People, now the De Jure State in Fact, pursuant Our Guaranteed Republican form of government, do hereby invoke all rights and remedies through the Constitutional Oaths of all officers of the court of the Third Circuit. Our Peoples' Supreme Court with Original and Exclusive Jurisdiction established by Article III, by the People and for the People, by the 1787 National Constitution, is sitting with coordinate jurisdiction to Our National Circuit Court (Third Circuit) established by Section Eleven in the 1789 Judiciary Act, (United States Statutes at Large, Vol 1, P. 73 ff) by an Act of Congress, with concurrent Original Jurisdiction at Common Law or in equity in a civil nature to the courts of the several states; --- and exclusive Jurisdiction of all crimes and offenses cognizable under the authority of the United States, except as otherwise provided.

All Constitutional Judicial Officers need necessarily to reply with any and all disputes of the content and spirit of this document. The Third Circuit Court shall be given Ten (10) days after the last publication, that being the 25th day of August, 1995, in which to reply. Silence shall be considered total agreement. Affidavit form shall be used and sent via certified return receipt mail to specified address below.

So done this 4th day of August, the year of our Lord 1995 A.D.

That's because from the day each new vehicle joins our fleet, it goes on the most rigorous, carefully designed preventive maintenance programs in the industry. With check up after check up. And with one final, painstaking inspection right before it goes on the market. To make sure each and every one of our vehicles meet our Road Ready requirements. So if you're looking for a used truck, look to Ryder. We'll help qualified buyers with financing. And we'll give you a unique, 30-day limited warranty that shows how confident we are about the superiority of our maintenance standards. Call the Ryder location nearest you. Today. And take a Ryder used truck for a little road test of your own.

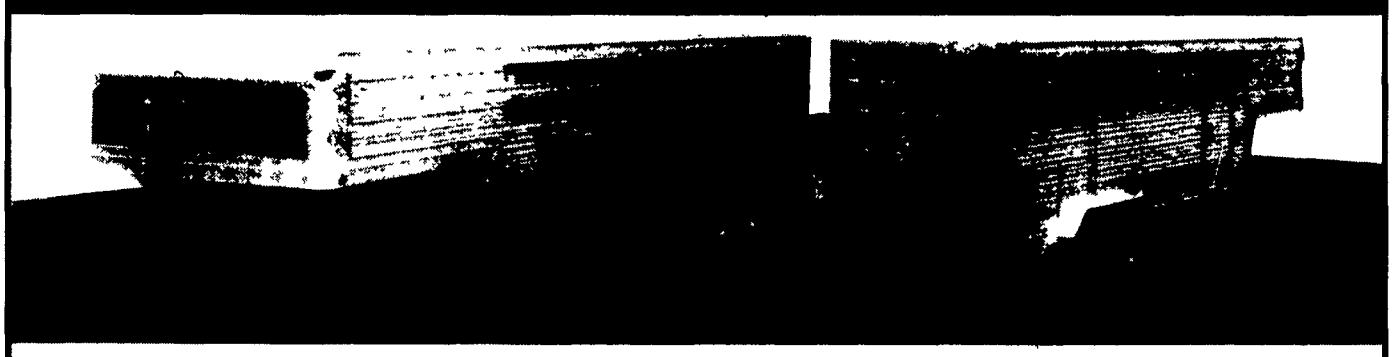
Anything Less Isn't Good Enough



If livestock is your business, Eby Gooseneck Trailers include these features to protect the livestock you transport:
- Durable all-aluminum construction with less weight for more payload
- Axles, wheels, tires and brakes that are designed to carry the weight the trailer will hold
- Gates and doors designed for easy loading/unloading
- Proven post and slat design to control airflow and easily close up for winter conditions
- Aerodynamic design to improve fuel economy

Eby Gooseneck Trailers are available in lengths from 12 to 32 feet with a choice of widths and inside heights. We offer every custom option, including stainless steel front end for great looks.

Whatever kind of livestock you transport, you can rely on EBY products to do the job right.

Eby custom-builds bodies and trailers for all types of livestock, grain and farm commodities.

(Great Potato Soils)

Located in Berks, Lehigh and Montgomery Counties, PA

A rare opportunity to own a beautiful private valley. Formerly the world class Masten Potato Farm, the land consists of level to gently rolling fields, and a beautiful stream valley with water for irrigation. The buildings feature an exceptional circa 1730 Stone House with six bedrooms and four huge fireplaces with a quaint entryway to the grounds, passing between the gate house and the stone bank barn and over two stone bridges to the Farm House. There is also a large Federal brick farm house. In total there are eight farm houses six of which are stone, two large stone bank barns and grain storage for 70,000 bushels. This farm has excellent potential for a potato farm, equestrian estate or ideal for a shooting/hunting estate or club. This farm is Registered Shooting Grounds Call for a brochure on this and other fine farms and estates. Could be divided into many smaller farms.

Community Show Sept. 8-10

THURMONT, Md. — This year marks the 39th anniversary of the Thurmont and Emmitsburg Community Show, scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 8-10 at Catoctin High School.

More than 2,500 farm and garden, household, quilt, livestock, machinery, and commercial displays can be seen during the three-day event.

Each year, the Community Show honors an organization for its contributions to community life. This year, the show will be celebrating the 25th anniversary of the Thurmont Community Ambulance Service, Inc.

The show opens Friday, Sept. 8, at 6 p.m. to the public. At 7:30 p.m., the opening program will begin in the auditorium with the massing of the flags by community civic organizations. Jerry Free will sing several vocal selections during the program. Also during the program, the Community Ambulance Service will be honored. The highlight of the program will be the announcement of the 1995-1996 Catoctin FFA student ambassador.

Following the program at 9 p.m., an auction of all baked products exhibited at the show will be held in the auditorium.

Saturday's activities include a pet show at 10:30 a.m. and the Beef, Sheep and Swine Fitting and Show contest from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The Thurmont Grange will serve a family-style turkey and ham supper in the school cafeteria from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The Catoctin Area FFA Alumni Beef, Sheep and Swine Sale will be held in the Agriculture Center at 7 p.m.

On Sunday, Spet. 11, the show opens at 10:30 a.m. with a dairy and goat show. At noon, a chicken barbecue dinner will be served by the Catoctin FFA Alumni in the school cafeteria.

"Dash for Mash" pig, goat, and duck races will be held every hour from 1-4 p.m. by Merle Mills, a Montgomery County farmer. The Catoctin Mountain Horseshoe Pitching contest will begin at 2 p.m. Barnyard Bingo, sponsored by the Catoctin FFA Alumni, will begin at 2 p.m. on the athletic practice field. Chandra Curry will have a rodeo event at 2 p.m. near the Ag Center.

Tyson and Sylvia Creamer will demonstrate sheep shearing at 1:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m., and there will be a spinning and weaving demonstration by Deborah May.

During the three-day show, the Catoctin FFA and Hunting Creek Fisheries will have an aquaculture display in the Ag Shop area. The Tom's Creek Church Quilters will be quilting in the quilt and afghan display room. The Loys Station Covered Bridge model, USS Monocacy model and Church of St. Louis IX model will be on display by Dennis DaSilva and Paul Barbot. Carl Angleberger will have a small airplane on display.

Over 160 Entries At First Northern Tier District Holstein Show

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Correspondent
Bradford County

MESHOPPEN (Wyoming County) — Strains of organ music filled the air as over 160 cows and heifers were guided around the decorated arena at the first annual Northern Tier District Holstein Show.

Held at the Wyoming County Fairgrounds on August 3, the show was the result of months of planning after state Holstein directors at their February meeting unanimously voted to split the Northeast district.

Both Lynn and Bonnie Miller and Lloyd and Denise Pease made marks in the record book as they were named premier breeder and premier exhibitor respectively.

In the youth show, grand champion and reserve grand champion distinction went to a pair of senior 3-year-olds.

Matthew Pease took the top place with his class winner, C Frankcor Magic. The reserve position was held by Shelly Woodmansee's Jericho Dairy Logic Charm.

A junior exhibitor's animal was in the limelight in both the senior and junior divisions when judge Gary Culbertson, of Hobart, N.Y. picked the junior champions.

Steve Pavelski won the honor of being the junior champion in both divisions as his fall calf, JoSan Counselor Flora, took the top position.

"It's always fun when the juniors beat the seniors," Culbertson laughed, as he announced his winner.

Named reserve junior champion in the senior division was Lynn and Bonnie Miller's Royal Haven Queenie - ET, a spring calf.

Sale Raises $21,000 For Youth

JOANNE E. MORVAY
Adams Co. Correspondent

ARENDTSVILLE (Adams Co.) — The 12th Annual Adams County 4-H/FFA Swine and Sheep Sale grossed more than $21,000 for local youth.

Sheep averaged $1.51 per pound for a total sale gross of $3,788.85. Twenty-six lambs were sold.

Hogs went for $1.11 per pound, on average, for total returns of $17,317.10. Sixty-seven hogs were sold.

The grand champion hog belonged to Jonathan Reinecker of York Springs. The 236-pound animal was sold to Hatfield's for $3 per pound.

Jonathan, 12, also exhibited the fair's grand champion hog in 1992 — the first year he began showing. That animal was also sold to Hatfield's for $3 per pound. Jonathan said he was surprised by this year's champion honors, "because I didn't think the pig was as good as the judge rated it."

This year's reserve grand champion hog — also the champion lightweight hog — was exhibited and sold by 8-year-old Missy Jeffcoat of Littlestown.

Missy looked, said she's no light weight.

She brought another hog and some steers to this year's fair and she was never intimidated by any of her animals.

"They're all prety nice," she said.

In fact, Missy was sorry to see her prize hog go. It was bought by Feeser's Hog Farm of New Oxford for $2.05 per pound.

The Adams County grand champion and reserve champion sheep were shown by Jerry Sponseller of Abbottstown.

The 22-year-old is a member of the New Oxford FFA chapter. He said he was overwhelmed to win the champion and reserve titles at the same time.

Jerry bought his prizewinning lambs from his uncle, Dale Sponseller, of Abbottstown.

His secret to success?

"I held back a lot on feed this year," he said.

Jerry's grand champion lamb went to Hanover Agway for $3.15 per pound. Sponseller buys all his feed from the Hanover farm store.

Jerry's reserve champion lamb was sold to The Country Butcher Shop in Carlisle for $2.40 per pound.

Jonathan Reinecker sold the grand champion hog — which also won the middleweight champion award — to Hatfield's for $3 per pound. Reinecker also received a traveling trophy for his efforts.

Dennis Axline of Hanover Agway and FFA winner Jerry Sponseller of Abbottstown. The Hanover farm store bought Sponseller's Grand Champion lamb, which weighed 86 pounds.

Olde Tyme Days

MANCHESTER (York Co.) — South Central Penn Historic Lifestyle and Power Society, a nonprofit organization will be holding its annual Olde Tyme Days, one mile north of the square in Manchester on Route 181. The show allows people to learn firsthand the way things used to be in a fun and exciting way. It also allows the people of that generation to relive the past for five days, Aug. 23-27.

This year an exciting show is planned, including the national and state plowing contests, J.I. Case Collectors National Meet, horse pulling and plowing contests, working steam engines, a threshing, and baling machine, a shingle mill, and a saw mill. For the younger crowd, there are children's games, crafts, and a petting zoo.

For those who love to shop, come and see the flea and craft markets. If you have a craving for a good home style meal, the show has just the thing.

Besides having many varieties of food, drinks, and ice cream, there are four special dinners: On Thursday at 5 p.m., hot beef sandwiches; On Friday at 5:30 p.m., a chicken pot pie dinner; Saturdy at noon, a pig roast; and Sunday at 11:30, a ham dinner. There is also entertainment, an Early Era fashion show, and more.

For more information, call (717) 266-7200 the week of the show.

Brantner Big Winner At Colored Breeds Show

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co.
Correspondent

Brantner, who is from Lurgan, won the FFA Brown Swiss grand champion award with her senior 3-year-old, Swamp Creek Jill. She also had the Brown Swiss reserve grand champion with her winter yearling, Willow Grove Start Rek Jill.

Afterward, Brantner had the FFA Guernsey grand champion with her 5-year-old Franks Princess Di. She then took the FFA Milking Shorthorn grand champion title for her senior 2-year-old, Twilite Big Time Star, and also captured the FFA and open reserve champion awards for Milking Shorthorns with her senior 2-year-old, Walnut Hollows Cathy.

Michael Brant of Mount Union took home his share of victories as well.

He started by winning the Ayrshire grand champion award with his senior 2-year-old, Rushing Springs Mose Misty, and took the open reserve champion honor for the same animal.

C. David Layman of Waynesboro won the 4-H and open Guernsey grand champion titles with his 4-year-old, Hooverville Alfs Roseanna.

The FFA reserve grand champion for Ayrshires was Richard Martin of Chambersburg with his senior 2-year-old, Benefactor Maya Mandy.

The 4-H Ayrshire reserve grand champion was Jennifer Zinn of Newville and her 4-year-old, Maulfair Acres Legend Gay.

Amy Witmer of Newburg won the Brown Swiss 4-H reserve grand champion award for her winter calf, Lo-Vi Tasha M K Tena.

The 4-H and open reserve grand champion Guernsey winner was Brian W. Nailor of Mechanicsburg and his fall calf, McCullough Slymer Flirt.

Agway, Farmland Form Joint Venture

SYRACUSE, N.Y./KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Two of America's largest and most respected farmer-owned cooperatives—Agway Inc., headquartered in Syracuse, NY and Farmland Industries, Inc., based in Kansas City, MO—announced that they have agreed to form a joint animal feed ingredients purchasing operation to improve operating efficiencies, ensure consistent product quality and availability, and enhance services to their farmer-owner/customers throughout the Northeastern and Midwestern sectors of the United States.

The agreement calls for the creation of a joint venture company, AFI, which would serve as the purchasing arm for the two cooperatives' feed businesses. To be based in Kansas City, MO, the new company would handle the acquisition of raw ingredients used for animal feeds.

Douglas W. Mallie has been named president of AFI. Currently, Mr. Mallie is director of agriculture purchasing and supply for Agway Inc.

"This joint venture will benefit the farmer-owners of both Agway and Farmland. Overall, the economics of today's agricultural marketplace make it likely that this type of joint venture between cooperatives will become more commonplace," said Don Schalk, vice president, Agriculture and Related Services, Agway Inc.

"This is an excellent example of two organizations with the shared goal of serving farmers getting together to address common needs and challenges. AFI will improve the competition position of both cooperatives and enable us to meet more effectively the needs of our respective customers," said Mike Sweat, vice president, Feed, Farmland Industries, Inc.

The new joint venture should result in improved efficiencies for both cooperatives and for suppliers now doing business with the two cooperatives separately. "AFI will allow both companies to capitalize on marketplace synergies to benefit both Agway's and Farmland's livestock farmers," said Doug Mallie. "AFI will be able to take advantage of optimum feed ingredient markets."

AFI will serve the two cooperatives' more than 600,000 farmer-owners in 35 states. Its trade area represents about 81% of the total livestock and poultry marketings in the United States including: 6.9 million dairy cows, 24.3 million head of beef cattle, 48.9 million hogs and 256.6 million poultry.

The formation of AFI is not expected to have any immediate or significant impact on employment numbers at either cooperative. Agway operates 16 feed mills and Farmland has 22 feed mills.

Agway Inc. is owned by 87,000 farmer-members in 12 Northeastern states. Agway produces and markets dairy and livestock feeds, crop needs and services, farm-related products, pet foods and supplies, and yard and garden products. Agway is a diversified business with sales of $1.7 billion in FY 1993-'94. Its subsidiaries are involved in natural food processing and marketing, energy products, lease financing, insurance and other related businesses.

Farmland Industries, Inc. is owned directly by about 1,500 local farmer-owned cooperatives (representing a half million farmer-owners) and by more than 13,000 livestock producers. The nation's largest regional agribusiness cooperative—with nearly $7 billion in sales in FY 1994—Farmland supplies crop nutrients and protection products, energy products, feed and animal health products, and technical information services to its owner-members. Farmland also processes and markets its farmer-owners' pork, beef, and grain to customers around the world.

Color Breeds Show Honors Show, Fitting Champions

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co.
Correspondent

SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.)—Steven Cornman of Carlisle was the oldest winner and Sarah Wickard of Shippensburg was the youngest during the Color Breed Showing and Fitting Contest at the Shippensburg Fair.

Cornman, 41, won his distinction by emerging as the victor in the adult class of the contest. The award for that class was sponsored by the Cumberland Valley Jersey Breeders.

Wickard was the first place winner in the kiddie class, a first-time event that was open to children under age 8. Lonnie and Vicki Wickard sponsored the trophy for that class.

All the other trophies for the contest were sponsored by John and Linda Ocker and family.

The senior division winner was Richard Martin of Chambersburg. Bradley Reichard, also of Chambersburg, took second, while Julie Dyarman captured third.

The competition in the intermediate division saw Barbara Reichard of Chambersburg emerge as the first-place winner.

Becky Cornman of Carlisle took the second place spot in that division. The third place position was won by Curtis Reichard of Chambersburg.

In the junior division, Aaron Cornman of Carlisle finished first and Matthew Reichard of Chambersburg finished in second. Third place was won by Mark Fulton of Shippensburg.

Richard Martin was the first place finisher in the championship class.

The judge for the competition was Roger Crider of Chambersburg, who farms 180 acres and milks 62 Holsteins in partnership with his brother.

Steven Cornman, Carlisle, was the winner of the adult competition of the color breeds showing and fitting class at the Shippensburg Fair. Frances Reichard, Cumberland Valley Jersey Breeders, presented the award.

Sarah Wickard was the winner of the kiddie class at the showing and fitting competition. Sponsor of the trophy was Lonnie and Vicki Wickard.

Winning the championship class award was Richard Martin, Chambersburg. Presenting the trophy was John Ocker, III with judge, Roger Crider.

Holstein Is Champion Of Carroll County Show

JOANNE E. MORVAY
Maryland Correspondent

WESTMINSTER, Md.—Extreme heat and humidity forced many competitors to leave their cows at home, but there was still a good turnout for the Dairy Show at Carroll County's 4-H/FFA Fair.

The show was held Aug. 4 at the annual fair in Westminster. The judge was Mike Iager.

The show was dedicated to the memory of Sidney Lease, a Union Bridge dairyman who passed away earlier this summer. Lease was a longtime supporter of the dairy show and the fair.

Supreme champion of this year's fair was a Holstein, Windsor Manor Del May, shown by Jeff Sutton of New Windsor.

Sutton, 15, also won champion fitting and showing honors.

Jeff, the only child of Richard and Kathleen Sutton, has been showing cows since he was eight.

This year has been especially good for him, however.

He placed well at the district show earlier in the summer and that "started a little momentum that carried me into the fair," he said.

"I stuck to the same old stuff," Jeff said. "But I've learned a lot over the years, especially from watching older people (show)."

And his cow May previously won reserve All Maryland and reserve junior All Maryland honors.

But Jeff has never done well in fitting and showing. This year's win "was a real surprise to me," he said.

Jeff said the awards don't mean as much to him as the competition itself, however.

"I like the competition," he said. "Winning doesn't really matter as long as I go out and have fun."

A sophomore at Francis Scott Key High School, Jeff belongs to the school's FFA chapter. He also plays soccer and wrestles.

He is vice president of the Union Bridge 4-H Club and a member of the Carroll County Dairy Club.

Jeff works for Marlin Hoff of Coldsprings Farm in New Windsor.

Jeff and his parents own 11 cows—most of which are his show animals. The Suttons keep their cattle at the Hoff farm.

Jeff eventually plans to go to college to become a veterinarian.

"I'd like to do that for a few years and then gradually work up to having my own farm," he said.

Adams County Holds Dairy Show

JOANNE E. MORVAY
Adams Co. Correspondent

ARENDTSVILLE (Adams Co.) — The Adams County 4-H Dairy Show was held July 29 at the county's annual 4-H Fair at the South Mountain Fairgrounds.

An entertainment highlight of the show was a calf-dressing contest featuring 4-H'ers and local elected officials. County commissioners Harry Stokes and Richard Waybright participated as did Thomas Davidson, an aide to Rep. William Goodling.

Commissioner Waybright and the 4-H team of brothers Jesse and Jonathan Murren won the contest.

Thomas Boyer of York judged the dairy show. Boyer's daughter, Bridgett Boyer Bortner, judged fitting and showmanship.

Ribbons were distributed by Adams County Dairy Princess Julie Zepp.

Holstein classes placed as follows:

Spring Calf: 1. Carl Wilkinson; 2. Matthew Guise; 3. Jacob Waybright.
Winter Calf: 1. Shannon Holtzinger; 2. Brandy Rhodes; 3. Nathan Rhodes.
Fall Calf: 1. Matthew Guise.

Junior 3-Year-Old: 1. Shannon Holtzinger.
Senior 3-Year-Old: 1. Shannon Holtzinger.
Six Years and Older: 1. Matthew Guise.

The award for the best five Holsteins bred and owned by the exhibitor went to Ashleigh Van Lieu.

In the Adams County 4-H Jershey Show, Carrie Stevens of York Springs won senior champion honors with a first place senior 2-year-old and the junior champion award with a first place spring calf. A summer yearling shown by Brandy Rhodes was reserve junior champion.

Placings were as follows:

Spring Calf: 1. Carrie Stevens.
Fall Calf: 1. Nathan Rhodes; 2. Carrie Stevens.
Summer Yearling: Brandy Rhodes.
Spring Yearling: 1. Chase Rhodes; 2. Molly Van Lieu.

Eight Brown Swiss animals were shown. Joy Hess of Gettysburg showed the senior champion, the reserve senior champion, the reserve junior champion, best bred and owned and the first place dry cow. The junior champion Brown Swiss was a fall yearling shown by Brandy Rhodes of Gettysburg. Kristen Hill of York Springs showed the first place summer yearling and the second place dry cow.

Brothers Jesse and Jonathan Murren of New Oxford competed against each other in the Guernsey show. Jesse's 4-year-old was named senior champion and his fall yearling was reserve junior champion. Jonathan won junior champion honors with his first place winter yearling.

The junior champion Ayrshire was a spring calf, Palmyra Loverboy Ginger, shown by Joshua Ramsburg of Gettysburg. Ramsburg's senior 2-year-old won senior champion honors. Fitting and showmanship awards were given in three divisions. The winners will represent Adams County in district competition.

Senior: 1. Carrie Stevens; 2. Anthony Hill.
Intermediate: 1. Shannon Holtzinger; 2. Kristen Hill.
Junior: 1. Chase Rhodes; 2. Langdon Ramsburg.

Jacob Waybright was named Champion fitter. Kristen Hill was Reserve Champion.

Thirty-six animals will compete in the South Central District Show on Aug. 26 in Harrisburg. Adams County will be represented by Joy Hess; Kristen and Anthony Hill; Brandy, Chase and Nathan Rhodes; Jacob Waybright; Carrie Stevens; Matthew Guise; Carl Wilkinson; Shannon Holtzinger; Ashleigh and Molly Van Lieu; and Jesse and Jonathan Murren.

The Adams County 4-H Beef Club also held a fitting and showmanship contest July 29 at the county fair. The judge was John Housner.

Ashley Stine of East Berlin won champion honors in the senior division. Bert Martin of Ortanna was reserve champion.

Intermediate division champion was Cami Topper of East Berlin. Reserve champion honors went to Kyle Grim of East Berlin.

Three champions were chosen in the Junior Division — William Bailey of Gettysburg, Missy Jeffcoat of Littlestown, and Cody Claassen of Mcknightstown.

The Adams County Beef Show and Sale is scheduled for Oct. 26 at the South Mountain Fairgrounds near Arendtsville.

Chop Bedding Materials Safely

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—Farm animals, like people, need a good night's rest. To help them get it, farmers use bedding materials such as straw, sawdust and newspaper. Animal bedding often is chopped, a task that can be hazardous.

If you chop your own bedding, it's wise to keep a few precautions in mind.

"No matter what type of machine you use to chop bedding materials, be sure to take appropriate precautions to prevent injuries and accidents," said Dr. James Hilton, associate professor of agricultural engineering in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Start by reading the operator's manual. Be familiar with the manufacturer's warnings and follow the recommended safety practices at all times. Never remove safety guards from the machine."

Foreign objects such as rocks, metal cans and other garbage may be mixed in with newspaper. "You should always wear eye protection when chopping in case the machine throws debris into the air," Hilton said. "Don't allow casual observers nearby while a machine is running."

Keep the safety of your animals in mind, too. "If you're chopping inside the barn, keep the machine as far from the animals as possible. Flying debris can hurt cows or horses as well as you."

Accidents are likely if you try to unclog the chopping machine while it's running. "The blades on most choppers are very close to the discharge opening, so keep your hands well away from it," Hilton said. "If your chopper becomes clogged, turn it off and wait until the motor has stopped completely before trying to unclog it. Never try to clear it with a broom handle or stick while the machine is running.

"Wear leather gloves when unclogging the machine—the cutting mechanisms are extremely sharp. Blades strong enough to chop a bale of newspaper or straw can easily do the same to your hands."

Chopping newspaper and straw can fill the air with dust and organic particles that can cause severe respiratory problems. "Protect your lungs by wearing a particle mask or respirator to filter the air," Hilton said.

Bedding materials, including newspaper, also can burn very quickly, so treat them with caution. "It only takes one spark to create a disaster," said Hilton. "Be prepared by keeping fire extinguishers and a water source inside the barn. Take steps to minimize the potential for sparks and flames in the barn, especially during hot, dry weather."

If you're using a gas-powered chopper, be sure to let it cool and take it outdoors before adding fuel. Wipe up any fuel spills and store combustible materials away from bedding materials.

To keep any machine operating smoothly and safely, clean it often. "A dirty machine isn't just an eyesore. It also can be dangerous," Hilton said. "For instance, heavy dust on an electric-powered chopper can cause the motor to overheat, increasing your risk of fire."

More information about agricultural safety is available from the Penn State Cooperative Extension office in your county.

Young Farmers Meet

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — The Ephrata Area Young Farmers' monthly meeting was held on Aug. 3 at the Hibshman Homestead Research Farm.

Robert Kauffman, Brubakers Agronomic Consulting Service, Inc. farm manager, informed the group about the various types of research being performed, then he followed with a guided tour.

Jody Brown, ag instructor, presented the plan for a supervised agriculture experience (SAE). Her proposal as presented to Young Farmers is to have the student come to the farm which would give practical observance of their project, a mentor-type relationship. A September meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 12 at the high school is planned to further develop this program.

Two FFA members reported on their interesting and educational experience at the Washington, D.C. conference.

DAWN

DAWN TRASHWHEEL® Row Cleaner/Coulter Planter Attachments Fits: John Deere, Kinze, Case IH, White & New Buffalo and Monosem

TRASHWHEEL/Coulter Combination

Combining TRASHWHEELS and a Coulter separates the functions of working the soil and removing the clods and residue.

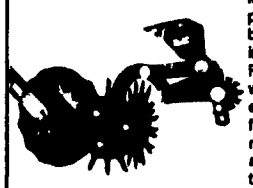
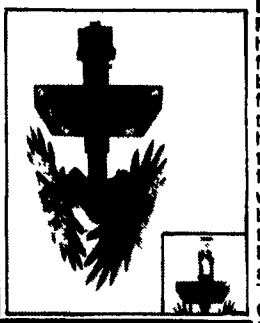
TRASHWHEELS Floating Row Unit



Mounted on a planter fertilizer bar or a 6 or 7 inch tool bar, the Floating Row Unit will run, independently, directly in front of a unit mounted coulter and do the work of the DAWN standard unit mounted TRASHWHEELS. Running on it's own parallel linkage, this mount will follow the contour of the ground, eliminating gouging. the wheels are adjustable to offset or interlock and there is an exclusive spring downpressure system.



DAWN TRASHWHEEL Row Cleaner The wheel that has helped revolutionize farming practices has also been chosen by thousands of farmers and proven over thousands of acres to be the highest quality attachment on the market today. Quality features of DAWN are: lifetime warranty against bending or breaking of the wheel; double tapered Timken roller bearings; triple lip C/R seals; and 100% made in the U.S.A. TRASHWHEELS Row Cleaners serve multiple functions of clearing and working the seed bed. A clearer seed bed warms faster and allows the gauge wheels to follow a smooth path, eliminating row unit boucning. The adjustability of the wheels to be offset or interlocked, allows them to either clear the seedbed of residue or clear and work the seedbed. DAWN's screw adjust cap keeps you out from under the planter by allowing you fast, easy and very fine height control adjustments.

HERE'S THE STRAIGHT SCOOP ABOUT RICHARDTON HIGH DUMP WAGONS

Seems like some folks are always trying to catch up And sometimes they ll do just about anything to get ahead But you know that for over 35 years Richardton high dump wagons have been the best in the business and in the field So get the best —Hitch up a Richardton Wagon today

What the competition says about Richardton Wagons	The truth about Richardton High Dump Wagons
Cylinders and cables	Our exclusive patented lock cylinders ensure that the box will not drop ever Our cables are all sweep with top If a truck load with spiritual lump Your entire load will dump with And, you save time because there are no master slave cylinders to purge
Over two minute cycle time	ALL cycle times depend on your tractor s hydraulic system We designed our wags to cycle in less than one minute
12GA steel on entire hopper	Our 12GA steel construction is absolutely the most cost effective and strongest on the market It s that way today and it s been that way for over 35 years
Internal braces welded to flat steel	We ll say it again — Richardton wagon components are the strongest and best built on the market!
300# rated standard black pipe fittings	Flared hydraulic steel tubing with 4 000 PSI rated fittings are standard on Richardton wagons
¼ wall material	Our ¼" walls withstand decades of hard use And just so you know we use s/n" where necessary
3½" x 3½" slide tubes steel on steel	Others copy our original heavy duty nylon no grease slide system There is NO metal on metal at any time!

RICHARDTON Manufacturing Company

- Honesty
- Tough, durable wagons
- A fair price
- The industry leader others imitate

Hitch up a real wagon today at your Richardton dealer — Leasing available!

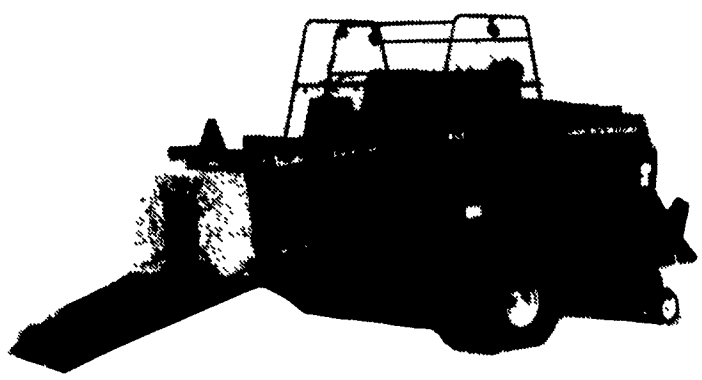
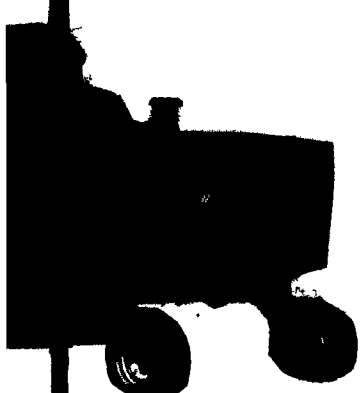
Equipment On Display





INTRODUCING A GENERAL-PURPOSE TRACTOR YOU CAN REALLY GET INTO.

The new Case International 3200 and 4200 Series tractors.

Five new tractors designed to the industry-leading performance criteria established by MAGNUM™ and MAXXUM®. These 42 to 85 PTO hp tractors set the standard for mid-range productivity.

To see which 3200/4200 tractor best suits your needs, stop and see our display at the show. And while you're there, ask about Total Product Support — our commitment to the service and parts that add life to your tractor.

JOHN DEERE

Nobody Does Hay Better

The revolutionary MoCo's are here

- Six models, all with an innovative, three-point suspension system for unmatched flotation.
- Three sicklebar models: Narrow-profile guards, easy adjustments, exclusive urethane-roll conditioning, and a cut thats six inches wider than other makes.
- Three rotary models: John Deere-built modular cutterbar is the strongest, easiest-to service cutter-bar. A choice of conditioning methods at all widths.
- Get excellent maneuverability plus driveline protection from the new tongue design.

Loads and Unloads 8 Big Round Bales with Ease One Man – One Tractor Loads On-The-Go

Specifications

BED: 9 1/2' x 24' — 8 bale capacity, tubular steel construction; double-acting cylinder tilts bed to unload at 20° angle.
BALE PICKUP FORK: Hydraulically powered — heavy-duty construction; outer fork moves outward for easy retrieval of bale — automatically moves inward before bale is lifted.
UNDER-CARRIAGE: Oscillating dual wheels are offset for smoother ride. 11L x 15 rib implement tires — std.
UNLOAD SYSTEM: Push-off powered by hydraulic orbit motor and 2060 drive chain; by-pass valve stops push-off at front and rear to avoid over-run damage.
HYDRAULIC REQUIREMENTS: Two pairs of tractor hydraulic outlets, three pairs are more successful.
BALE BACK STOP: Std.
COUNTERWEIGHT BOX: Std.
HITCH JACK: Optional

SLIT-TILLER TO BE SOLD

The District is selling its 5 shank slit-tiller which has been in use since 1986. The shanks have 2" straight chisel teeth and are spaced at 30". It was built by the District for heavy duty use and can be transported on the road. It can be used to break a plow pan, increase a soil's ability to absorb water and provide for greater infiltration. Prospective bidders can see the slit-tiller at 1150 Village Road by calling 717-687-6377. Sealed bids will be accepted until the public bid opening in the Conference Room of the Farm & Home Center at the next District board meeting, 7:30 P.M. on September 6, 1995. Place bid in a separate envelope marked, "Slit-tiller bid, To be opened September 6, 7:30 P.M." Bids can be brought to the board meeting or sent to the attention of Gerald Whiteside.

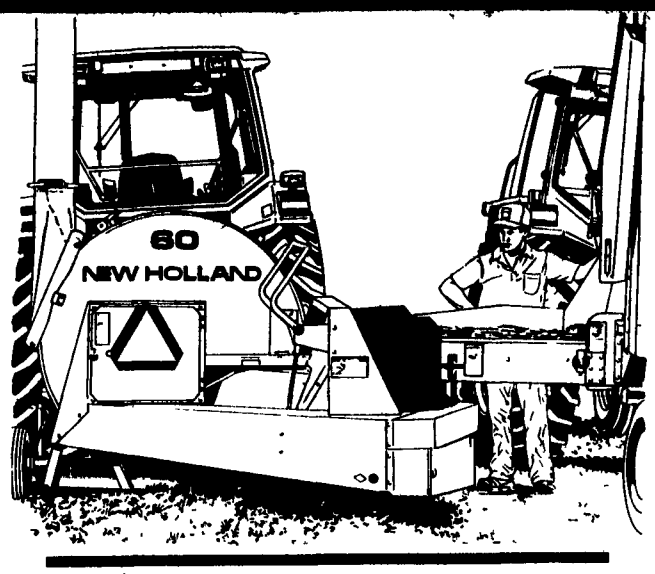
REACH FOR THE SKY!



MAKE SHORT WORK OF TALL SILOS

The Model 60 is a big-capacity 540-rpm forage blower built to center-fill silos up to 100' tall. It features a 37" diameter feed hopper that makes positioning and unloading with cross conveyers easy.

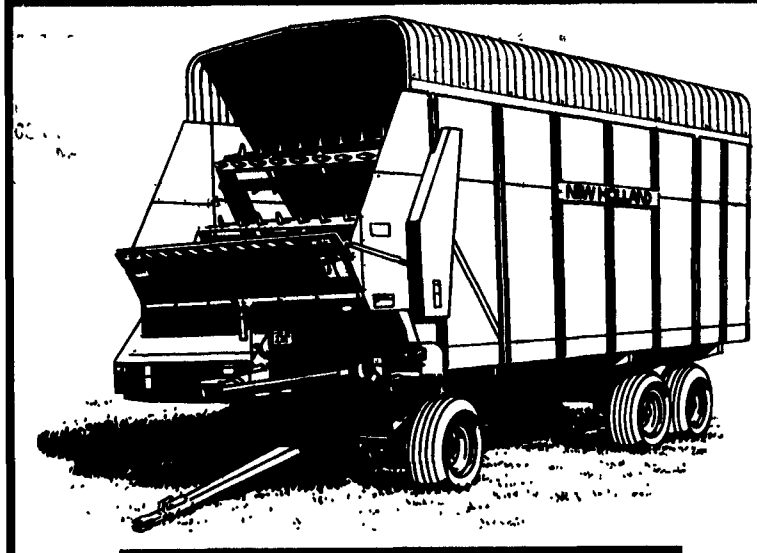
A large 12" feed auger moves crop to the fan for maximum blowing efficiency. And, the 60" diameter blower fan is straddle-mounted for years of tough dependable performance. The Model 60 forage blower also features:

- Eight adjustable, replaceable paddles
- Heavy-duty, shearbolt protected PTO
- Adjustable shearbar
- Reversible blower band
- Adjustable air gate
- 9' telescoping pipe
- Adjustable wheels

NEW HOLLAND

So reach for the sky with the new Model 60 forage blower. Stop in today and we'll show you how to make short work of tall silos.

DEPENDABLE PERFORMANCE



FAST UNLOADING

You'll haul and unload your forage fast with rugged, dependable "816" and "818" forage boxes. Roller chain drive provides unloading speeds of 3.0 and 7.1 fpm. Or choose the optional variable speed unloading drive for infinite unloading speeds up to 13.7 fpm.

Stop by and see them today.

Mixing T.M.R. The Way You Want

Open-Top Mixers

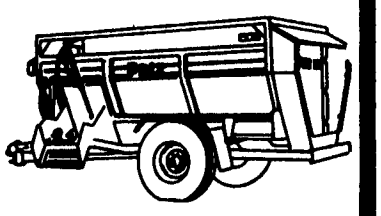
Four notched augers mix fast--even square-baled dry alfalfa in limited amounts.

Self-aligning auger bearings mounted outside. Flanged auger tubes for easy removal.

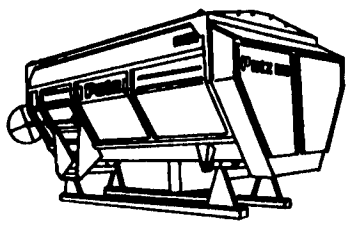
Planetary gear reducers and roller chain reduction power the augers. Roller chains operate in enclosed oil bath.

On trailer and truck models, the discharge door and discharge augers are controlled hydraulically. Also, gravity discharge is available.

8 sizes from 190 to 575 cubic feet.



Trailer-mounted auger mixers



Stationary auger mixers

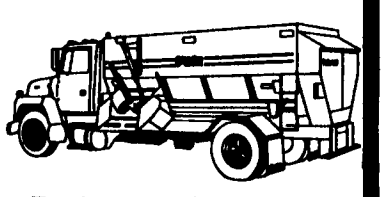
Tumble Mixers

Tumble mixing plus a central spiral circulator moving ingredients to the back of the drum while fliting moves ingredients forward.

No internal bearings.

Low maintenance -- only grease fittings.

4 sizes from 135 to 290 cubic feet.



Truck-mounted auger mixers

All Mixers Manufactured by Patz

CLAAS Forage Harvesters

Sharp knives for a precise chop

The intake housing can be quickly folded down from the cylinder housing. You can then inspect the shearbar and the drum easily and in no time, and adjust the knives to contact with the shearbar. In seconds and without tools.

The power transmission from the engine to the chopping cylinder is as direct as can be, without any detours. A single multi-vee powerband keeps the speed steady at all times and features very high efficiency.

Using the low pressure hydraulic system, the driver engages a single plate dry clutch which sets the permanently tensioned belt in motion. Straightforward design with high mechanical efficiency.

The impressive CLAAS chopping cylinder is a full 29.5" wide, has 20 or 24 knives in V-formation and the JAGUAR 880 and 860 reach a cutting frequency of 14,400 cuts per mintue. The knives are adjusted to just touch the shearbar This contact adjustment is done without tools, and guarantees the top quality chop for which the JAGUAR range is famous.

The intake housing is in one piece, and can be quickly separated from the cylinder housing. This way, you gain unimpeded access to the cylinder without delay.

Sharp knives and exact shearbar adjustment keep output high and fuel costs low. These new machines feature as standard an automatic sharpening system.

The drum is sharpened while rotating forwards, and is sharpened up after just a few passes.

Electrical shearbar adjustment from the driver's seat is an agreeable refinement. You simply preselect the number of passes for grinding, set the required distance of the knives to the shearbar, and press a switch. The complete operation is automatic.

CLAAS Rollant round balers give you what you want

—one quality round bale after another.

Discover Quality...Discover Value...

The Rollant 66 makes fast work of 4'x5' bales. Its unique two-stage pick-up and close tines produce a clean, efficient harvest in less time. Rollatex netting wraps a bale in 10 seconds or less, and double-twine wraps it up in just 20.

The Rollant 46 introduced CLAAS's innovative fixed bale chamber to the marketplace. This versatile baler handles all farm operations from dry hay to silage. Nobody produces a better 4'x4' bale.

The Rollant 42 was designed for family livestock operations. This economical investment produces weather-tight 4'x4' bales for the highest nutrient content possible.

CLAAS bales mean nutrient-filled edible hay, low spoilage, and high crude protein retention.

Each Rollant offers the innovative chamber, low-profile pick-up, and world class dependability. And they all share CLAAS's international reputation for low maintenance, durability and long-life.

Call now to see how you can improve the round figures on your bottom line.

Ag Progress Explores Animal Agriculture

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Visitors to Penn State's Ag Progress Days, Aug. 15-17, can learn about new developments in beef production, dairy farming and other aspects of animal agriculture by touring the Dairy and Livestock Tent.

The tent features educational exhibits and demonstrations by businesses, breed associations and Penn State researchers in veterinary science and dairy and animal science. Displays include subjects relating to swine and dairy and beef cattle.

"The tent provides an opportunity for College of Agricultural Sciences faculty and staff to meet with people, share research results and answer questions about livestock production," said Dr. Larry Specht, professor of dairy science and coordinator for the Dairy and Livestock Tent.

Dr. Michael O'Connor, professor of dairy science, will host an exhibit focusing on the types and benefits of various heat detection aids for dairy producers. Dr. Kenneth Kephart, associate professor of animal science, will offer information about how wise feed formulation can help swine producers significantly reduce nitrogen and phosphorus excretion without jeopardizing hog performance.

"Soybean meal, a source of protein and nitrogen, can be decreased by adding synthetic lysine to the diet," said Kephart. "Phosphorus often is over-supplemented and can be reduced by matching dietary levels to the hogs' actual requirements."

Dr. Lisa Holden, assistant professor of dairy and animal science, will discuss Penn State's Dairy Management and Profitability program (Dairy-MAP). This series of workshops helps producers apply general management techniques to improve the profitability of dairy farming.

Jeannie Leggett, extension assistant in agricultural and biological engineering, will present information about biologically manipulating animal manure.

"Different bacteria want to use the energy in manure," she said. "Some bacteria create usable end products, such as methane gas, while others create undesirable by-products and odors. By manipulating the way manure is handled, we can encourage the growth of desirable bacteria and create usable end products from manure."

Faculty also will be on hand to discuss disease resistance in animals, the Bovine Viral Diarrhea (BVD) program, and agricultural information and resources available through the global Internet computer network. Other exhibits will feature Penn State's Animal Diagnostic Laboratory and the Center for Mastitis Research.

• Penn State's Ag Progress Days features more than 500 acres of educational and commercial exhibits, tours and machinery demonstrations. It is held at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rocksprings.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free through August 17.

"Penn State AG Science... We're More Than You Think"

Would You Like To Start, Or Retire From Farming?

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.)—Today's low profits, high taxes, and high land values have created unique problems that make family succession less predictable and threaten the survival of the family farm.

Many children of farmers decide to seek other occupations because the family does not talk about the future or because the farmer thinks he can't pass on the farm without saddling the successor with a lot of debt.

But careful planning can make it possible to pass on the farm to the next generation or an unrelated beginning farmer.

If you want to learn more about farm link and farm transfer planning, stop at the Center for Rural Pennsylvania's exhibit in the Conservation Education Tent at Ag Progress Days on August 15-17.

Pennsylvania's Farm Link Coordinator Marion Bowlan will be on hand to talk to individuals interested in exiting or entering farming. Information describing the program will be available as well as questionnaires for prospective farmers and farm owners/landholders.

Bowlan said the Farm Link program is designed to match these two groups in order to slow the steady decline in family farm operations. A database matching service provides owners with a list of prospective applicants who are looking for farming opportunities that match that particular farm operation. She assists and facilitates the matching process along with offering resource information for a successful farm transition. Other interested agricultural organizations work cooperatively with Farm Link providing information, advice, and assistance.

For more information on Farm Link, contact Marion Bowlan at (800)-9PA-FARM.

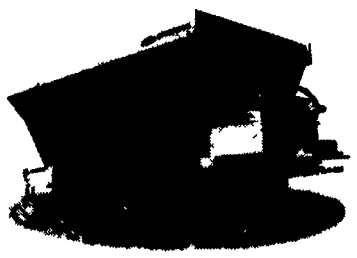
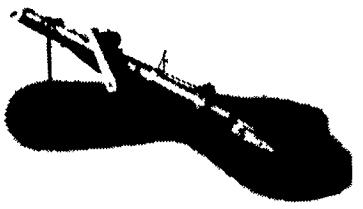
The Ideal All-Around Spreader For Lime And Fertilizer

The Stoltzfus 56i Spreader is a unique combination spreader that does not sacrifice performance for any application. For example, the 56i is tough enough to spread stockpiled lime at rates up to 3 tons per acre. It will also accurately spread fertilizer at rates as low as 125 lbs. per acre. Plus, the Stoltzfus 56i easily handles "sloppy" material. Walking beam suspension absorbs shock to reduce wear and tear, adding years to the service life. The ground drive system assures consistent spreading accuracy even in mud. Corrosion-proof steel hopper and synthetic UHMW floor hold up for many years. For more information, contact Stoltzfus Spreaders, Morgantown, PA 1-800-843-8731.



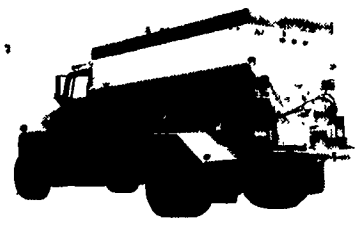
Sometimes You Need A Spreader Built Like A Tank

Lime can be really tough to spread, especially if it's been stockpiled and frozen. The Stoltzfus Wet Lime Spreader is the machine for that kind of job. Many farmers believe it's likely the most powerful spreader of its kind available on the market today. The drag chain, for example, is four times stronger than stainless steel. Many are still in use after 20, even 30 years. In addition to lime, it also applies compost, composted sludge, and bulk fertilizers. For more information, contact Stoltzfus Spreaders, Morgantown, PA 1-800-843-8731.



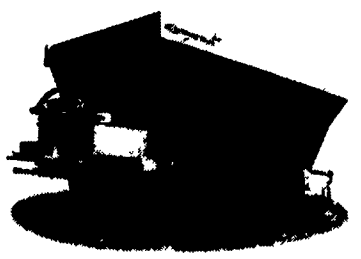
High Capacity Portable Conveyors

For moving granular materials quickly and efficiently, nothing beats Speed King conveyors. They were first to introduce the "belt-in-a-tube" concept to eliminate the rough handling of augers. The Tubular Conveyors can move the average granular fertilizer up to 60 tons per hour at a 30° incline. Speed King Trough Roller Conveyors range from 30' to 60' in length, and come with 16' or 24' PVC conveyor belts which deliver up to 240 tons per hour. For additional information, you may contact Stoltzfus Spreaders, Morgantown, PA 1-800-843-8731.



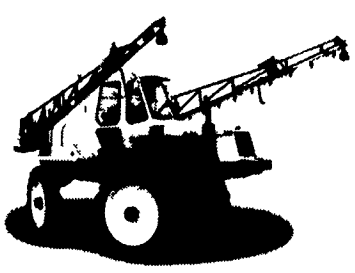
Truck-Mounted Spreaders Built To Order

Most custom applicators and large farmers have their own way of doing things. That's why Stoltzfus has been building custom truck-mounted spreaders for 50 years for applying lime, fertilizer, and other ag materials. Many of the standard spreader features found today were invented in their shop. They will work with you to come up with a design to make your operation more productive and efficient. That's the best way to increase profitability today. For more information, contact Stoltzfus Spreaders, Morgantown, PA 1-800-843-8731.



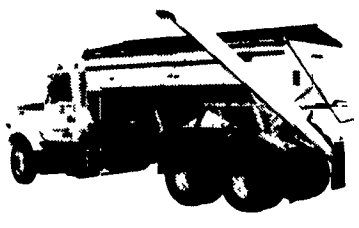
For Spreading Poultry Litter And More

All poultry litter spreaders are built big to handle the bulk. But welds can weaken when the construction isn't strong enough to match the size. The Stoltzfus Poultry Litter Spreader is a sturdy and versatile high volume spreader, tough enough to handle stockpiled lime, compost, and bulk fertilizers. Four sizes plus truck-mounted spreaders available. The largest model holds a whopping 400 cubic foot load for fewer trips. Walking beam suspension, hydraulic spinners, PTO-powered chain. For more information, contact Stoltzfus Spreaders, Morgantown, PA 1-800-843-8731.



Willmar Air Ride Post-Emerge Applicator Designed For New Chemical Types

Some of today's new generation of ag pesticides are so powerful they're applied at almost unbelievably low rates, such as 1/2 ounce per acre in solution. The Willmar Air Ride is a precision self-propelled applicator for custom applicators and large farmers. It features high visibility, on-the-go suspension adjustment, and articulated steering. Low compaction tires grip soft ground, yet won't crush crops. Wheel tracks adjust from the cab for varying row widths. The 60' boom adjusts to fit crop height and minimize spray drift. For more information, contact Stoltzfus Spreaders, Morgantown, PA 1-800-843-8731.



Willmar Side Shooter Tender Handles Fertilizer, Grain, Feed

The unique one-piece 10" Swing-Away Auger speeds loading, eliminates leaking and mechanical problems. 4000 lb. per minute unloading rate increases productivity. Fold-away viewing platform provides a convenient vantage point for inspecting the hopper action.16 ton and 24 ton capacities. Contact Stoltzfus Spreaders, Morgantown, PA 1-800-843-8731.

AG CHEMICAL HANDLING EQUIPMENT

7 Steps To Wise Buying Decisions

Today's equipment is too expensive to make impulsive buying decisions. Here are some common sense steps to help you turn your equipment dollars into a wise investment.

1. Always go for value over price

Let's say you buy a cheap pair of shoes to save money. But then you find they hurt your feet. Pinching. Blisters. Then, since your feet hurt, you start walking funny and your back starts bothering you. One thing always leads to another. You regret you didn't get the better pair because now you've paid good money for shoes you can't wear. But you still need shoes. So you end up paying twice for one good pair. That's no bargain.

Most of us learned that basic lesson long ago. When it comes to buying ag equipment, the same ideas apply. Asking these questions will help you determine good value:

Will the piece of equipment help you be more productive?
Will it perform reliably?
Is it built to last a long time?
Is it easy to repair?
Are parts easy to get?
Will the manufacturer stand behind it?
Will the resale value stay high?

2. Talk to your neighbor

Most likely, nobody understands your needs better than your farming neighbor. And you can trust him to be honest with you. What kind of equipment works best for him? What brand does he trust the most? What would he do differently next time?

3. Keep an open mind

The old saying is true, "The more things change, the more they stay the same." At the same time, some changes – like the new generation of farm chemicals – can make a real difference in the way you work, and the kind of equipment you need. In these situations it's best to become a student. Learn all you can from extension agents, meetings, and trusted publications.

4. Find a dealer you can trust

Don't forget to talk to equipment dealers. Whether your personality tends to innovation, or you like to play it a little safer, a dealer who really knows ag chemical handling equipment will steer you right. He can help you learn what others are doing, and what will work best for your situation. A good dealer has been around for a long time. He wants you to come back because he's a neighbor, too.

5. Try to compare apples with apples

Not all equipment is created equal. But product differences often make it hard to determine real straight-up comparisons. This is where some work comes in. Ideally, take the time to check out a demo. Ask for references. Collect literature. Make comparison lists. The right choice for you will generally become clear after you've done your investigation, then "slept on it" for a day or so. If you can't wait, rely on a dealer you trust to help you make the right decision.

6. Always ask "What about repairs?"

Machines don't last forever. Are repairs easy to make yourself? Will parts always be easy to get? Can I get help from the dealer when I need it? If the dealer can't assure you of fast, fairly priced support for parts and service, find another dealer.

7. Make a commitment to good maintenance

Today, it's easy to get 100,000 miles out of a pickup truck with routine maintenance. It's the same with quality built ag chemical handling equipment. A little "tender loving care" not only keeps equipment working hard when it's needed most, but also gives more years of service life, and keeps resale value higher.

We've seen this approach consistently pay off for farmers since we first started making lime spreaders 50 years ago. Today, Stoltzfus Spreaders is both manufacturer and dealer for some of the nation's finest ag chemical handling equipment. Can we help you make a wise buying decision? Since we plan to be around for at least another 50 years, we think you can count on it.

Pennfield At Ag Progress

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)—Pennfield Feeds, manufacturers of dairy and livestock feed, will participate in the 27th annual Ag Progress Days sponsored by Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, August 15-17.

Pennfield's exhibit will be part of more than $20 million worth of agricultural machinery, equipment, supplies and services that will be displayed and demonstrated during the three-day event.

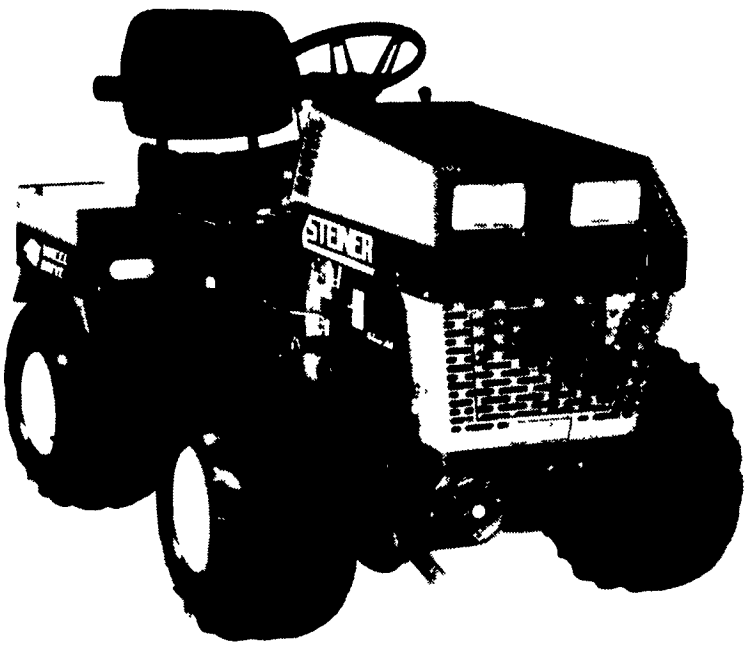
At the Pennfield display, dairy farmers are welcome to view Pennfield's new "Super Flake" feeds. This new processing method will help to improve the digestibility of the corn portion of the cow's diet. Dairy producers will be invited to analyze their feeding program through the use of Pennfield's computerized Total Ration Program. Stop by for a demonstration.

The theme of Ag Progress Days 1995 is "Penn State Ag Sciences...We're More Than You Think." In addition to the more than 300 commercial exhibitors at the event, interactive displays, guided tours and other activities will show how research and education programs are addressing important issues, safeguarding our food supply and the environment, and helping improve the efficiency and profitability of agricultural and related industries.

Free bus tours of Penn State's agricultural research areas, where new crop varieties and cultural practices are tested, will be held.

Family attractions will include storytelling, live animals, horse exhibitions, crafts, antique farm and home implements, an insect petting zoo and SciQ, a TV-style game show.

Penn State's Ag Progress Days is held at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rock Springs, nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, with extended hours of 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday. Admission and parking are free.



The turf tractor for people who despise non-performing investments

The Steiner does the work of a dozen different single-purpose machines. Better. All it takes is a few minutes to change attachments and you're ready to mow, move dirt and snow, edge, blow, chip, aerate and more. All as you move effortlessly across your grounds on a 16 or 20 hp machine with an articulating frame and hydrostatic transmission.

The Steiner. The turf tractor for people who believe in value-based investments and hard work. Test drive one for yourself at your local Steiner dealer.

Soybean Board Announces New Officers

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The board of directors for the American Soybean Association announced the confirmation of John McClendon from Marianna, Ark., as the association's new chairman, and John Long from Newberry, S.C., as the association's new president.

The board also elected David Erickson from Altona, Ill., as first vice president; Roy Bardole from Rippey, Iowa, as secretary; and Dave Younkman from W. Liberty, Ohio as treasurer.

The board also elected four vice presidents: Mark Berg from Tripp, S.D.; John Blaska from Marshall, Wis.; Fletcher Clark from Ruleville, Miss.; and Mike Yost from Murdock, Minn.

These nine officers form the executive committee for the association.

David Erickson, who will become the president of the Association next year, told the directors, "I will work to enhance communication throughout the organization, and I believe a major role for the association is to continue to develop leadership programs for board members, and other farmer leaders, throughout the association."

Lessons On Conserving Natural Resources At Ag Progress

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Seeking informaton on preserving a wetland? Are you wondering how to generate income from your woodlot without harming wildlife? Or are you considering whether composting can be integrated into your farm operation?

You can find answers to these questions and other conservation issues at Penn State's Ag Progress Days, August 15-17.

Buses will depart daily from the Conservation Education Tent on West 11th Street to take visitors on various tours demonstrating conservation techniques.

The stream corridor management tour centers on how stream crossings and streambank fencing can improve natural waterways. Demonstration sites for constructed wetlands also are featured. Buses leave at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

A walking tour concentrating on forestry and wildlife will highlight small woodlot management. Topics such as harvesting trees to generate income, forest regeneration and road and trail maintenance will be addressed. A special demonstration will explain how to use warm-season grasses as a wildlife cover. Buses to the walking trail leave daily every hour starting at 10 a.m.

On the agricultural conservation tour, farm operators can learn how conservation practices can protect soil and improve water quality. Crop residue management, contour stripcropping, cropland terraces, waterways and water diversions will be covered. Demonstrations of a forage chicory pasture and livestock grazing also will be featured. Buses leave daily at 1 p.m.

The on-farm composting tour offers information on recycling manure and other materials. Visitors can see composted farm waste at various stages. Compost will be turned during the 10:30 a.m., 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. tours. In addition, finished poultry compost will be shown in a poultry mortality composting bin. Buses leave hourly from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

A variety of conservation education programs also are featured daily in the tent, including "Faces of the Future," a five-minute video that details children's often-humorous opinions about conservation, and "Lines on the Land," a youth-oriented slide show that explains conservation practices by comparing, for instance, crop residue management to making a multi-topping pizza.

The schedule includes:

- "Faces of the Future" video, 10 a.m.
- "Lines on the Land" slide show, 10 a.m.
- Pasture Management, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
- "Land of the Ringnecks" video, noon
- Coordinated Resource Management, 3 p.m.
- "Pennsylvannia's Black Bear" video, 4 p.m.

Six agencies will be located in the conservation tent: Chesapeake Bay Education office; Pennsylvania Bureau of Forestry; Department of Environmental Resources; Consolidated Farm Service Agency; Natural Resources Conservation Service and the Pennsylvania Land Improvement Contractors Association.

Penn State's Ag Progress Days features more than 500 acres of educational and commercial exhibits, tours and machinery demonstrations. It is held at the 1,500-acre Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rocksprings, nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45, Aug. 15-17. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, with extended hours on Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Admission and parking are free.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free through August 17.

Growers Committed To Soil Stewardship

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.)—Growers Fertilizer Solutions will sponsor an exhibit at the 27th annual Ag Progress Days, sponsored by Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, August 15-17.

Penn State faculty and staff will offer exhibits and presentations to help agricultural producers reduce soil erosion and protect groundwater supplies by complying with new soil conservation and nutrient management regulations. Displays for consumers will highlight the importance of clean drinking water, water conservation, water testing and proper well construction.

Going along with that theme, Growers will emphasize its longstanding commitment to soil stewardship. For 40 years, Growers personnel have been in the forefront in the process of re-educating American farmers in ways that promote good healthy soil stewardship.

TOPICS IN MEDICATIONS FOR POULTRY

Patty Dunn, DVM
Animal Diagnostic Lab
Dept. of Vet. Science

As part of the recent meeting of the American Association of Avian Pathologists in Pittsburgh, Pa., July 8-12, 1995, a symposium was held to address the topic of drugs and therapeutics for poultry.

Many aspects relating to the use of therapeutic agents designed to control infectious diseases in poultry were covered by leading authorities in these areas. Of particular interest to many was the use of antibacterial drugs.

Answers to the following common questions were presented.

• Why are so few poultry drugs available?

Dr. Martin K. Terry of the Animal Health Institute spoke about the need to improve the review and approval processes for drugs, which is currently very cumbersome and costly, in order to allow more drug approvals in less time. Terry illustrated the poultry industry's experience with the effects of the recent slowdowns in animal drug approval processes. He said that in the last 10-year period, five new chemicals have been approved for use in poultry, only one of which is approved for therapeutic (treatment) purposes. During that same time interval, many more useful, effective products have been taken off the market, most of which had treatment applications. In most cases, the product withdrawals were for reasons other than human or animal health concerns. The overall effect has been a major net loss of useful antimicrobials.

There are no appropriate approved drugs to treat several specific poultry diseases. For example, there are no legal treatment drugs for "blackhead" or histomoniasis in turkeys at this time. Additionally, there are few effective treatments for certain respiratory conditions in chickens and turkeys. Important contributors to the problem of lack of approved drugs are the time and costs involved in the current drug approval process.

Food animal drugs are often twice as expensive to develop as a comparable companion animal drug or human drug. Not only must safety and efficacy be tested and proven in the target animal, but also safety in the human consumer of the animal product must be determined. If the high costs of getting approval for a drug for use in perceived "minor" species such as turkeys, ducks, game birds, and even chickens in some instances exceeds the expected sales market return, then incentives for a pharmaceutical company to pursue development and clearances are nil.

Dr. R. Greg Stewart, consulting poultry veterinarian and scientist in Watkinsville, Ga., gave some interesting figures pertaining to the drug developing process. He said the average cost to a pharmaceutical company to develop a new chemical drug for food animals is approximately $22 million, and that it takes an average of 11 years. More than three of these 11 years are spent in review of the product by government regulators. Five million dollars is the average cost for a supplemental approval for an existing drug to expand or change its use in some way.

• What is being done to enhance current drug availability?

Dr. Martin K. Terry spoke about the efforts of industry and the Center for Veterinary Medicine to work toward a "flexible labeling initiative." The new animal drug product labels would allow veterinarians more flexibility in the use of the products. They would be able to better tailor drug doses, routes, etc. to particular disease indications in particular food animal species.

Terry also described the proposed "Veterinary Feed Order" (VFO) drawn up in response to a proposed rule by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) designed to take all new therapeutic drugs away from feed manufacturers and require that the drugs be used only by veterinary prescription. This plan, if allowed to proceed, could cause problems of increased costs and lower availability for the poultry industry. The VFO proposes to keep many drugs from prescription-only status, while still fostering a level of veterinary involvement above that which often exists with some "over-the-counter" medications sold today.

Dr. Peter Poss, a well-known turkey veterinarian currently affiliated with the Veterinary Teaching Hospital in St. Paul, Minn., addressed drug use in the turkey industry. He proposed that the approval process be streamlined by having the FDA retain the approval process for the safety aspects of drug testing, while letting the industry carry out the efficacy aspects. He says, "FDA should not be concerned with efficacy since a drug sponsor will not expend the resources to clear a useless compound and the industry will know if it works very quickly, once it is on the market."

Dr. Tom Holder, an experienced broiler industry veterinarian based in Salisbury, Md., echoed that thought in his presentation on antibiotic use in broilers. He said that efficacy testing needs to be practical, and small pen trials may be of limited value in predicting a drug's usefulness under commercial field conditions. "A drug company is not going to spend several million dollars on a drug that will fail after six months of use. The industry will determine the efficacy and/or the feeding program best suited for a product," Holder said. He encouraged the drug companies and CVM to work together with the broiler industry to help meet drug therapy needs in that area.

• Is it safe to mix different drugs or other additives to treat poultry?

Dr. Jim E. Riviere, a veterinary pharmacologist at the North Carolina State University College of Veterinary Medicine, spoke on "drug compounding," which is the practice of combining two or more medications. Riviere pointed out that while there are a few drugs approved to be mixed or applied with another drug for a specific purpose, most combinations have not been evaluated scientifically for compatibility. The all too common thinking that "if one drug is good, two or three should be better" is flawed and can be, at best, wasteful, and at worst, dangerous. One drug may inactivate or make another drug unavailable for the body to use or, it may potentiate the effects of another drug, leading to toxicity or long residence of drug in the tissue. Antibacterials with different mechanisms of action should not be combined in most instances. Many vitamins and electrolytes, which are widely used in the drinking water, can modify water pH, thereby changing the effectiveness of certain added antibiotics applied in the water concurrently. Specific interactions relevant to poultry are known to most poultry veterinarians who can advise on this subject.

• How can we better target appropriate antimicrobials to specific bacterial diseases? "Antimicrobial susceptibility testing has become an integral part of the therapeutic process," said Dr. W. Douglas Waltman, microbiologist at the Georgia Poultry Laboratory. He was referring to the process whereby a bacterial pathogen is isolated from diseased birds in the laboratory, and the specific bacteria is reacted against several different antimicrobial agents (drugs). This process determines if the bacteria can live and grow in the presence of the drug, or if it is inhibited or killed by the drug within the environment of the test system. The test is a good predictor of whether or not a given drug, if applied correctly, will work to limit the infection in the flock. The antimicrobial susceptibility test tends to be a better predictor of drugs that will not be effective (bacterial resistance) than those that will work (bacterial sensitivity), but still serves as the best tool available for medication selection.

In certain instances, a drug treatment may be started immediately once a tentative diagnosis of a certain bacterial disease has been made (0-24 hours after the birds have been examined). Meanwhile, an antimicrobial susceptibility test will be set up, with results often available by 48 hours. At that time, if the drug being used is determined to be ineffective, a switch to a better therapy can be made. If susceptibility testing results for a certain bacterial problem on a given farm are known, and the problem occurs again, a selection of drug based on the previous results can be made pending the test results on the current case. Decisions based on susceptibility testing can save medication dollars in the long run.

Waltman presented data collected over the last five years on susceptibility patterns of four major bacterial pathogens of poultry, E. coli, Salmonella sp., Pasteurella multocida, and Staphylococcus aureus, isolated from clinical case of poultry submitted to the Georgia Poultry Laboratory. High percentages of E. coli isolates were resistant to many of the approved poultry drugs. The susceptibility profiles of Salmonellae were generally better, but still have areas of high resistance to some drugs. Waltman stated that he believes "much of our resistance problems that we have today are due to the fact that we do not have other available agents that can be used on a rotational basis."

On the other hand, Pasteurella multocida isolates have shown little, if any, trends toward developing resistance. Staph. aureus isolates vary in resistance patterns, but many of the drugs with action against gram positive organisms are still fairly effective. Waltman's data did not show any clear trends toward net increases in resistance over the last five year period.

• Does antimicrobial use in poultry promote resistant strains of bacteria that cause disease in people? To help answer this question, Waltman compared his susceptibility data with that of several hospitals in his area, and found major differences in susceptibility patterns. Bacteria of poultry origin in general showed more resistance to specific poultry drugs, while the same species of bacteria from humans were quite susceptible to the same drugs. For Staph. aureus, the poultry bacteria were much more susceptible than were the human bacteria to the same drugs. Waltman concludes, "if we look at the antimicrobial agents approved for use in poultry and the situations in which those agents are the drugs of choice for human diseases, we see very few instances where poultry pathogens would have the opportunity to pass this resistance to the respective human pathogens."

Dr. R. Greg Stewart alluded to the general observation that veterinarians tend to make frequent use of laboratory culture and susceptibility testing in making rational decisions on treating animal diseases. In contrast, their physician counterparts often prescribe antibacterial drugs symptomatically without benefit of the knowledge gained by knowing what the exact organism is and what drugs it is sensitive to. If clinical improvement is not forthcoming, the drug may be switched to another, again without benefit of supporting laboratory tests. This approach may be more likely to lead to the emergence of resistant bacterial strains than a more directed approach guided by laboratory confirmation.

• Are there any "new" antimicrobials on the horizon for use in poultry? The only new drugs under advanced development for use in the US are those in the fluoroquinolone class. They are not yet approved for use in poultry in this country, although they are used quite successfully in humans and other animal species. At least two drugs in this class have been used widely in poultry in countries other than the US over the last few years.

Dr. John Glisson, a poultry veterinarian and scientist at the University of Georgia, presented information on the use of these drugs. Glisson noted that, "The fluoroquinolones have an antimicrobial activity which is ideally suited for treatment of bacterial diseases of poultry." Glisson said that these compounds generally work extremely well against E. coli, Salmonella spp., Pasteurella multocida, Haemophilus sp., and Bordetella sp., as well as many Mycoplasma sp. He pointed out that although resistance to the new fluoroquinolones is usually slow to develop, the poultry industry must use these drugs in a judicious and reserved way in order to maximize and extend their effective life. They are likely to be the only new and different category of antibacterial drug available for poultry for many years to come.

• What is the future of antibiotic use in poultry?

Dr. R. Greg Stewart presented a thought provoking paper on this subject as the finale of the symposium. He stressed the need for change in the "pipeline" through which current and new drugs as well as vaccines (biologics) are identified, developed, approved and regulated. An intense cooperative effort between regulatory agencies and industry must exist in order to facilitate these changes. Unless changes occur, the future is not bright. Stewart said, "The industry will continue to search for alternatives to drug use, preventive methods, and improvement in genetic stocks but all these doctrines cannot obviate the legitimate need for therapeutic agents."

Horses Highlight Ag Progress

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.)—Horses and ponies and their role in Pennsylvania will be featured during the Equine Program at Penn State's Ag Progress Days, Aug. 15-17.

The program highlights Penn State's teaching, extension and youth programs, and calls attention to the $4 billion horse industry's contributions to Pennsylvania agriculture.

The Equine Exhibits Tent will feature informative displays about various aspects of the horse industry in the Commonwealth. Video presentations will highlight equine educational and career opportunities and various aspects of the commercial horse industry.

"Other exhibits and demonstrations will showcase Penn State's Quarter Horses and equine teaching programs, 4-H and therapeutic riding programs, horse shoeing, horse feeds, various breeds and miniature horses," said Ben Nolt, 4-H therapeutic riding coordinator in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

A variety of attractions is scheduled in the Ag Progress Days Horse Arena on all three days of the event.

At 1 p.m. on Tuesday, August 15, the event will feature a handling and training clinic. Kathy Brown, manager of Ka-My Stables in Bellefonte, Pa., will be on hand to discuss the dos and don'ts of trail riding. Tuesday's highlights also include breed clinics from 10 a.m. until noon and breed exhibitions from 3 to 4 p.m.

Quarter Horse and Paso Fino breed clincis will be held Wednesday, August 16, from 10 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. At 1 p.m., Centre County 4-H club members will conduct a mounted flag presentation. Also, Kathy Brown will conduct a handling and training clinic called "Back to the Basics, or What Makes Your Horse Tick."

Breed clinics and demonstrations featuring Arabians and Welsh ponies will be held Wednesday from 2:30 p.m. until 4 p.m. Afternoon events also include a therapeutic riding demonstration and a performance by the Cumberland County 4-H Drill Team.

Belgian, Clydesdale, and Percheron horses will be featured in a breed clinic held at 4 p.m. on Wednesday. Special exhibitions, draft horse driving demonstrations and other events will be held Wednesday evening from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m.

Breed clinics for Morgan horses will be held in the morning and afternoon on Thursday, Aug. 17. A training clinic entitled "Everything You've Wanted to Know About Competitve Trail Riding, But Were Afraid to Ask," will be held from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Bradford County Livestock Sale 'One Of The Best Ever'

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — "The average looks very, very good," said Bradford County Extension Agent Jake Guffey at the completion of the Bradford County Livestock sale. "It's one of the best sales ever."

Forty-two hogs, 16 lambs and three steers went through the sale, which took place recently at the Troy Fairgrounds.

The high volume buyer was P&C Foods which placed the top bid on 10 animals.

Greta Braund's grand champion market hog topped the sale at $4 per pound. The 210-pound animal was purchased by SPE Incorporated.

The second high price among the hogs was commanded by the reserve grand champion sold by Andy Tiffany. His 216-pound animal sold to Valley Stockyards for $2.75 per pound.

Two hogs were donated back to the 4-H program's scholarship fund. These animals, donated by Empire Livestock and Judson's Incorporated commanded prices of $2.20 and $2 per pound respectively, and were purchased by P&C Foods and Columbia Cross Roads Equipment.

With prices ranging from the champion's $4 down only to $1.25 per pound, the hogs averaged $1.76 per pound.

Prices for lamb were equally high as the grand champion market lamb brought $3.75 per pound. Northeastern Farm Credit purchased the 120-pound champion from Kendra Moore.

The second high seller was the reserve grand champion market lamb raised by Joslyn Elliott. Her 104-pound lamb was sold to C&N Bank of Troy for $3.50 per pound.

The average bid on the lambs was $1.65 per pound with prices ranging from the champion's high of $3.75 to a low of $1 per pound.

Three lambs were donated back to the 4-H program for their scholarship program. Meridian Bank of Troy resold two and Columbia Cross Roads Equipment resold the other. The donated lambs were purchased by Columbia Cross Roads Equipment, Towanda Agway and USDA and the Conservation District for $1.25, $1.35 and $1.35 per pound, respectively.

The small steer sale averaged $1.17 per pound.

The sale topper was the 1362-pound grand champion sold by Robert Gilliland and purchased by Empire Livestock Market for $1.21 per pound.

The reserve grand champion sold by Randy Calkins was purchased by P&C Foods for $1.15 per pound. The Hereford tipped the scales at 962 pounds.

P&C Foods also purchased the third steer, a 1014-pound Hereford raised by Adam Yoachim for $1.15 per pound.

Bob Shaylor was the auctioneer for the annual event.

ADSA Presents Distinguished Service Award

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—Neal A. Jorgensen, executive associate dean of the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences, University of Wisconsin, Madison, has received the 1995 Distinguished Service Award of the American Dairy Science Association (ADSA).

Jorgensen was honored for his unusually outstanding and consistent contributions to the welfare of the dairy industry. The award was presented to Jorgensen at the opening session of the 90th annual meeting of the ADSA, held on the campus of Cornell University, Ithaca, New York.

Jorgensen's brilliant career has been mostly at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, in research and education from 1964 to 1984 and, since 1984, in research administration. He has been an effective spokesman and influential leader as associate dean of the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences, acting dean of the College for a 14-month period, and currently as executive associate dean of the College, a role that coordinates activities of all associate deans and day-to-day operations.

Through the North Central Directors Association, Jorgensen has had strong influence on research priorities and programming. He has served on the Board of Directors of the Council for Agricultural Science and Technology, on the review team for the US-Israel Binational Agricultural Research and Development Fund, which supports dairy research, and three years on the Experiment Station Committee on Organization and Policy.

Two prestigious appointments based on his exceptional credibility and statesmanship as a science leader were to the Joint Council on Food and Agricultural Sciences and the National Research Council Board on Agriculture, which is advisory to the US Secretary of Agriculture on research, extension, and farm policy. In these forums, Jorgensen often has been the sole advocate for dairy scientists and the dairy industry.

Jorgensen has been a leader for the National Genetic Resources Program, which operated with subcommittees for animal genome research and animal germplasm conservation in cattle, swine, and sheep. He facilitated funding through creation of the National Animal Genome Research Project and developed political support among research directors for "off the top" support from regional research funds.

Jorgensen's contributions have been substantial in dairy cattle nutrition research and teaching. He trained 35 M.S. and 16 Ph.D. students, many of whom are now leaders in science and industry. His laboratory produced 108 peer-reviewed publications and 90 abstracts.

He served on the National Research Council Committee on Animal Nutrition and helped to write the 1989 National Research Council publication, Nutrient Requirements for Dairy Cattle. He received the American Feed Manufacturers Award from ADSA in 1978, was a frequent speaker at nutrition and industry conferences, and developed applied nutrition workshops and handbooks for veterinarians.

He presents material so that it is easily understood by audiences at any level and has made a conscious effort to remain in touch with the industry and with his science. He continues to be sought by feed industry leaders for his perspectives on dairy cattle feeding.

Dr. Jorgensen's teaching was exemplary, and he has received two teaching awards from the College, two from student organizations, and, in 1979, the Purina Mills Teaching Award from ADSA.

AGA Re-Elects Two Directors

The ballots for two seats on the American Guernsey Association Board of Directors were counted at the Association's 1995 National Convention held in Hillsboro, Oregon.

Eldon Moss of Iowa City, Iowa, was re-elected for District Five. Moss is owner of ELJO Farms with his wife, Joann. A Guernsey producer for the past 42 years, Moss has been active in a number of ways, from serving as president of the Iowa Guernsey Breeders' Association to participating in young sire programs and registrations.

Kevin Nedrow of Clifton Springs, New York, was re-elected as director-at-large representing breeders across the United States. Nedrow and his wife, Barb, are the owners of Nedrow Farms. They currently own 370 registered Guernseys and have been very active in the industry from serving as director of the New York Guernsey Breeders' Association to chairman of the Eastern A.I. young sire program.

Wanted: Antique Carriage, Wagon, Farm Equipment Exhibitors

WYOMISSING (Berks Co.)—As part of the 14th Annual Heritage Celebration, the committee has planned for antique farm equipment displays and a full-size and miniature carriage and wagon show.

The committee is looking for new people to exhibit their vintage equipment in this festival. While not at a loss for exhibitors, the committee wants to make sure that there is variety in the exhibitions each year and also that any person just starting out in the antique farm equipment, carriage, or wagon trade has a venue on which to display his heirlooms.

Any person interested in being an exhibitor at this year's festival or who wishes to have his name place on the mailing list should call Cathy at the Berks County Heritage Center at (610) 374-8839.

The exhibitors with new machinery, products, and services, form the backbone of the show, and these exhibits attract the many farmers and rural people who want to see first-hand what's new in agriculture and related fields. Ag Progress Days are held at Penn State's Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rockspring. The theme again this year is "Penn State Ag Sciences...We're More Than You Think!"

Event Features Snap Bean Demos, Tractor Test Drives

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Using a precision planter to plant snap beans may not make a stand grow as tall as Jack's fairy tale beanstalk. But such state-of-the-art technology can help growers find the goose that lays the golden eggs.

Farmers and others interested in the latest innovations in planters, tractors and other farm machinery can see this technology in action August 15-17 at Ag Progress Days, sponsored by Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Every year, we try to add a new field demonstration that will be valuable to our production agriculture audience," said Ag Progress Days manager Bob Oberheim. "Visitors this year will be able to evaluate several different types of precision planters for snap beans, including air, vacuum and mechanical planters."

Oberheim says precision planters are an investment that can pay off for growers. "These machines are more accurate, allowing you to plant exact populations with uniform spacing," he said. "That saves on costs by reducing wasted seed. Uniform spacing also produces better stands and increases yields."

Planters from three different companies will be demonstrated at the event. Each was used to plant beans in June. Farmers will be able to evaluate the stands produced by the different planters before the beans are harvested.

Other planned field machinery demonstrations at this year's event include snap bean harvesting, primary and secondary tillage, mowing, round silage baling and round bale handling.

Those in the market for a new tractor will have a good opportunity to shop and compare at Ag Progress Days. A new tractor ride-and-drive area will enable farmers to test-drive up to five models from each of five leading farm equipment manufacturers. "Being able to drive and compare so many models all in one location can be a tremendous time-saver for farmers," Oberheim says.

In addition to these demonstrations, more than 300 commercial exhibitors will display the newest agriculture-related goods and services, including heavy field machinery, feeds, seed, animal breeding stock, dairy and livestock equipment, farm chemicals, insurance, construction materials, consulting services and more.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free through August 17.

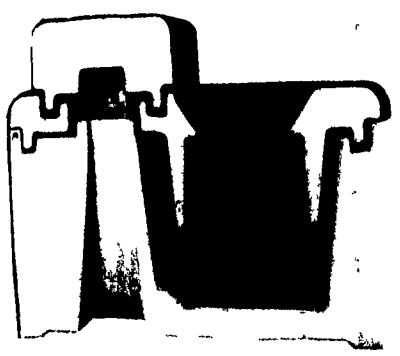
Real Versatility...

An Electric-Free Fountain from Ritchie



Patent Design/Patent Nos 4 739,727 & 4,646,687

Our unique disc-shaped closure could make the Ritchie Thrifty King the most versatile fountain on the market.

Unlike a ball closure, our disc "tips". The higher water level means livestock don't have to lean in so far to drink. That makes drinking easier for smaller animals and with our tapered opening, it's easier for larger animals too. Water both from the same unit.

Ritchie Protects From The Cold Too
If you worry about freezing, Ritchie's patented water seal and insulated drink well keep cold air from getting to the valve and prevent heat loss. Plus, our nonmetallic float and valve have proven their resistance against corrosion and cold, with 30 years of time-tested reliability. For extra protection, the optional thermal tube helps prevent supply line freeze-up.

Discover the versatility and freeze protection of a Ritchie Thrifty King electric-free fountain, all backed by 75 years of dependable service.

Ritchie®
Ritchie Industries, Inc.

LARGE or SMALL We Water Them All

The Thrifty King electric-free fountain from Ritchie has a large drink opening and a low drinking height. This makes it easier for both large and small hogs to drink. If a drink opening isn't needed, Thrifty King's unique construction allows you to stop the flow of water to that compartment. Plus, the large access opening makes for easy installation, adjustments and service.

Stands Up to Abuse
Thrifty King's reinforced, self-centering, insulated lid stays put – won't buckle or pop off. Plus, a 3/8" stainless steel stationary hinge rod and bite guards add durability. Made from one-piece body construction, Thrifty King is built to take hog lot abuse.

Stands Up to Cold
Thrifty King's insulation protects against cold and keeps water cool during the summer Plus, our nonmetallic float and valve have proven their resistance against corrosion and cold, with 30 years of time-tested reliability For extra protection, the optional thermal tube helps prevent supply line freeze-up.

Versatility and durability, all backed by 75 years of dependable service.

CONCRETE Problems? Ritchie Solutions.

54" and 90" Units Available

Rugged Construction
The WaterMaster from Ritchie is built for long life . . .and we'll guarantee it for 10 years. With its one-piece body construction of durable impact-resistant roto-cast polyethylene plastic, the WaterMaster won't deteriorate like concrete.

Dependable, Economical Water Delivery
Sealed urethane foam insulation protects water from cold, allowing the unit to operate longer before the constant flow is turned on, creating a reduction in water waste An optional supplemental electric heater is available Ritchie's nonmetallic valve delivers 18 gallons of water per minute at 60 psi, with 30 years of time-tested reliability

Easier to Maintain
WaterMaster fits over an existing stem wall and unlike concrete is lightweight and easy to install Built-in overflow and drain eliminate troublesome standpipes. Plus, the WaterMaster is easier to clean and service than concrete Top cover opens without tools, for ease of service Smooth, rounded trough slopes toward a protected 3" drain for fast, easy cleaning

Durability, easy maintenance and reliability — with less water waste All backed by 75 years of dependable service Guaranteed. Just ask a user, then

Ritchie®

Whether you're watering polar bears in northern Canada or livestock anywhere in North America, Ritchie fountains stand up to the cold.

Dependability, Three Ways Ritchie's strategically located heating equipment produces efficient heat transfer to keep water flowing in cold temperatures. Our thermostats can be adjusted to keep water at the proper temperature. Plus, our nonmetallic float and valve have proven their resistance against corrosion and cold, with 30 years of time-tested reliability.

With a Ritchie fountain, you can be confident the water's flowing — standing up to even the coldest weather.

STRESS-FREE ROW CROP GUIDANCE

IN STOCK

- Unique design keeps the implement parallel with the rows even when the tractor moves laterally as it drifts off course. Most other systems oversteer the toolbar which adds damaging side pressure to the stabilizing coulters.
- Automatically compensates for sidehill drift.
- Eliminates excessive pull and stress on hydraulic components associated with other guidance systems.
- Very few moving parts provide smooth, friction-free lateral movement.
- Works effectively on all conventional and ridge-till cultivators, planters and 4-wheel drive articulated tractors.

Buildings, Tents and Exhibits

Information Booth
Main Street, at the top of the hill
Questions? Whether you're trying to find an exhibitor, a tour or something to eat, the answers are at the Information Booth. There's information on all Ag Progress Days activities as well as a lost and found.

Visitors Center
Main Street at W. 4th Street
Looking for lodging, local restaurants, area attractions or things to do on the Penn State University Park Campus? You'll find information and directions here.

Ag Alumni Pavilion
Main Street, between W. 11th and W. 12th
Alumni can check in, meet old friends and see alumni-developed exhibits. There's also information about attending the College of Agricultural Sciences. Free ice water and apples while supplies last!

College of Agricultural Sciences Exhibits Building and Theatre
Main Street, between W. 9th and W. 10th (near the farmhouse)
Landscaping Your Home
Whether you plan to sell your house in the near future or live there into your golden years, having a beautiful landscape can improve its market value and make it a nicer place to live. Through interactive exhibits and demonstrations, you can learn how to improve your home's landscape attractively and affordably, whether you do it yourself or hire a contractor. See how computer-assisted landscape design lets you visualize what your landscape will look like five years—or twenty years—in the future. Learn how to select and care for ornamental plants and turfgrass. Penn State faculty and staff will explain the steps of landscaping: taking an inventory of site characteristics; establishing and renovating lawns; constructing walkways, decks and other hardscape features; choosing plants and other materials; and adding the finishing touches to a completed landscape.

SciQ
Test your horticultural IQ in this fun event, patterned after a television game show and hosted by local media celebrities. Contestants and audience members alike can win prizes including home horticulture publications, Penn State Creamery ice cream and SciQ T-shirts. The game will be played in the College Exhibits Building Theatre daily at 11:00 and 2:00, with an additional show Wednesday at 6:00. Admission is free, but arrive early, since seating is limited.

Storyteller Jan Kinney
Jan Kinney, mastor storyteller and writer of award-winning short stories, spins her yarns daily at noon in the College Exhibits Building Theatre.

Landscape, Lawn and Garden Tent
West 11th Street, next to the College Exhibits Building
Whether you're a homeowner, gardener or grower, Penn State faculty and cooperative extension agents will help solve your plant and insect problems. Advice is available on indoor and outdoor plants, turf, flowers, tree fruit, small fruit and vegetables. Learn about Penn State's Flower and Vegetable Trial Gardens and the All American system of plant improvement and selection. Also see examples of annual flowers that have been selected for trial in the All American process at Penn State.

Exhibits Building 2
Main Street, between W. 8th and 9th
Exhibits include crafts representing Pennsylvania's rural heritage. Quilts, woodcarving, pottery and more will be showcased. Several artisans will display their handiwork and discuss their crafts businesses. Penn State Cooperative Extension publications, many of them free, also are available here. See what agricultural courses are offered through Penn State Independent Learning, and find out what the Pennsylvania Office of Rural Health is doing to help improve access to quality health care.

Tours
Tickets are required. Get free tickets for research tours at the corn crib at the top of Main Street. Free tickets for conservation-related tours are available at the Conservation Education Tent.

General Research
Leave from the corn crib at the top of Main Street
This 30-minute tour gives you an overview of research conducted by Penn State's Departments of Agronomy, Entomology, Horticulture, Plant Pathology and the USDA Pasture Research Lab. Buses leave every 20 minutes from 10:00 to 3:00, with tours until 6:00 on Wednesday.

Potato Research
Leave from the corn crib at the top of Main Street
Visit Penn State's horticulture, plant pathology and entomology farms and see the latest potato research. Variety trials, and studies on insect, weed and disease control will be featured. This 90-minute tour departs at 12:30 on Thursday.

Agricultural Conservation
Leave from the Conservation Education Tent
See how various conservation practices affect the environment. Learn about crop residue management, contour stripcropping, cropland terraces, waterways and diversions. A forage chicory pasture and livestock grazing demonstration also will be featured. Buses leave daily at 1:00.

Forest Stewardship
Leave from the Conservation Education Tent
This walking tour highlights small woodlot stewardship in action: harvesting to generate income and benefit wildlife, forest regeneration, road and trail maintenance and natural succession. The importance of warm-season grasses as a wildlife cover will be explained. Buses to the walking trail leave daily on the hour from 10:00 to 3:00, with additional tours at 4:00 and 5:00 on Wednesday.

Composting
Leave from the Conservation Education Tent
Could composting have a place in your farm operation? This tour can help you answer that question. See a composting pad and compost at various stages, from fresh to cured. In addition, finished poultry compost will be shown in a poultry mortality composting bin. Buses leave at the bottom of the hour from 9:30 to 3:30 each day. Compost will be turned during the 10:30, 12:30 and 2:30 tours.

Wetlands and Stream Corridor Management
Leave from the Conservation Education Tent
Learn how stream crossings, streambank fencing and a constructed wetland can help you better manage your streambank corridors. Buses leave at 10:00 and 2:00 daily.

Family and Youth Exhibits Building
West 8th Street
Hiss back at a hissing cockroach in the insect petting zoo, find out what 4-H and FFA have to offer, or become a part of the computer world. Science and education come to life in the Family and Youth Exhibits Building. Exhibits are designed to be intriguing and fun for young and old alike. Twenty-minute Macintosh computer classes designed for young people and beginners are offered every half-hour from 10:00 to 3:30 daily, with additional classes until 7:00 on Wednesday. Explore Penn State's computer network—PENpages—and check out our World Wide Web home page. The Video Corner offers a place to relax and watch videos about bees, bats and more. An exhibit about women in science also can be found here, as well as information from the Pennsylvania Ag Awareness Foundation.

Young People's Tent — Just outside the Family and Youth Exhibits Building is a cute-n-fuzzy, sleek-n-slimy combination that's sure to please animal lovers of all ages. The Happy Valley Friendly Farm brings the cute-n-fuzzy with their baby animal collection, and Shaver's Creek Environmental Center adds the sleek-n-slimy with owls, hawks, snakes and turtles.

Crop and Soil Science Tent
East 5th Street
Learn about crop production and management, soil fertility and testing, nutrient management, pest control, weed identification and more. The state's best hay samples are entered in the Hay Show. Specialists from the Pennsylvania Crop Management Association and Penn State's Departments of Agronomy, Entomology and Plant Pathology will answer your questions. Plot demonstrations feature weed control, soybean varieties, herbicide-resistant corn and soybeans, corn plant population and forage grass species.

Conservation Education Tent
West 11th Street
In Partnership With People for a Healthy Land
Learn how federal and state agencies help Pennsylvania citizens protect the state's natural resources. You'll find information here about conservation-related tours, field demonstrations and workshops. Daily programs include:
10:00 a.m. Video: Faces of the Future
Slide Show: Lines on the Land
11:00 a.m. Pasture Management Program and Demonstration

Pasto Agricultural Museum
Main Street, between E. 9th and 10th
Journey back to the time of our agrarian ancestors as you trace technological progress through agriculture's "muscle power era." More than 300 antique farm and home implements, many in working order, are on display in this hands-on museum of rural life.

College Exhibits Tent
Main Street and W. 8th St.
Exhibits feature the Northern Appalachia Leadership Initiative on Cancer, and the AgrAbility Project and Office of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Equine Exhibits Tent
Main Street, behind the Special Events Building
Educational and commercial exhibits and demonstrations will showcase Penn State's Quarter Horses, and teaching program, 4-H and therapeutic riding and driving programs, horseshoeing, feeds, various breeds and miniature horses. Video presentations will highlight equine education and careers as well as various aspects of the commercial horse industry.

Equine Educational Program
Horse Arena, Main Street behind the Special Events Building

Royal Haven Takes Champion Holstein Honors At Annual Troy Fair

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — Excitement mounted as four champions — Jersey, Holstein, Brown Swiss, and Ayrshire — paraded around the show ring at the 120th Troy Fair.

Slowly, Chris Hill of Maryland examined each individual before moving to the one he selected as supreme. With a slap on the rump, Nobledale Juno Vermont, a junior 3-year-old Jersey owned by Nobledale Farm, took the took the top position.

Other animals in contention for supreme champion were Lynn and Bonnie Miller's grand champion Holstein, junior 3-year-old Royal Haven Inspire Quill; the grand champion Ayrshire, 5-year-old Shale Hill Champs Trina, owned by Mark Carter; and the grand champion Brown Swiss, Elm Brook Blend Tyra, a senior 2-year-old owned by John Yurkanin Jr.

The selection of the supreme champion immediately followed the Holstein show which took place on Saturday, July 29.

Taking the reserve grand champion Holstein position was Braund Valley Laban Lisa, a senior 3-year-old owned by Greta Braund.

In a close race for exhibitor and breeder points, the Packard family captured both the premier breeder and premier exhibitor banners at the conclusion of the show.

TROY FAIR HOLSTEIN SHOW RESULTS

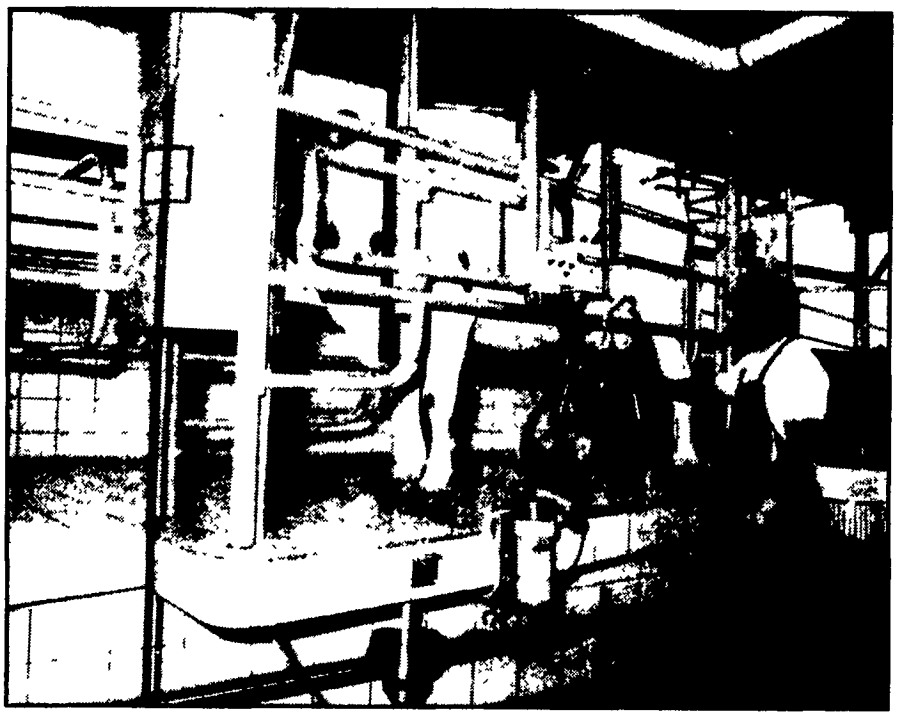
AUTOFLOW™

MILKING STALLS



With Non-Stop Cow Traffic

Using less stalls at maximum efficiency lowers the total cost of your automation and improves labor efficiency. Comparison shows it takes as much as 50% fewer AutoFlow stalls to achieve the same throughput as with similarly automated herringbone and parallel systems.

As milking equipment becomes more sophisticated and more expensive, the investment per stall becomes an important factor. The Surge AutoFlow parlor maximizes efficiencies per stall without sacrificing cow throughput.

Strong Showing At Chester 4-H Dairy Roundup

WALTER WURSTER
Chester Co. Extension

KIMBERTON (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Roundup was held at the Kimberton Fair Grounds on July 22. Three 4-H dairy clubs participated with 105 animals being shown.

Thirty-three members showed their animals, including 10 first year 4-H'ers. Over 50 animals will be going to the Southeast 4-H District District Show at the Schuylkill County Fairgrounds on August 25.

Kevin Nolan, Pottstown, was named the reserve senior and grand champion with his 4-year-old Holstein Dreamnol Leadman Paula. Cathy Pavelski chose a winter yearling, JAJ Cubby Harmony, shown by Jenn Hess, Pottstown, for the junior champion of the Holstein show. Craig Nolan, Pottstown, was selected as the reserve junior champion with his entry Dreamnol Mark-O-Polo Leslie, a fall calf.

Senior and grand champion Ayrshire honors went to Brian Nolan, Pottstown, with his junior 3-year-old cow, Palace Heather. His brother, Kevin Nolan, captured reserve senior and reserve grand champion Ayrshire awards with a 5-year-old named S & M Ayr Mozart Pearly. The Nolan family also had the junior winners as Craig Nolan, Pottstown, showed a winter calf, Dreamnol Teddy Bear Lindy, that was selected as junior champion, whle his sister, Becky Nolan, had the reserve junior champion, S & M Ayr I.R.S. Opal, a spring yearling.

Everyone was again fascinated by seeing eight Lineback dairy animals at the show. It was also a first for the judge and she selected the fall calf, shown by Meredith Baily, West Chester, named Carlson Farms Hershey Kiss for junior and grand champion.

Her sister, first-year member Becky Baily, was the reserve junior and reserve grand champion with Pocopson Meadow Merry Moon, a winter calf.

Joy Crothers, Brown Swiss and Holstein breeder from Oxford, judged type for the Guernseys and the Jerseys.

In the Guernsey breed, Julie Sollenberger, Spring City, won twice when her 4-year-old, Warwick Manor Fayette Audrey was named senior and grand champion and Warwick Manor Smokey Lulu, her senior 2-year-old cow, was selected the Reserve senior and grand champion.

Audrey was the grand champion for the third year in a row.

Joy Crothers chose Todd Mast, Elverson, who showed a spring yearling, Brightside Simon Candy, for the junior champion. Katie Bates had the reserve junior champion with a winter yearling named Liseter Farms Marks Danille.

Leading an excellent quality group was Erica Lloyd, Pottstown, with the senior and grand champion, Patrick Joyce, a 4-year-old. Jody Hewitt, Spring City, captured the reserve senior and reserve grand champion Jersey award with her 5-year-old cow, Hewitts Brigadier Rosetta.

Jody was unable to attend the Roundup because she has the honor of attending the Pennsylvania Governor's School for Agriculture, but her animal was ably shown by her sister Amy.

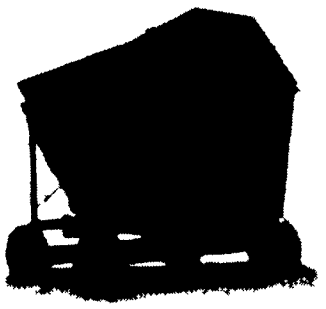
HERE'S THE STRAIGHT SCOOP ABOUT RICHARDTON HIGH DUMP WAGONS



Seems like some folks are always trying to catch up And sometimes they'll do just about anything to get ahead But you know that for over 35 years Richardton high dump wagons have been the best in the business and in the field So get the best —Hitch up a Richardton Wagon today

What the competition says about Richardton Wagons	The truth about Richardton High Dump Wagons
Cylinders and cables	Our exclusive patented lock cylinders ensure that the box won't tip over Our cable system allows you to top off a truck load with a partial dump You're not restricted to a full dump cycle And, you save time because there are no master/slave cylinders to purge
Over two minute cycle time	ALL cycle times depend on your tractor's hydraulic system! We designed our wagon to cycle in less than one minute
12GA steel on entire hopper	Our 12GA steel construction is absolutely the most cost effective and strongest on the market It's that way today and it's been that way for over 35 years
Internal braces welded to flat steel	We'll say it again — Richardton wagon components are the strongest and best built on the market!
300# rated standard black pipe fittings	Flared hydraulic steel tubing with 5 000 PSI rated fittings are standard on Richardton wagons
¼" wall material	Our ¼ walls withstand decades of hard use And just so you know we use 5/16 where necessary

When Looking For Quality - BUY BRILLION

HFC FIELD CULTIVATORS

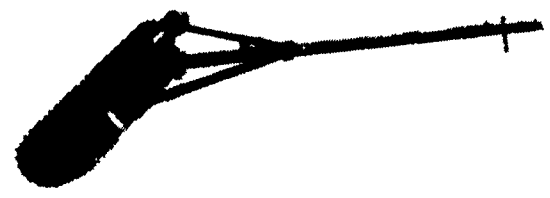
The "heart" of any field cultivator is the shank pivot point. A "bulked up" shank bracket made of cast ductile iron instead of the usual formed steel bracket, incorporating a hardened steel bushing AND a zerk grease fitting to lubricate the pivot point to reduce wear. The result is thousands of acres of extended life of the shanks.

P-SERIES TRANSPORT PULVERIZERS
10 Ft. to 18 Ft.

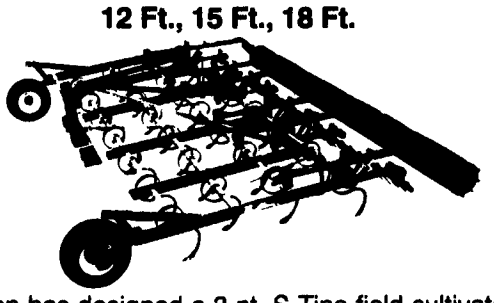
Rotary Frame Pulverizers; New PT10 Series Transport Concept. Machine weight is hydraulically rotated over the wheels for transport. This reduces draw bar hitch weight considerably and provides ample clearance for transport. Also Available As Pull Type.

P-SERIES PULL-TYPE PULVERIZERS
10 Ft. to 18 Ft.



New P10 Series Single Gang available as pull type or transport. Available with most old style rollers and the new 20" Ductile Wheel. Brillion Pulverizers crush clods and firm the soil for better contact between seeds and soil. Also Available As Transport Type.

3 PT. BASKET HARROWS
12 Ft., 15 Ft., 18 Ft.

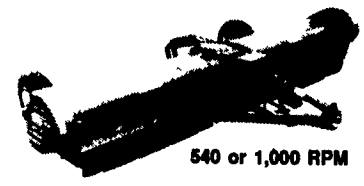


Brillion has designed a 3 pt. S-Tine field cultivator with a larger, aggressive angled 12" diameter rolling basket, a 4-bar frame that allows for either 4" or 6" tooth spacing and an adjustable coil tine leveler bar. Gauge wheels are optional.

LANDCOMMANDERS
TAKE COMMAND OF TILLAGE PROBLEMS

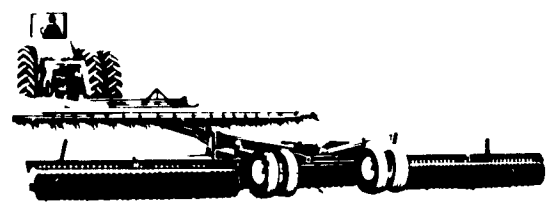
Brillion's Landcommander gives you total command over the problems of compaction, soil erosion,residue management, and rough fields.
The front disc gang has 22" x 1/4" disc blades on 15" spacings. They are designed to cut residue and work the ground to a depth of 6". The Landcommander has the ability to till from 8" to 20" deep. The rear disc gang has 20" x 7 ga. disc blades on 7.5 spacing. The 6"x4" mainframe is designed to handel the stress from the deep till shanks and disc gangs.

FLAIL SHREDDERS
12 Ft. and 15 Ft.



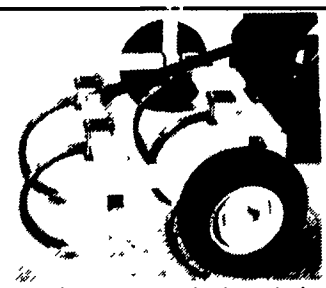
FLAIL SHREDDERS Heaviest gearbox on the market eliminates the number one cause of downtime. Available in 12' and 15'. Either cup or side slicer knives. 540 or 1000 RPM.

X-FOLD PULVERIZERS
19 Ft. to 46 Ft.



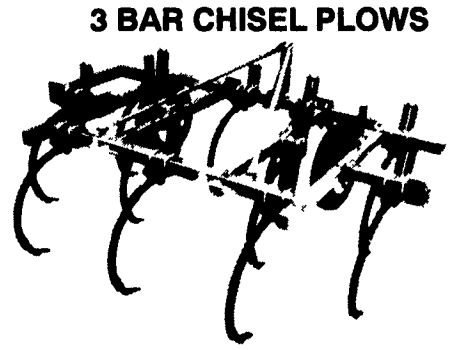
The X-Fold pulverizers are designed to meet the needs of today's larger acreage farmers...and Brillion offers them in two models and 11 sizes from 19' through 46'. Now available with 20" Ductile Rollers.

2 BAR CHISEL PLOWS



The Brillion 2-Bar Chisel Plow was designed for medium horsepower tractors in the 40-75 h.p. range. The frame accomodates either five or seven 1"x26"x26" shanks. Two types of ground working points are available: chisel points for fast, easy penetration and reduced draft or twisted shovels that roll the soil and mix it with field trash. Mounting is for Category II tractors, 3 point hitch or Quick Coupler, 5 or 7 Shank.

3 BAR CHISEL PLOWS



The CPP series mounted models enables you to turn short and fast... to transport easily, utilizing your tractor's hydraulic system, 7, 9, 11, 13 or 10,12,14,16 shank.

AG SURE STAND SEEDERS

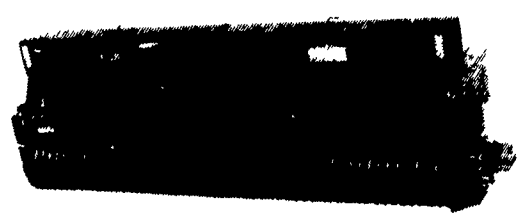
SS8, SS10 & SS12 SEEDERS

For years Brillion Grass Seeders have proven to be the best machine for planting grasses and legumes... and now they're even better! Larger, heavier boxes, high seeding rates, nylon lined seed meter, heavier frame, new drive system and more. 5 ft., 8 ft., 10 ft., Available In 3-point or pull type.

LANDSCAPE SEEDERS

Work up close to buildings and fences with the outstanding maneuverability of this 5'4" model
The 5'4" Landscape Seeder crushes, seeds and rolls in one operation. The seeding mechanism stops instantly when the seeder is raised or stops. Seeds are deposited at the correct depth for rapid germination in a firmed clod-free seedbed. Thick, even stands are the result with up to 50% saving on seed. Choose either smooth or notched rollers

TURFMAKER SEEDERS
3 Pt. In 8 Ft., 10 Ft., 12 Ft.



This Brillion specialty seeder utilizes the same world famous seeding method made popular by the "Sure-Stand" agricultural model grass seeder. Variations in seedbox capacity and seed metering mechanisms make these the ideal seeder for special requirements of professional landscapers, turf and sod raisers. Available In 3 point or pull type.

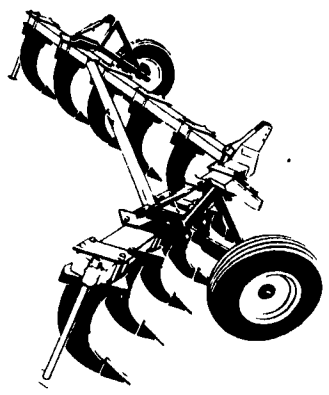
Better Seedbeds... Better Stands!

SUB-SOILERS



The husky, curved shanks of the Sub-Soiler dig down as deep as 16 inches, shattering compacted layers of plow sole and lifting the hardpan while it is being broken.
3, 5, 7 shanks.

3-SHANK DEEP TILLS

The three shank model, shown above, has a Category II hitch. With a cutting width of 7'6", it is ideal for operators with smaller acreages and horsepower. It is extremely maneuverable, yet provides the same basic deep tilling job as its "big brothers". Available with coulters.

COMPACTION COMMANDERS
NO-TILL RIPPER/DEEP RIPPER
DESIGNED FOR YOUR CONSERVATION NEEDS
3-5-7 Shank

Brillion introduces their new Compaction Commander...designed to break up hardpan and compaction as deep as 20".
The standard V-shaped alloy point and wear strip leaves residue on the surface with minimal soil disturbance. Auto-rest shanks with 20" of trip height allows for non-stop tillage. Parabolic shanks lift and fracture the soil. 39" of underframe clearance assures trouble free operation even in heavy residue.

SOIL BUILDERS

SOIL BUILDERS. Optional Coulter gang can be hydraulically controlled to save maintenance dollars. 5, 7, 9, 11 & 13 shanks. Available in 2 & 3 bar.

NEW

SOIL COMMANDERS

NEW

The New Brillion Soil Commanders take Residue Management to the next generation of soil conservation efficiency.

The Soil Commanders are versatile tillage tools designed to meet the needs of the mid-size farmer who uses a 150-200 H.P. tractor. One of the keys to the machine's versatility is that it uses interchangeable shank legs and individually mounted disk assemblies instead of a disk gang. This makes possible a machine with disk assemblies on the front and rear of the frame with chisel plow or deep-ripper shanks on 15", 24", 27" or 30" spacings.

Landscapes, Lawns, Gardens At Ag Progress

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.)—Whether you plan to sell your house in the near future or live there in your golden years, having a beautiful landscape can improve its market value and make it a nicer place to live. You can learn how to improve your home's landscape at Penn State's Ag Progress Days, August 15-17.

The College of Agricultural Sciences Exhibits Building, on West 11th Street, will feature displays of interest to homeowners, landscape contractors and grounds maintenance professionals. Topics will range from computer-assisted landscape design to the selection and care of ornamental plants and turfgrass.

Landscaping your home doesn't have to cost a lot of money all at once, and it can be a good investment. According to a recent study at Clemson University, professionally landscaped homes can fetch a 4 to 5 percent higher price on the market than homes with less landscaping.

"Whether you do it yourself or hire a professional, landscaping can be accomplished in stages over several years," said Dan Stearns, assistant professor of landscape contracting. "This can make the project more feasible and affordable. Our exhibits will show the various stages of the landscaping process."

Those who want to create their own landscape, or better understand how landscape professionals work, can learn the steps of landscaping—taking an inventory of site characteristics; constructing walkways, decks, and other hardscape features; choosing plants and other materials; and adding the finishing touches to a completed landscape.

Also shown will be a computer-aided design (CAD) system, which many landscaping firms now use to develop computerized landscape designs.

"CAD systems allow landscape professionals to develop and alter landscape designs with the click of a button," Stearns said. "They can demonstrate to a homeowner what a newly planted landscape will look like in five years, 10 year, 20 years, or longer. Many firms have found the system to be a useful marketing and educational tool."

"We're featuring landscape improvement from several vantage points, including planting and maintaining ornamentals and caring for turfgrass," said J. Robert Nuss, professor of ornamental horticulture. "Visitors can see how numerous trees, shrubs and flowers can fit into their landscape and can learn how to maintain a high-quality lawn."

Those who are inspired by the landscaping exhibits can visit the Landscape, Lawn and Garden Tent, next to the College Exhibits Building. "Penn State faculty and cooperative extension agents will be on hand to give advice on indoor and outdoor plants, turf, flowers, tree fruit, small fruit vegetables," Nuss said.

"People can see examples of annual flowers that have been selected for trial in the All American process at Penn State," Nuss said. "A display will provide information on the All American system of plant improvement and selection.

Chester 4-H Dairy Roundup

The showing and fitting contest, always a closely contested event, was judged by Mike Kunkle, Jonestown, who is employed by Sire Power Inc. and Jeff Hostetter, of Annville, a senior at Penn State.

Champion first year showmanship honors went to John VanWye, Downingtown. Rachel Gibian, Kennett Square, was the reserve champion first year showmanship winner.

For the first year fitting honors, the judges also chose John and Rachel for champion and reserve champion, respectfully.

In the junior division, under 14 years old, Meredith Baily, West Chester, was named junior champion showman/fitter and Erica Lloyd, Pottstown, took the reserve ribbon.

Both Mike Kunkle and Jeff Hostetter complimented the 4-H members on the excellent way they prepared and presented their animals in the show ring.

There was also a pre-4-H showing event for youngsters under eight years old. The show concluded with a showmanship class of 4-H alumni, 4-H parents and 4-H leaders. There was a lot of heckling from the youth and the audience before Mildred Seeds narrowly edged out the other adults.

The 4-H program received considerable financial support from business and individuals this year with over $1,600 being raised through paid advertisements in the catalog. These funds are used to support the program for the year.

From the left, Ben Hendricks is the senior-aged reserve champion fitter/showman of the Chester County 4-H dairy show, while Tarik Gaffney is the champion.

Promote Your Local Farm Products

CHARLOTTE HALL, Md. — Support Southern Maryland agriculture! The Southern Maryland Agricultural Commission of the Tri-County Council for Southern Maryland is inviting farmers to take part in a public awareness campaign designed to promote agriculture's contribution to Southern Maryland's quality of life.

This campaign is designed to encourage consumers to look for and purchase local agricultural products. The "Southern Maryland Harvest" logo will be featured on cable television and radio commercials as well as newspaper advertisements throughout the region. Samples of promotional "Southern Maryland Harvest" materials, including stickers and signs, are available to Southern Maryland farmers to help promote their products.

To participate in this program, order materials, or receive additional information, contact Candy Walter, agricultural specialist for the Tri-County Council, at (301) 884-2144 or (301) 870-2520.

Pack Herd Skybuck Batu Named Supreme at Troy Fair Youth Show

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — Youth from across Bradford County brought nearly 212 Holsteins, Jerseys, Ayrshires, Brown Swiss, and Guernseys to participate in the annual Troy Fair Youth Dairy Show recently at the Troy Fairgrounds.

Rising to the top of the show was Pack Herd Skybuck Batu, a Holstein junior 2-year-old owned by David Packard. She was named supreme champion over the grand champion Jersey, senior 2-year-old Nobledale Jacob Cookie; the grand champion Ayrshire, Karen Neville's 4-year-old, Locust Lane Gumdrop Gypsy; and John Yurkanin Jr.'s senior 2-year-old Brown Swiss, Elm Brook Blend Tyra.

In the Jersey show, the reserve grand champion was Christine Eick's Windy Acres Sooner Kelly, a 4-year-old. Named junior champion was Jamie Neiley's fall calf, Shale Hill Imperial Ruby while a winter yearling owned by Matthew Watson, Little Pond Skyline Daisy, took the reserve junior champion position.

The Neville name surfaced more than once in the Ayrshire arena as Karen Neville also took the reserve grand champion place with her dry cow Locust Lane Spot's Sara and the junior champion position with her Fall Calf, Locust Lane Heligo-D-J. Named reserve junior champion was Jamie Neiley's winter yearling, Shale Hill Mandate Abby.

(Turn to Page E38)

FALL WEBWORMS HAVE RETURNED

Dr. Robert S. Hansen
Cooperative Extension

After all the other insect problems our trees have had this year, there is still one more to face, the fall webworm. The fall webworm is a widely distributed defoliating pest of shade trees and shrubs and appears from late summer through early fall. The webworm constructs its nest over the end of the branch and feeds only on leaves within the web. The large conspicuous web is filled with caterpillars, dead, partially-eaten leaves, and fecal droppings. The remains of these nests may persist through winter.

The fall webworm overwinters as a brown pupae in a cocoon that is concealed in trash, ground litter, cracks and crevices, or in the soil. Adult moths first appear in early June but may continue to appear in small numbers during most of the summer. Moths vary considerably in color from pure white to white with black spots; their wingspread is about 1¼ inches. Females deposit their light yellow eggs in hair-covered masses of several hundred eggs, usually on the undersurface of the leaves. Young larvae hatch in approximately seven days. They immediately begin to spin a silken web over the foliage on which they feed. As they grow, they enlarge the web to enclose more and more foliage. These webs sometimes encompass 2-3 feet of the infested branch. The larvae are gregarious and feed together until the last molt, after which they feed independent of each other. Larvae mature in about six weeks. Young larvae are pale yellow with two rows of black marks along their bodies. When fully grown, they are covered with whitish hairs which spring from black and orange warts. The larvae vary as to the depth of coloring and markings, but are usually greenish with a broad, dusky stripe along the back and a yellow stripe along the side. Full grown larvae leave the web and pupate on or in the soil, or in crevices around buildings or fence posts. There are one or two generations per year, depending on the geographical location.

Fall webworm larvae skeletonize and consume leaves under the protection of a tent-like web which they enlarge as they grow and require additional food. Since tree leaves are in the process of "shutting down" their processes this time of year, webworms may defoliate a tree occasionally, but rarely kill it. On shade trees, the webs usually occur on an occasional branch. They may not injure the tree appreciably but they reduce its ornamental value.

Natural enemies of various kinds help to control this insect. Birds, insect predators and insect parasites attack the fall webworm larvae. Clusters of eggs may be destroyed by predators and insect parasites. It is also possible to reduce their numbers by mechanical control. When the tented branches are within reach, they can be snipped off and destroyed. This is practical if the tents have not become too large and the tree's shape is not threatened by this method.

Bt is effective if applied when the webs are small. Remember that Bt must be consumed by the insect to be effective. Other chemical control measures can be used throughout the webworm season, but they are most effective when the webs are small. The entire tree need not be sprayed, but webs and surrounding foliage should be thoroughly covered. Remember that care should be taken when using any pesticide and directions on the label must be followed exactly for both safety and effectiveness.

Troy Fair Youth Show

Elm Brook JPR Jasmine, a spring yearling and the reserve junior champion was John Yurkanin Jr.'s spring calf, Elm Brook Pretus Tiara.

A small Guernsey show yielded no blue ribbon animals so no champion Guernseys were named.

Judges for the show were Dave Castrogiovanni of Montrose and Matt Stewart of Alfred, N.Y. for type and Lloyd and Denise Pease of Susquehanna for showing and fitting.

A list of the top three placings in each class follows:

Nobledale Takes Banners At Troy Fair Jersey Show

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — "It's good trip to come down here and see such quality animals," said Troy Fair colored breed judge Jim Curtis as he selected the champions in the Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, and Jersey divisions recently.

About 115 entries were led through the show ring before Curtis selected the winners.

In the Jersey show, junior 3-year-old Nobledale Juno Vermont, owned by Nobledale Farm, captured the grand champion honors. Two days later following the Holstein show, she was again honored as she was named the supreme champion of the Troy Fair.

In the reserve champion Jersey position was William Eick's Windy Acres Duncan Dina, the winner of the production class.

Named premier breeder and premier exhibitor of the Jersey show was Nobledale Farms.

The Brown Swiss show was dominated by the Yurkanin family as senior 2-year-old Elm Brook Blend Tyra, owned by John Yurkanin Jr. was named the grand champion. The reserve grand champion was Elm Brook Trouba Paisley, a junior 2-year-old owned by Heather Yurkanin.

Capturing junior champion distinction was John Yurkanin Jr.'s Elm Brook Pretus Tiara, a spring calf. In the reserve junior champion place was Amberleigh Yurkanin's Elm Brook JPR Jasmine, a spring yearling.

In a Guernsey show of one, Lucas Trowbridge's Shale Hill Proking Tinkerbell was the winner in the spring yearling class and was also named junior champion.

Boar Sale Aug. 16

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Meat Animal Evaluation Center has announced that final plans are being made for Pennsylvania's 20th Performance Tested Boar Sale, scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 16, at 6 p.m. during Ag Progress Days.

The Sale Committee, consisting of swine breeders and Swine Technical Committee members, met July 27 to score the boars for soundness and to determine which boars should be offered for sale. The 10-member committee considers this to be the overall best group of boars to be offered for sale in their memory. This group has the lowest number of unsound boars ever and their performance broke all records.

A Duroc boar consigned by Calvin H. Lazarus set an all-time average daily gain record for Pennsylvania of 2.93 pounds. This boar was the 3rd highest indexing individual boar and was one of the pen of four boars that recorded the top pen index. Fifteen boars gained in excess of 2.5 pounds per day and seven boars had an adjusted loin-eye area in excess of seven square inches. The 70 boars on test had an average fat thickness of only .59 inches while maintaining a group average daily gain of 2.22 pounds.

The top individual indexing boar was the outstanding Yorkshire sired by BDO4Zing 31-3 consigned by Henry Holloway. This boar gained 2.71 pounds per day, had .46 inches of fat, and had a final index of 158. The second highest indexing pen of boars, the Pietrains from Brian Lake, included the second highest indexing individual boar. This complete boar gained 2.49 pounds per day, had a feed efficiency of 2.13 pounds of feed per pound of gain, a fat thickness of .43 inches and an adjusted loin-eye area of 6.95 square inches.

For sale catalogs or more information on the boars or the swine testing programs, contact Glenn Eberly, Director, Meat Animal Evaluation Center, 651 Fox Hollow Road, State College, PA 16803, (814) 238-2527 or phone message and fax (814) 865-5857.

PENNSYLVANIA BEEF COUNCIL - Recent market research data results confirm that existing beef marketing programs are working to profitably rebuild consumption. These beef marketing programs are designed to work toward the industry objective of increasing beef meal occasions and beef's share of meat meals.

ADVERTISING PROGRAMS

Industry advertising programs focus on in-home consumption. Representing the majority of beef consumption, this area is declining at a much quicker pace than out-of-home consumption. A target audience, women ages 25-54 who are primary meal purchasers, was established, and therefore the TV and magazine ads need to feature quick and easy beef meals.

- TV Advertising
  Two new "Beef. It's what's For Dinner" TV ads following the theme "easy versatility," featuring 10 quick and easy beef meals started airing May 1st and will run through September 10. The 10-week on/off schedule will air the commercials a total of 1,000 times. The commercials are expected to be seen by 101 million adults ages 25-54 an average of 12 times - which includes beef's target audience of 54 million women.

- Magazine Advertising
  Four new print ads began appearing in April issues of Better Homes and Gardens, Family Circle, Country Living, Parents and Redbook. The ads, which feature quick, easy and versatile beef recipes with five ingredients or less, will be read by 40 million woman ages 25-54 an average of four times.

- Other Avenues
  More than 500,000 "30 Meals in 30 Minutes" beef recipe books will be disseminated to beef's target consumers throughout the summer via direct marketing and added-value programs which include distribution of the cookbook with consumers favorite magazines, such as Family Circle and Bon Appetit. These programs are a win-win situation because the beef industry incurs no additional cost from any magazine in which it advertises.

RETAIL PROGRAMS

Retail sales account for 80% of all beef sold. To increase beef meal occasions and beef sales are the primary objectives of industry retail programs.

- Couponing Efforts
  A coupon offering 55 cents off the purchase of ground beef was distributed in partnership with the dairy industry to 13.6 million consumers in 11,000 grocery stores during May. The effort is expected to move more than 200,000 additional pounds of beef.

- Couponing Efforts (cont.)
  A coupon offering $1 off a minimum 3-pound purchase of fresh beef with the companion purchase of A-1 Steak Sauce was offered through a joint promotion between the PBC and A-1. The coupon reached more than six million consumers within the Commonwealth during the month of June.

It's how Steak Is Done.

- In-Store Sampling
  Several retail promotions were conducted through partnerships with PBC and Fox's Markets, Acme and Giant grocery stores. Recipe demonstrations and sampling on featured sale cuts of beef were conducted in each store. Recipes were handed out to all shoppers and some stores also received radio coverage through paid advertisements and public service announcements carrying the "Beef. It's What's For Dinner" tag line. The only cost to the beef industry were the recipes and staff time to conduct the demonstrations.

- Summer Recipe Centers
  The summer grilling recipe center will appear in nearly 13,000 stores nationwide, including about 200 stores in eight chains throughout Pennsylvania. About 4.2 million recipes will be disseminated nationwide.

- Summer Featuring
  Beginning in July, 20,000 retail stores nationwide will participate in a tonnage-based program.

FOODSERVICE PROGRAMS

Foodservice beef servings are on the increase. To continue this trend, industry programs and partnerships will run through the summer.

- Service That Sells More Beef!
  This waitstaff training program will be implemented with five restaurant operations in more than 1,000 units, potentially moving an additional nine million pounds of beef this summer.

- Trade Advertising
  Foodservice trade advertising that started running in February continues running a heavy schedule through September. A special full-page advertisement also has appeared in Pennsylvania's Server restaurant publication.

Celebrate CheeseBurger Days

SUMMER PROGRAMS

Summer is a busy time for beef promotions. It's the season for backyard barbecues, family picnics and celebrations. Promotions emphasize beef grilling on all occasions for versatility and ease of preparation. Grassroots promotions and special events are a great way to reach consumers throughout the summer.

- Reading Phillies
  On June 19 the beef industry reached nearly 5,000 consumers at "Beef Night at the Reading Phillies." In cooperation with Berks Southeast Cattleman and the Berks Farm City Council, PBC distributed T-shirts to the first 2,000 fans entering the gates. Several fans received beef gift certificates and cookbooks through ticket stub drawings. Radio advertising prior to game night featured beef messages and tickets were given away in beef trivia games. Everyone received recipes and the "Beef. It's What's For Dinner" slogan could be viewed throughout the ballpark.

- Farm, Food and Fun Festival
  More than 4,000 consumers at the Lancaster County Farm, Food and Fun Festival at the Donecker's Artworks in Ephrata sampled beef tailgate roll-ups prepared by the PBC staff. Attendees took home more than 6,000 recipe brochures over the two-day event.

- Consumer Information
  In June, PBC recorded a 30 minute public service program with WLYH TV 15, devoted entirely to beef to be aired on Saturday mornings throughout the summer. PBC registered dietitian, Barb Ford, emphasized positive nutritional attributes of beef followed by a 20 minute segment featuring beef grilling recipes and food safety tips. Consumers were invited to call the Council for a free Grilled Beef recipe brochure. It is estimated that the program will reach nearly 50,000 consumers.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU?

Advertising retail and foodservice promotion programs work together to sell more beef during this summer's critical supply period. Nearly 2/3 of the national promotion budget of about $28 million is concentrated in programs during this time period. Finally the "Beef. It's What's For Dinner" slogan, which is recognized by more than 60% of consumers, ties it all together from TV ads to recipes in retail stores, so this summer everyone will know... "Beef. It's What's For Dinner."

Jones Farm Open To Visitors Aug. 19

JOANNE E. MORVAY
Maryland Correspondent

MASSEY, Md. — Lester C. "Bucky" Jones spent all his life farming New Jersey ground that's been in his family since "the time of the Indians."

So what's he doing at this brand-spanking new dairy in one of Maryland's far northeastern counties?

The pressure of development pushed Jones, his family and their milk cows off that ancestral ground.

But there was no way moving was going to mean getting out of milking, Jones said recently.

He and his sons — David, Sean and Andy — took 12 years planning for their new spread.

Though there've been a few glitches along the way, nearly four months after they started milking at their Kent County quarters, the men said they're satisfied with the move.

They're hosting an open house on Aug. 19 so folks can get a better look at their set-up.

The farm milks three shifts a day under the watchful eye of the Joneses and their employees.

Son Sean, 30, is the herdsman, who takes care of cow records.

Sean's wife of seven years, Tammy, does the bookkeeping and billing. The handful of Jerseys in the herd belong to her — the progeny of a birthday gift from Sean.

The couple met when they were attending Virginia Tech. They have two children — Ethan, 3, and Katelyn, who was born shortly after the Joneses settled on the property last July.

Andy, 26, also works with the cows, taking care of feeding and whatever else comes his way.

David, 32, handles machinery maintenance on two mixer wagons, 20 tractors and four tractor trailers.

"Keep me away from those cows and I'm happy," he joked.

David said his job security is guaranteed because "they break 'em faster than I can fix 'em."

He and his wife, Connie, have two children — Christine, 8, and Matthew, 6.

Jones and his wife Diane have been married 33 years. They also have three daughters — Cathy, 24, Jennie, 20 and Bonnie, 18. The women pursue their own interests and education off the farm.

Jones said he sees his farm as a large family operation — 50 to 80 head supporting each of the four families.

Development closing in on the farm in New Jersey was making that task more and more difficult, he said.

In Kent County, "People make you feel like they want you here," said daughter-in-law Tammy. "This offers our children more of a future."

The Joneses could've had their new farm up and running six years ago on acreage about eight miles north of where they finally settled.

But that deal didn't work out. So the family went back to the drawing board.

Financing the deal was the biggest challenge. Bucky Jones said.

He sold some land for a county airport and some for a housing development, he said. Another portion was permanently preserved under a transfer of development rights program. And he has retained about 800 acres that he is currently growning crops on.

Complicating matters was a depressed housing market which devalued the land, Jones said.

In the end, all the headaches were worth it, he said.

"We kept the family together and in a decent milk market," Jones said.

The farm is 1½ hours from their old spread, making it easy for the family to get home and visit Jones' mother.

At present, however, Jones and his sons are devoting a lot of time to getting their cows acclimated to their new home.

The stress of the move had seriously knocked production, Sean

Here's How The Dairy Is Equipped

JOANNE E. MORVEY
Maryland Correspondent

MASSEY, Md. — The Jones' dairy set-up is the result of years of research and planning.

Bucky Jones and his sons have been studying ideas from dairy farms across the country for more than a decade. Nearly four years ago, they began working with Triple H Construction of Ephrata, Pa. to design the dairy complex.

The Joneses farm is just a few miles from the crossroads that mark the center of the tiny town of Massey.

The Jones have 1,200 acres there — 950 tillable. The dairy complex is on about 35 acres.

The family is milking 560 head — Holsteins and a handful of Jerseys — in a double 12 parallel parlor. Cow capacity is 600 head and the parlor expands to a double 20, Bucky Jones said.

The parlor is mechanized under the Boumatic Xpressway integrated management system. Bucky Jones is a longtime Boumatic dealer with customers in five states.

"I got into that years ago because I wasn't happy with the milk equipment we had," he said.

At the Jones' state-of-the-art set-up, milk is funneled from the parlor to one of two 6,000 gallon tanks. One milk tank is filled each day. The Joneses have their own tanker truck to get the milk to Atlantic Dairy Cooperative. Bucky's father, the late Lester C. Jones Sr., was a longtime president of the coop.

There are basement storage rooms below the parlor. One side houses the air compressor and receivers. The other side holds the water system and vacuum pumps.

Jones uses a gravity flow water system — one tank with 4,000-gallon storage capacity and just one float valve — to control all the water on the property.

Jones installed the wash system himself. It's based on a thermasory heat exchange. The gas from the hot milk is harnessed, thermasors begin to heat the water and one water heater does the rest, warming 500 gallons of water to 180 degrees Fahrenheit in mere minutes.

Well water is used to cool the milk. It takes out about ⅔ of the heat, Jones said. A chiller removes the rest of the heat in the milk. The cold water is then recycled as drinking water for the cows.

The Joneses depend on irrigation to keep their crops consistent. Jones said the previous owner of the farm was harvesting 200 bushel-to-the-acre corn "in dry years," thanks to the irrigation.

The farm has four bunker silos, measuring 60 feet across by 200 feet long by 12 feet high. Walls for an additional bunker — 40 feet by 200 feet by 9 feet — are being brought down from New Jersey, he said.

Commodities are stored in bulk in a large shed. At the New Jersey farm, David shared his machine shop with the communities. The new arrangements — and the much larger, separate shop, — make his life much easier, he grinned.

An underground manure management system leads to a 12-acre lagoon, which has enough storage for the waste of 1,200 cows for 180 days. Jones said it took two months before the bottom of the lagoon was covered.

There are a number of homes on the property — most occupied by the milkers and their families. Sean and his family live in the main house at the farm. The rest of the family have moved nearby.

Bucky Jones said the buildings were designed to reduce heat stress. The family didn't expect to test them so soon, however.

The loafing shed was placed so that prevailing winds provide natural ventilation for the cows.

ping 696 by 100 feet and contains 600 stalls — is cool even when the mercury soars to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. The roof is 12 feet at the eaves and 24 feet at its peak. The wide open ridge vent lets air sweep through.

The building was placed "so that the prevailing winds come this way," Jones said.

The movable stalls average 45 inches for cows and 43 inches for heifers.

All of the cows wear automatic identification and heat seekers on their heels. This saves time by allowing easy sorting for illness, breeding and the foot trimmer, Jones said.

Behind the holding pen in the parlor is a series of large box stalls for "special needs" cows — those about to freshen, the injured and down animals. The special needs animals have their own small pasture between the two buildings.

The Joneses have about 1,105 dry cows and bred heifers — nearly half of which are of milking age.

The youngest heifers live in small, partitioned groups in a counterslope barn — an idea suggested by Jones' veterinarian.

The barn is built on a slight angle so that manure runs down to the slatted floor and into the underground manure system. No bedding is necessary. And the heifers seem quite content, Jones said. The youngest heifers are fed a special ration.

As they grow older, the heifer groups are moved to a larger heifer shed. These older stock are fed the leftovers TMR that the milk cows get — a large cost savings on feed, Jones said.

Calves live in a 120-stall calf shed. Partitions between each stall can be removed for easy clean-up. The calves are fed off a specially equipped cart that has its own tank of milk.

The farm has an extensive stormwater management and underground drainage system to handle run-off.

said. Just when the cows were starting to recover, the heat wave hit.

The first few weeks after the move, it was all the family could do to get the cows into the parallel parlor. The Joneses had a herringbone parlor at their previous farm.

"The cows would walk in, but they wouldn't turn," Sean said. "We had to physically turn each cow. It was terrible. We started to wonder if we made the right decision."

There were also some problems with the gravity flow manure system, though those seem to have been remedied now.

Learning how to farm on Kent County's dry ground has been an experience, too.

But the design of the complex is proving itself efficient. And the location of the farm — well away from neighbors who might be offended by the odors of dairying — has been a real boon.

"It's nice and peaceful here," Andy said.

Jones said he expects his sons will be able to carry on the family business for at least another 35 years in Massey.

And that's much more of a chance than they had in New Jersey, he said.

Sean scrapes the alleys in the special needs barn. The alley scraper can't always carry away the amount of straw they like to bed with in the special box stalls.

David works on a pump. The Jones' depend on irrigation of 700 acres to make sure they get a consistent crop of corn.

Mixing T.M.R. the Way You Want

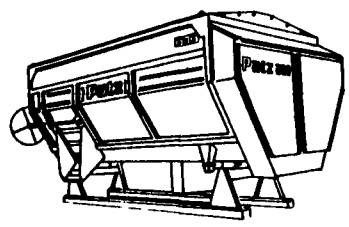
Open-Top Mixers

- Four notched augers mix fast--even square-baled dry alfalfa in limited amounts.
- Self-aligning auger bearings mounted outside. Flanged auger tubes for easy removal.
- Planetary gear reducer and roller chain reduction power the augers. Roller chains operate in sealed oil bath.
- On trailer and truck models, the discharge door and discharge augers are controlled hydraulically.
- 8 sizes from 190 to 575 cubic feet.



Stationary auger mixers

Tumble Mixers

- Tumble mixing plus a central spiral circulator moving ingredients to the back of the drum while fliting moves ingredients foward.
- No internal bearings.
- Low maintenance -- only 3 grease fittings.
- 4 sizes from 135 to 290 cubic feet.

BALE HANDLING EQUIPMENT FOR SMALL SQUARE BALES

MODEL 1000

Towed behind the baler, the accumulator is powered by the tractor's hydraulic system. As the baler pushes the bales onto the accumulator, a pivoting arm automatically lifts two bales at a time and puts them on the bed while turning them a quarter turn By turning the bales on edge, hay spoilage and mold is reduced, and the bales will keep their shape better

MODELS 100, 110, 200 & 210

These models are used with the accumulator and for all-around loading and stacking. They pick the bales up lengthwise with the tractor, for proper orientation when loading trucks. The 100 Series fits the 14" x 18" bales and the 200 Series is designed for 16" x 18" bales. Each series has two lengths available to match your bale size.

"Hydraulic Self-Propelled POWER UNITS "Multi-Purpose and User-Friendly"

It's a Skid Steer Loader, a Mobile Trencher, a Self-Propelled Dozer Unit, a Fork Lift Machine, a Moveable Post Hole Auger Unit, a Mobile Materials Breaker, a Sweeper and much, much more with the capabilities to do big jobs in small places as a year round reliable hard working partner for you.
At only 31" (79 cm) to 42" (107 cm) wide, these hydrostatic driven Power Units have amazing accessiblities to work outside or inside, below ground or on roof tops, in places where only a person and small hand tools could previously go. Team up with RAMROD to make work easier and to gain a clear-cut competitive edge.

KASCO MANUFACTURING CO., INC The Rugged, Portable Bandsaw Mil

Kasco sawmills are designed for precision sawing, with the operator in mind. They can produce quality lumber as thin as 1/8 of an inch. All models exhaust the sawdust away from the operator. They are portable... easily moved from woodlot to woodlot. And they give you versatility... the ability to cut beams and boards that are not available from a lumber yard.
